CAUCUS TO HEAL DEMOCRAT RIFT HITS PRESIDENT

Pleas for Harmony Only Stir Row.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—A conference of 250 house Democrats, intended to promote harmony in the ranks of the majority party, broke up in discord today. The meeting was given over mainly to attacks upon President Roosevelt because of an attitude toward congress at this session which was termed dictatorial and insulting.

E. E. Cox. Warns White House to Cooperate With Congress.

At the end of an hour and a half of heated discussion behind closed doors of the chambers dismayed Democratic leaders found the split between New Dealers and anti-administration Democrats wider than ever. Unheeded went their pleas that continued dissension would lead inevitably to disaster at the polls in 1940.

Suggested by President.

The President suggested the conference to Majority Leader Sam Rayburn. This followed a visit to the White House last week by Ben Cohen of the White House advisory team of Corcoran and Cohen. [Tom Corcoran is ill in a Baltimore hospital.]

Cohen told the President to be firm with the rebellious Democrats in the house and he would get results. Mr. Roosevelt accepted this advice and enjoined Rayburn, according to reliable reports, to whip his followers into line.

The results obtained today were not those anticipated by Cohen and the President. When the doors were opened the Democratic congressmen poured forth, excited and indignant. From their reports of the proceedings was gathered a picture of bitter dispute.

Warns of Next Election.

Rayburn opened the discussion with a warning to the members that their hopes for reëlection depended upon union behind the President. He complained of the absence from the floor of many Democrats which enabled the Republican minority to amend administration measures.

"I told the President," said Rayburn, "that there were honest differences of opinion among you, but no spirit of revolt or desire to offend the President. He said he wanted the coöperation of congress."

Representative Eugene E. Cox [Dem., Ga.], leader of the southern Democratic bloc, interrupted.

"The White House would do well to coöperate with congress instead of demanding that congress coöperate with it," he remarked. "We are going to stand here for the traditions of independence and freedom of congress from executive dictation which were the aim and desire of the founding fathers. We do not propose to be wooden men to be pushed over at the will and whim of the President."

Others Join Criticism.

Such a statement from Cox, outstanding opponent of administration policies, was not unexpected. But Rayburn was taken aback by Representative Patrick H. Drewry of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

"We might not be here in an attempt to heal dissension," said Drewry, "if it had not been for the attempt of the President to purge the party in the last campaign. The purge was a lamentable mistake. It created resentment and ill feeling that has spread through the party.

"Nevertheless, I plead that you stand behind the administration. I warn you that there are 102 Democrats here who were elected by less than a 10 per cent margin last November."

An ardent New Dealer, Representative Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, next alarmed the leaders.

"How can this house be expected to coöperate," he inquired, "when the President, three days after congress has passed a bill allotting 725 million dollars for the WPA, sends up a message demanding immediate addition of the 150 millions which congress believed unnecessary? That amounted to a rebuke and an affront."

GREEN'S CAREER HIGHLIGHTED BY ROUT OF GANGS

Recall Long Months on Capone's Trail.

This is the second of three articles on the principal candidates in the Chicago mayoral primary to be held on Feb. 28.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

There were, first, the long, dull months grinding out opinions in a cubbyhole at the bureau of internal revenue in Washington. There followed other months of arguing complicated tax law. There were many more months of patient investigation before a neglected ledger put the searchers on the trail they sought—the trail that took Al Capone to Alcatraz.

Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, was telling the story of the most spectacular case of his legal career—the Capone income tax prosecution. But his emphasis was not upon courtroom drama. It was on the months of painstaking preparation that made that drama possible, and the years of preparation that fitted him to direct the assembling of the evidence against Capone.

Gives Credit Where Due.

In a rather astonishing way the appearance of the candidate fits the story he told. He is quiet, but with a quietness that denotes absence of flamboyance rather than absence of color. He is not a good boaster. As he spoke he paused time and again to give credit to some associate. Yet he did not hesitate to take credit where he felt credit due for his own accomplishments.

Physically, two decades behind office desks have not robbed him of a trim build developed on the gridiron and diamond. Unlined cheeks and clear eyes are a better index of his age—42—than his gray hair.

A quick smile and a ready chuckle save him, as he talks, from any suspicion of dullness, but his nature is not wholly sunshiny. A certain hard timbre in the voice, a firm set to the jaw, an occasional flash of his eyes when he is speaking of something he considers wrong, mark him as one of those quiet men whom it is not wise to anger.

Methods Not Spectacular.

"The story of the income tax drive against the Chicago underworld," said his campaign manager, Ferre C. Watkins, "emphasizes the qualities that will make Mr. Green an efficient and competent mayor of the great city of Chicago.

"He is quiet but efficient. His success was spectacular, but his methods were not. They were the methods of hard work, of intelligent capacity for taking great pains, so that when he appeared in court he was as sure as any prosecutor may be of obtaining a conviction."

Dwight Green was a country boy, raised on farms and in farm communities about Ligonier, Ind. His grandfather, Henry Green, settled there after emigrating from Bavaria in 1850, when the great 19th century triumph of reaction in Europe sent a stream of German liberals to America.

Works Way Through College.

He earned most of the money that sent him to Wabash college. America entered the war in his second year there, and he forsook sports and classrooms for the aviation service. His proficiency kept him from combat experience. When he graduated from flying school he was detailed for the rest of the war as an instructor.

He came to Chicago, where jobs as a newspaper reporter and law clerk saw him through the University of Chicago law school. Three years of private practice were followed by his appointment, late in 1925, as assistant to the solicitor of the bureau of internal revenue at Washington.

His first job consisted of preparing interpretations of revenue acts and treasury regulations on questions posed by revenue collectors throughout the country. Six months later he got his first trial experience representing the government. This was in civil tax cases before the board of tax appeals. As a private attorney he had been active in trial work in Chicago courts.

"It was hard work, and much of it was dull," Mr. Green recalled. "But it gave me the groundwork

LOOKING FOR A LIFT

EARL BROWDER HAILS ROOSEVELT, CARDENAS, AND COLONEL BATISTA

MOSCOW, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Earl Browder, general secretary of the communist party in the United States, in a newspaper article today hailed President Roosevelt, Col. Fulgencio Batista of Cuba, and President Cardenas of Mexico as the three democratic leaders destined to play vital rôles in defense of the Panama canal against Fascist aggression. Browder's article was published in Pravda, the communist party newspaper.

"All three—Roosevelt, Batista, and Cardenas—base themselves on the democratic masses of their countries and, in foreign policy, carry on the struggle against Fascist aggressors," he wrote.

CONVICT EATS SO MUCH HE MAY GET A PARDON

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 14.—Governor R. L. Cochran said this afternoon he would recommend a full pardon for Marvin Brown, one of three prisoners sentenced today to seven years at hard labor in the state penitentiary for a county jail break here Christmas night. Brown is under sentence to serve a life term, plus 70 years, in Missouri state prison, from which he escaped. "If his sentence stands, Nebraska will be put to the expense of feeding and guarding Brown for seven years," said Cochran. "If we release him, Missouri will stand that expense."

Keep Children Off Lake Ice, Police Are Ordered

Police of the park district were ordered yesterday by Chief James B. Kerr to be on guard to keep children off the ice on Lake Michigan. There is great danger, he said, that a chunk of ice might break off while children were playing on it and carry them out into the lake. The chief told his men: "Use any method you see fit to coax the children in—try candy if you want to—but keep them off the ice."

Builders Must Cut Blasts or Get No Fried Chicken

Vinita, Okla., Feb. 14.—[Special]—Contractors working on Grand river dam were asked today to reduce the charges of dynamite with which they are blasting rocks. Housewives fear Vinita will have a chicken shortage if the blasting force is not reduced. They complained to Justice of the Peace C. S. Bivens that they have plenty of setting hens with which to replenish their flocks, but the blasting spoils the eggs.

Hail Toothpick as Apple-a-Day of Dentistry

BY MARCIA WINN.

Modern society, according to the so-called authorities on good manners, requires brushing one's teeth before breakfast. It also would abolish the toothpick.

In both instances modern society is wrong, Dr. Isador Hirschfeld, associate professor of dentistry at Columbia university, declared yesterday at the 75th annual midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental society. The meeting, attended by 7,500 dentists from all over the country, will continue through tomorrow in the Stevens hotel.

Sticks Up for Toothpicks.

Dr. Hirschfeld loves the toothpick. He yerns for the day when modern man, like the knight of old, will wear a gold one dangling from a chain. Skillfully [and quietly] used, he says, it is necessary for good teeth. But, also from a standpoint of dentistry, America's national fetish of brushing its teeth before breakfast is absolutely unnecessary.

"Why should you?" he asks. "If you brush your teeth before retiring, they are still clean.

"Bacteriologists," he continued, "believe we should brush our teeth upon arising because germs form during the night and they don't believe we should swallow them before breakfast.

"But," laughing, "we swallow them anyway, naturally."

Teeth should be brushed as nearly after every meal as possible, he said, but only two brushings a day are considered essential. These are after breakfast and before bed.

Many Brush Too Often.

Many people, he insists, use their toothbrush too frequently and too forcibly.

"A toothbrush is one of the most important means we have to prevent gum disease," he said, "but improperly used, it may cause a lot of trouble, such as receding gums."

Ninety per cent of the tooth brush users abuse their mouths, he said. They not only injure the gum, but wear away the teeth because of the power they put into their brushing.

"But a toothpick, properly manipulated," he said with a sly wink, "is a fine thing."

Chicken Thieves Double Damage by Milking Cows

Ephrata, Pa., Feb. 14.—(AP)—David Musser, investigating the theft of twenty-five chickens from his farm, discovered the thieves also milked his cows.

FEDERAL COURT FINDS GROWN MAN'S THUMB IS HIS OWN LOOKOUT

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Federal Judge John C. Knox solemnly ruled today that a grown man who "knew no better than to insert his thumb between the hinge side of a door and the jamb on which the door was being fitted" must suffer the consequences, though they entail the loss of a rôle in a Broadway production.

He gave this opinion in dismissing a suit for $100,000 brought against a hotel by Actor Richard Bennett, father of Constance, Joan and Barbara of the movies.

MISSES MEALS AT ST. CHARLES; GLAD TO RETURN

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Police detectives said Harry Marlow, 17 years old, of 1324 Home place, greeted them enthusiastically when they arrested him today at the home of his parents to return him to the St. Charles reformatory from which he escaped Dec. 28. "I've been expecting to be picked up," they quoted Marlow as saying, "I'll be glad to get back to St. Charles. I had better meals there than I've been able to get since I left."

Spurns Antiques, Losing $147 in Old Fashion Bills

Lebanon, O., Feb. 14.—(AP)—James Hill, a dealer in antiques, is sorry he didn't buy those old pictures for 50 cents. Hill said today two boys offered him a cart load gathered from an alley dump. He refused. A short time later the boys tore several pictures apart, and a package of old large size currency fell from the frame of one. Sherif William Hufford said he understood the money totaled $147.

Spend $633 Trying to Try Case Based on 35c Wager

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Detectives spent 35 cents getting evidence on which to arrest the operator of a pin ball game. But the state has spent $633 in a fruitless effort to get a jury to try him. In two attempts 211 venirемen have been examined. Most of them were dropped because they believed six months in the workhouse too heavy a penalty. Prospective jurors get $3 a day.

St. Valentine's Good Day for Ray to Stay in Bed

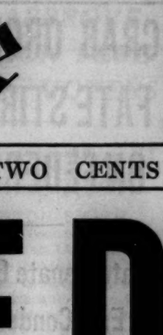
Party Leader Faces Quiz on Huge Contract

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The Georgia house of representatives today ordered investigation of an unusual contract under which a state agency is alleged to be required to pay a Democratic national party chief 1 per cent on a 5 million dollar construction project. Under the contract the payment would be a fee for the Democratic leader's promotional work in obtaining federal funds for the project.



L. W. Robert.

Stirred by charges that taxpayers' money is being diverted, the legislators voted unanimously that the contract be vigorously investigated, that all parties concerned with it be questioned, and that its cancelation be sought.

The contract is with the engineering and architectural company of L. W. [Chip] Robert, secretary of the Democratic national committee and a former assistant secretary of the United States treasury.

Two Fees for Robert.

In addition to the 1 per cent for "promotional services," Robert is to be paid 5 per cent more for architectural and engineering work on the project, according to the resolution.

The other party to the contract is the state welfare department, which has charge of the construction of $4,000,000 worth of new buildings for the state hospital for the insane at Milledgeville, Ga., and $1,000,000 worth of buildings in other parts of the state.

The house resolution asserted it appeared from evidence before the legislative economy committee that $45,000 already has been paid Robert's company.

Despicable, Says Legislator.

"This thing stinks to high heaven," declared Representative Delacy Allen of Albany, Ga., a sponsor of the resolution.

"If communities and even the conference of southern governors have to go through this firm and cross palms to achieve their objectives I feel it is time that we let the world know we resent such a despicable stunt as this.

"If the New Deal insists on such as this, I'll be a Georgia Democrat of my own brand."

The contract has been in existence since last June 14.

Robert Denies Promotion Fee.

Robert, in Washington today, denied that the contract provided a fee for his services in obtaining funds from government agencies.

He is scheduled to appear here tomorrow afternoon before the house economy investigating committee.

Robert, a former Georgia Tech football star, was appointed assistant secretary of the treasury early in 1933.

For eight months he was in charge of public buildings and was the treasury's representative on the PWA board. He was removed on order of President Roosevelt, but both the President and PWA denied that anything wrong caused the removal.

HOUSE VOTES TO INVESTIGATE ILLINOIS WASTE

Democrat's Ballot Forces Inquiry.

Vote St. Charles Quiz

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—(AP)—An investigation of the St. Charles School for Boys with a view toward keeping "hardened criminals apart from boys" was approved by the Illinois senate tonight without a dissenting vote. The resolution, sponsored by Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton], was sent to the house for concurrence. If passed by the house, ten legislators will make the investigation.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Investigation of the entire Democratic state administration with a view to cutting state spending will be started soon by a committee of the Illinois house of representatives.

This was authorized today in a resolution that was adopted in the house by a one vote margin, 73 to 72.

Charles D. Franz. Casts deciding vote for Economy quiz.

Republicans, authors of the resolution, call the investigation the most important part of their drive to keep campaign pledges to economize in government.

All Departments Affected.

All state departments, commissions, and agencies are included in the scope of the investigation, which will be made by a committee of seven members appointed by Speaker Hugh W. Cross of Jerseyville. Cross is expected to name the committee, probably five Republicans and two Democrats, next week.

Income and expenditures of the last four years, especially for pay rolls, will be studied. The committee is empowered to subpena witnesses and records.

Ruddy, Sick, Helps Save Day.

The resolution was adopted after furious debate, which lasted three hours, long enough to save the resolution from a threat of defeat.

On a preliminary test motion the Democrats led, 73 to 70, but the debate gave two more Republicans time to reach the house before final roll call. One was Michael A. Ruddy of Chicago, who left his sick bed to come.

An independent Democrat then cast the deciding ballot. He is Charles D. Franz of Freeport, who voted against the resolution on the first roll call and then changed his stand.

Franz is a retired business man in his 60s, and has been a legislator since 1923.

Until last July he was a beverage wholesaler for twelve years. Before that he was bookkeeper for a coal company, and headed an insurance company that was wiped out by the San Francisco earthquake disaster of 1906.

Franz Explains His Vote.

"I voted for the resolution because I wanted to be consistent," Franz said later. "I have always supported investigations of pay rolls and expenditures regardless of the party in power. That's why I'm an independent Democrat."

Robert J. Branson of Centralia, G. O. P. floor leader in the house, told the Democrats after the first test:

"You're fighting this resolution because you know we have the goods on you. I was amused at the statement issued yesterday by Acting Governor John Stelle and other state officials, who are hiding behind two smoke screens to fight this investigation.

"One is the illness of Gov. Horner. We would be happier to see him return than you who are voting against an investigation. The second smoke screen is the charge that we are playing politics. If nothing is wrong, why fear an investigation?"

Linn Calls Horner Great.

Representative James Weber Linn [D., Chicago], replying for the Democrats, said: "You are repeating the statement made on this floor fifty times last week—that this is not a political resolution. The Republicans would spear Gov. Horner with one hand and pat him on the back with the other."

Linn, a professor of English at the University of Chicago, said Horner is the greatest chief executive Illinois has had.

"Perhaps you mean the king can do no wrong," said Dennis J. Collins [R. De Kalb]. "He pledged to cut taxes 25 per cent when he came into office, but he has increased them 100 per cent. It's our duty to investigate."

Republican ranks were cut by influenza. Four G. O. P. members were recorded present, but failed to aid their party. All are Chicagoans. They are Peter J. Granata, Arthur T. Broche, Robert Petrone and William J. Warfield, colored.

Cross Too Ill to Attend.

Absent because of illness on the G. O. P. side were Speaker Cross, James J. Adduci of Chicago, and Fred A. Reavill of Flat Rock. Only one Democrat, George A. Fitzgerald of Chicago, was absent.

Speaker Cross was restrained by his physician from coming here. He had a temperature of 103 degrees.

The senate, controled by Democrats, later adopted a resolution by Nicholas J. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski] for a joint senate-house investigation of expenses. The vote was 24 to 0, Republicans refusing to ballot. The resolution now goes to the house, where it is expected to call for another show of Republican strength if it is to be defeated.

A separate investigation of Democratic practices with regard to the furnishing of surety bonds on state contracts is under consideration in the house executive committee.

Manufacturers Tax Assailed.

Sitting as a committee of the whole, the house heard arguments against a bill proposing a 2 per cent tax on gross receipts of Illinois manufacturers for goods sold in this state. The bill, introduced by Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downers Grove] and advanced through second reading, would replace the 3 per cent sales tax.

David R. Clarke, general counsel for the Illinois Manufacturers association, told the committee the tax would drive industry from Illinois.

PAROLE REFORM PUT IN LINE FOR PASSAGE VOTE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The senate today advanced the Ward parole reform bill to third reading. Thus it is in a position for a passage roll call next week.

This measure would assure judges that the sentences they pass upon convicts will be carried out before they can be released. It permits the fixing of a minimum and a maximum sentence, within the limits of the indeterminate sentence act. The minimum would have to be served before the parole board could release a prisoner.

Introduced at the request of lawyers, judges, and Frank J. Loesch, president emeritus of the Chicago crime commission, Senator Harold G. Ward's bill is similar to a measure presented to the house by Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg. Ward is a Democrat and Schnackenberg is a Republican.

CRAB ORCHARD'S FATE STIRS FIGHT ON FEDERAL GRAB

State Senate Gets Bills to End Condemnation.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Repeal of the federal government's broad right to condemn and acquire Illinois property almost at will was demanded in the state senate tonight.

Senators R. G. Crisenberry [R., Murphysboro] and Arnold P. Benson [R., Batavia], the latter the G. O. P. floor leader, introduced two measures which would make impossible a wholesale acquisition of private property such as occurred in the Crab Orchard lake WPA project in the southern part of the state.

The bills were presented immediately after the senate had refused to instruct Attorney General John E. Cassidy to intervene in the Crab Orchard condemnation proceedings. It was a strict party vote in which the Democratic senate majority prevailed.

This action was taken in the face of assertions that hundreds of families are being evicted to make way for the Crab Orchard dam and lake, that one-fourth of the taxable property of Williamson county is being removed from the tax books in making way for the project, and that none of five reasons offered by Washington for the project was valid.

Not 'Keller Lake'; Maybe Red Sea.

Kent E. Keller, Democratic congressman and godfather of the project, was criticized during debate.

Senator Crisenberry apparently referred to Keller's recent opposition to continuance of the Dies committee on un-American activities when he said of the $3,500,000 Crab Orchard project:

"I believe there was a movement on foot to name this thing 'Keller Lake' but, in view of later developments it ought to be called 'The Red Sea.'"

Senator R. Wallace Karraker of Jonesboro, a Democrat, in a spirit of mock seriousness, rebuked the Republican side for its opposition to the Crab Orchard pond.

"You fellows must not realize that this is Kent Keller's brain child," Karraker said.

"Does that recommend it?" demanded Earl B. Searcy [R., Springfield].

Karraker agreed with the Republicans that "if some one condemned my home for a duck pond I'd feel pretty badly about it."

Peril To All Counties Told.

"If the government can take one-fourth of Williamson county," Crisenberry demanded, "what is to prevent it from taking all of the county or even all of the 102 counties of Illinois?"

Although the senate decided 26 to 15 to defeat the resolution directing Attorney General Cassidy to intervene, an identical resolution is pending in the house executive committee under sponsorship of two representatives, I. A. Palmer [R., West Frankfort] and M. F. Browner [R., Mound City].

Frank E. Trobaugh, West Frankfort attorney and a leading witness against the project before the senate today, plans to carry the fight to Washington and to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace. He said only the secretary can declare a project necessary.

Another witness against the project was Oran Coleman, former sheriff of Williamson county, who broke up the Birger gang.

Gordon Franklin, attorney, of Marion, and United States Attorney Arthur Roe of Vandalia appeared in behalf of the work. Franklin told the senate he had a petition signed by more than 8,000 persons of the Crab Orchard vicinity who favored the project.

NEWS OF QUIZ ON SPENDING KEPT FROM HORNER

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner's secretary, Jonn Casey, said today the Illinois executive would not be advised of action by the Illinois house ordering an investigation of state expenditures.

"We don't bring anything like that to the governor's attention," said Casey.

He reported the governor's health was improving but that the date of his return north still was indefinite. Gov. Horner has been in seclusion here since December.

RETIRED DECORATOR DIES.

John P. Gischel, 47 years old, a retired interior decorator, died last night in the bathroom of his home at 1033 Loyola avenue.

Refuses Agreement

MRS. MYRTICE CUMMINGS.

Attorneys here yesterday informed Master in Chancery William R. Swissler that Mrs. Myrtice McLaughlin Chapin Cummings of Tampa, Fla., has refused to sign an agreement that would provide $13,800 for support of her son, Huntley Jr., during the next 138 months. The agreement was offered two weeks ago by Mrs. Cummings' first husband, Huntley Chapin, beneficiary of a Buffalo, N. Y., utilities fortune.

The statement by Mrs. Cummings' refusal was made by Attorney William Napier. The lawyer said his client believes the agreement doesn't provide sufficient funds for the boy's education and support. The child is now 10 years old. The offer was made by Chapin after he had requested a reduction in the $200 a month he had been paying for the boy's support. Chapin lives with his third wife in Hollywood, Cal.

COURT UPHOLDS MARTIN IN FIGHT FOR UNION FUNDS

Rules C.I.O. Has No Right to Local's Property.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Homer Martin's faction of the United Automobile Workers of America won a decisive victory today in the internal war now rending the big C. I. O. unit.

A Circuit court ruling gave his side possession of property, funds, and records of Plymouth local, No. 51, a Detroit unit. Control of that union was made an important issue in the showdown battle between Martin, the elected president of the U. A. W. A., and executive board members supported by high C. I. O. leaders.

The wide open break in the auto workers union was precipitated on Jan. 7 by Martin's suspension of the Plymouth local's officers on the ground they were communistically controled. Martin had the local's records removed from Schiller hall, which was known as "Moscow Square."

Makes Bid for Peace.

Tonight Martin made a bid for union peace in a radio broadcast. He declared that, contrary to "propaganda," he is in favor of an autonomous union within the C. I. O. He invited R. J. Thomas, leader of the rival faction, to help set up joint machinery for a referendum vote on the membership's choice of a leader.

"I am in favor of an autonomous international union associated with all other international unions under the C. I. O.," he said. "The question for the workers to determine is whether they favor the leadership of myself or of Thomas."

Martin asked acceptance or rejection of his proposal by the end of this week.

Maytag Agitators Lose.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The Iowa Supreme court today ruled against William Sentner of St. Louis and Hollis Hall of Newton Ia., C. I. O. organizers involved in the long Maytag labor controversy at Newton last summer, in their fight to avoid trial on charges of criminal syndicalism.

The court annulled a writ of certiorari which the two obtained last November to take the case out of the hands of District Judge Frank Bechly at Montezuma, where they were about to go on trial. The organizers were indicted by the Jasper county grand jury at Newton last July 6.

PART OF N. U. STADIUM WILL BE TRANSFORMED INTO CHORAL THEATER

Part of Northwestern university's Dyche stadium in Evanston is to be transformed this spring at a cost of $20,000 into a huge indoor choral theater. This theater will be used on May 16, 18, and 20 for the North Shore Music festival.

"Our audiences," said Arthur G. Cable, president of the Northwestern University Festival association, "have become too large for Patten gymnasium, where the festivals have been held since 1909. Dyche stadium will give the needed seating capacity and a spacious and colorful background for the performances."

The choral theater plans are drawn and construction is to begin April 1. The structure will be of steel, wood, and canvas. It will be erected on the west stand and will seat 7,000. It will have a stage 100 feet wide and 53 feet deep, which will project over the cinder track outside the football field.

200 BACK ON WPA JOB IN OFFICE OF ASSESSOR CLARK

Two hundred WPA clerical workers resumed work last evening on a land use survey project in the county assessor's office after an accord had been reached between John S. Clark, the assessor, and federal officials. Clark stopped work last week on the ground that supervision of the work with the valuable records was not adequate. He agreed to pay fifteen supervisors until March 1 and said he hopes to make an arrangement for WPA to pay them after that date.

BENES TO ARRIVE TODAY FOR U. C. LECTURE SERIES

Czechs Plan Big Welcome for Ex-President.

Dr. Eduard Benes, former president of Czecho-Slovakia, will arrive this afternoon to assume his duties as visiting professor at the University of Chicago.

He will be welcomed at the La Salle street station on behalf of the university by Vice President Emery T. Filbey and Profs. Ellsworth Faris, Samuel N. Harper, John Dale Russell, and Quincy Wright. Chicago Czecho-Slovakian organizations will give him a rousing reception when he arrives on a New York Central train.

Alumni Reception Friday.

Dr. Benes will be introduced to the university alumni and friends at the Civic Opera house Friday night. Harold H. Swift, president of the university's board of trustees, will preside. Dr. Benes will deliver an address. Admission will be by invitation.

The former Czecho-Slovakian executive will begin three months of classes at the university next Monday in Mandel hall. There will be 1,100 students in the classes and 50 more in an advanced seminar. Both courses will be on the subject of democracy.

Dr. Benes is coming to the university under auspices of the Charles R. Walgreen Foundation for the Study of American Institutions.

Plans Two Public Lectures.

He will deliver public lectures at the Auditorium theater March 1 and 8.

In Dr. Benes' party will be Jan Masaryk, son of the first president of Czecho-Slovakia and that country's ambassador to England until the Munich agreement, and Bohus Benes, a nephew who is acting as Dr. Benes' secretary.

The statesman fled by airplane from Prague to London last October in fear of his life after the crisis in his native land forced his resignation from the presidency. He was fêted in New York last Friday upon his arrival from London.

PIUS ENTOMBED IN CRYPT; 8,000 ATTEND BURIAL

Magnificent Rite Held in St. Peter's.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on back page.)

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 14.—Pope Pius XI. was buried today in a tomb beneath the great central altar of St. Peter's cathedral. The magnificent and solemn ceremonies were semi-private and lasted for more than two and a half hours.

The pope's triple casket of cypress, lead, and elm was lowered to its final resting place in the grottoes as night fell on the massive, dimly lighted cathedral.

Eight thousand mourners were present. Admission was by invitation only. High ecclesiastics, diplomats, priests, officials and humble folk—persons close to the dead pontiff—attended.

Women Wear Black Gowns.

Glittering uniforms mingled with mourning black. Formal evening attire was worn by those without uniforms. The women were clad in black gowns and veils.

The services began shortly after 4 p. m. [9 a. m. Chicago time]. Prelates, noblemen, Swiss guardsmen, and chanting choristers of the famous Sistine choir proceeded slowly to the chapel of the sacrament, where the pope's body had lain in state since Saturday.

The funeral litter was lifted from its red couch and carried to the altar of the chair. A churchman with a silver crucifix led the procession. Lights from many candles flickered. The beat of the cathedral's big bell echoed within the church.

Roberto Vincentini, white mitred patriarch, conducted the ceremony. Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state and now administrator of the affairs of the Roman Catholic church until a new pope is elected, walked behind the litter. Then came other cardinals wearing purple soutanes and red skullcaps.

Body Placed in Caskets.

The body of Pius XI. was placed before the symbolic chair of St. Peter at the extreme end of the nave.

Cardinals followed by bishops filed past the body for a last farewell. Each halted for an instant to give his blessing. Many of them were sobbing. They had known Pius XI. for years and mourned him as a friend as well as head of the Roman Catholic church.

A Latin eulogy was read over the dead pope. These words were heard: "Innumerable and wondrous have been the acts accomplished in seventeen years of this papacy for the glory of God and the welfare of the Catholic church."

The "act of tumulation"—that is the commitment of the body to the earth—was read with the papal guards standing rigidly at attention. The body in its rich white and red attire with the golden mitre and pastoral staf was slowly wrapped in a bright red shroud and then put into the first of three coffins.

Medals Placed at Feet.

A written eulogy and a purse containing copies of medals coined during Pius' pontificate were placed at the feet.

There was deep silence as eight workmen began the task of sealing the triple casket. The inner coffin of cipress first was closed and tied with two ribbons of violet silk. The knots of the ribbons were sealed with wax. The cover of the casket was screwed down.

The cover of the middle coffin of lead then was closed. Two laborers in working clothes approached the casket with blow torches and soldered the edges of the coffin. Cardinal Pacelli affixed a seal on it.

The laborers lifted the last lid of elm in place and twisted golden screws in this—the outer casket. This lid also was sealed.

The triple casket was wheeled to an opening in the floor before the high altar. It was rolled up a temporary wooden ramp to a platform and attached to block and tackle suspended from a scaffold.

The planks were removed. The coffin was suspended in air. A priest recited the burial office. The choir's chant rose in crescendo as the coffin was lowered to another wheeled carriage in the crypt below.

Cardinals bearing lighted candles descended to the crypt. The 8,000 mourners filed slowly out of the cathedral.

MRS. W. C. DEVEREAUX JR.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 14.—(AP)—W. C. Devereaux Jr., son of a Detroit manufacturer, and Miss Marjorie Wilson of Kenosha, Wis., granddaughter of Charles W. Nash, executive of Nash-Kelvinator corporation, disclosed tonight their elopement and marriage Saturday in Bennington, Vt.

The bride, a student at Erskine school in Boston, is 19 years old, and Devereaux, a junior in economics at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, is 21. Devereaux is the son of W. C. Devereaux, president of the Ferro Stamping and Manufacturing company. Nash is chairman of the Nash-Kelvinator board.

The newlyweds, who came to Detroit today, intend to move into an apartment at Ann Arbor tomorrow while Devereaux continues his studies. Mrs. Devereaux said she had notified her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Wilson, who are on a vacation in Miami Beach, Fla.

LEO LOEWENBERG RETIRES AS CHIEF TRIBUNE PRINTER

45 Years on the Job in Composing Room.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Leo Loewenberg, boss of THE TRIBUNE'S printers, said good-by to his job last night. He retired, voluntarily, on a pension after forty-five years of service with this newspaper. Since 1906 he had been superintendent of the composing room.

His closest associates, the men he had directed, said good-by to Mr. Loewenberg. They did it in their own fashion. They gave him gifts. But they gave him, too—a tribute as a workman and an executive.

Ceremony in Composing Room.

The informal ceremony was held around Mr. Loewenberg's desk in the center of the huge composing room. The last form of type for the first edition had been rolled away to the stereotypers. Simultaneously seventy-five linotype machines were silenced. Makeup men, typesetters, proof readers, apprentices, every one in the big room, gathered in a circle.

In the center sat a slight, gray haired man. He was Leo Loewenberg. The mercury shaded lights, except those above him, were dimmed. For a minute or two there was silence. Then George Chiles, a representative of THE TRIBUNE chapel of the printers' union, stepped forward.

He introduced Tom Canty, who had been appointed to convey the sentiments of the printers' force to the retiring superintendent. He spoke in clear tones. There was no obvious concession to sentiment. He told the kind of a story that printers like to set; it was without ornament, but there was no word in it that was hard to understand.

With Tribune Since 1893.

He recalled that Mr. Loewenberg had become a member of the union in 1891 in Jefferson City, Mo., and that he had been with THE TRIBUNE since 1893.

"Through all his years as superintendent he has handled affairs competently, with firmness and tolerance," Canty said. "He is and was plain, almost retiring. When things were going well you'd hardly know he was around. He is retiring, in his own words, to make room for younger men."

The gifts were presented. There was a gold makeup rule, modeled on the steel ones printers use in handling type. There was a platinum medalion, with a diamond in the center, and there was a printed parchment, framed in gold, in which the printers told a little of Mr. Loewenberg's history and a great deal about their admiration and respect for him.

His response was characteristic.

Thanks Men for Loyalty.

"If I have been at all a success here," he said, "I attribute that success to the loyalty and coöperation of all of you in the composing room. Whenever there was necessity you were always willing to put on a little extra spurt of effort. The spirit of coöperation between men and management is what makes THE TRIBUNE the great institution it is."

Applause came, and when it had died George Chiles made a suggestion.

"Let's give Leo the biggest dinging anybody ever had in this room," he said.

Instantly bedlam broke loose. The 300 present beat on the metal tables and type cases with rules and bits of type metal. Experts said the ding-dong was the most thorough in history.

Mr. Loewenberg was born in 1871. His predecessor in the composing room was Thomas E. Sullivan, who became a TRIBUNE employé in 1865 and was still on the pay roll until 1932, when he died at the age of 90.

At Work for 56 Years.

Mr. Loewenberg explained why he had retired. "I went to work when I was 12 years old," he said. "I've been at it for fifty-six years. It's time to rest."

He and Mrs. Loewenberg will make their home in Chicago in summer. They will spend their winters in sunnier climes.

THOUSANDS HEAR W-G-N BROADCAST OF VATICAN RITES

Roman Catholics, as well as thousands of others in Chicago homes yesterday morning, tuned in on the broadcast of the funeral ceremonies for Pope Pius XI. in St. Peter's cathedral. The ceremonies were rebroadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 9 to 10:30 a. m. In many Catholic parochial schools studies were interrupted so the children might hear the tribute to the pontiff, whom they had themselves heard speak over the radio before he died.

While atmospheric conditions were not the best, listeners were aided in understanding the ceremonies through an English speaking narrator, stationed within St. Peter's. The tolling of the great bell at ten second intervals and the majestic music reverberating through the cathedral contributed to the solemnity of the occasion.

CICERO, BERWYN PRIMARIES HELD; BALLOTING LIGHT

Republican and Democratic nominees for office in Cicero and Berwyn were named yesterday in primary elections. The voting was light. The Cicero candidates were unopposed and there were only a few contests in Berwyn. The regular elections will be held April 4.

There were 4,820 Democratic ballots and 1,172 Republican ballots cast in Cicero. The Democratic nominees are: Edward Grisko, for township supervisor; George Randa, township trustee, and George Sassetti and Stanley W. Hines, library board members. The Republican nominees are: Frank A. Marek, township supervisor; Charles Stasny, trustee, and Edward Statkus and Frank Budzynski, library board members.

In Berwyn there were 4,362 Democratic ballots and 3,314 Republican ballots. L. Thomas Pelnar won the Republican nomination for police magistrate, defeating James M. Gillespie. Frank Pavek, the incumbent, was unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

FRANCE ORDERS 515 MORE WAR PLANES IN U. S.

Cost of Fighting Ships Over 60 Millions.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The French government has ordered 515 new military airplanes from four large American manufacturers, it was announced here tonight. These new machines will supplement the 100 fighting planes ordered in the United States by the French air ministry last May.

The airplanes were bought through a French military mission that has completed its work, a statement from the French embassy explained. Sixty million dollars are being spent for the airplanes and many millions more will be spent for motors, propellers and accessories.

These orders are the largest ever given by any nation to warplane manufacturers of another country. The largest hitherto recorded was the purchase of 400 machines by the British air ministry announced last year.

Secret Deals Revealed.

Reports that France was making quantity purchases of American planes have been current since it was disclosed that President Roosevelt had intervened to allow French representatives to visit American factories and see the latest types of bombers and pursuit planes which are being delivered to the army and navy.

It was the exposé of a French observer in a new type Douglas bomber which crashed in Los Angeles recently, killing the pilot, that touched off the congressional investigation of the administration's foreign commitments.

The embassy statement tonight gave the orders as 200 North American Aviation corporation light bombers, 115 Glenn Martin light bombers, 100 Douglas bombers, and 100 additional Curtiss single seat fighters. The first 100 Curtiss planes were ordered last May.

Bill Before House.

The house of representatives today began considering the bill to improve national defense at a cost of 376 million dollars, most of which is to be spent for army planes and expansion of personnel. The chief dispute concerns the rate at which the 3,302 new planes now contemplated will be ordered.

The Republican minority led by Representative Walter G. Andrews [N. Y.] is urging an amendment limiting the purchase to not more than 1,000 planes a year for three years. This amendment would not affect purchases to replace wrecked or obsolete planes now in the air corps, nor would it affect planes already on order.

The purpose of the amendment, it was explained, is to give the army a chance to take advantage of improvements made annually in aviation.

MUNDELEIN TO ASSIST IN MEMORIAL RITES FOR PIUS ON LINER REX

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD STEAMSHIP REX EN ROUTE TO ROME, Feb. 14.—Cardinals George Mundelein of Chicago and Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia are among the dignitaries who will assist in memorial services to Pope Pius XI. in the grand salon of the liner Rex at 10:30 a. m., Friday.

A missa cantata will be sung by Msgr. Umberto Cassani, chaplain, and a choir composed of seventeen madames of the Order of the Sacred Heart, en route to the mother house in Rome to take their final vows as nuns. Officers and crew will join the passengers, among whom are several American bishops and monsignori, in the memorial to Pius.

Cardinal Mundelein is crossing the Atlantic for the thirtieth time. He is standing the trip well despite the choppy sea. He arises each day at 7 a. m. and says mass in the private chapel erected in his suite. The cardinal eats all meals in the regular dining room and spends considerable time walking on the deck. He is enjoying excellent health. Attending the prelate are Msgr. Patrick J. Hayes of St. Mary of the Lake seminary, and Dr. L. D. Moorhead.

The Rex, which passed the Azores this evening, is due in Naples at noon Saturday. Cardinal Mundelein plans to drive to Rome.

MOST OF VOLIVA'S SLATE TRAILS IN ZION'S PRIMARY

Another fight between adherents of Wilbur Glenn Voliva and the independent faction for control of the Zion city government was forecast yesterday when both organizations nominated candidates in primary elections. The general election will be held April 4.

Zion has a commission form of government. Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic church, has backed unsuccessful candidates since 1933, and in the primary yesterday most of his choices ran behind the independents. There were only two candidates for the mayoralty, Richard F. Hire, the incumbent, a foe of Voliva, who polled 1,351 votes, and William J. Bull, Voliva's candidate, who got 1,010.

There were five candidates for police magistrate. The incumbent, S. J. Drury, did not seek reëlection. Edward J. Bromstead, Voliva's candidate, led with 786 votes and Alex Ford Wilson, an independent, was second with 594. Of thirteen candidates for commissioner, the four incumbents, who are independents, and four of Voliva's men led in the voting.

19 Dead, 20 Hurt in Wreck; All Nicaragua in Mourning

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 14.—President Anastasio Somoza today declared national mourning for the victims of the greatest railroad disaster in Nicaragua's history. Reports from Leon today said nineteen persons had been killed and twenty injured in the wreck, which occurred Sunday night.

WOMEN APPROVE INDUCTION FETE FOR NEW VOTERS

First Ceremony May 21 to Welcome 1,200.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Members of the board of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs heard with interest and enthusiasm tonight a description of the Wisconsin Citizenship day plan for the induction of new voters. The first citizenship observance day has been arranged by Manitowoc county for May 21 when 1,200 new voters of the 38 political subdivisions in the county will come of age.

The ceremony, which is planned to make new citizens conscious of the importance of assuming responsibility for their share of the conduct of the government, was explained to the women by Dr. R. J. Colbert, who inaugurated the program. Dr. Colbert is chairman of the social science division of the extension department of the university.

Patterned After Indians.

The sentiment, he said, is borrowed from the Indians. The Indian ceremony of inducting young braves into the life of their nation was the most important day in the life of the Indian youth, he said.

Waukesha county followed Manitowoc in preparing for observance of Citizenship day. Rock and Sheboygan counties are working on programs.

Only One Critic Heard.

Dr. Colbert's purpose is to have such convenience in each of Wisconsin's 71 counties. He remarked that since a description of the purpose of Citizenship day was published recently in THE TRIBUNE, he had received 173 requests from the Chicago area, expressing approval and interest and asking how the plan can be adapted in other communities.

"I have had only one adverse comment," he told the Women's Federation. "A writer who subscribed himself secretary of a communist league of New York attacked the plan as being just one more capitalist trick to hoodwink and goosestep the young voters."

GREEN'S CAREER HIGHLIGHTED BY ROUT OF GANGS

Candidate Recalls Long Months on Capone Trail.

of tax law that was so useful in the Capone and other criminal cases. It gave me something more than that. No government lawyer gets closer to the problems of business—the way good businesses are operated, the mistakes poor business men make—than the tax lawyer.

"Good government is to a great extent the application of sound business practice to public affairs. What I learned of the operation of business, both in the government service and in private practice should prove as valuable to me in running their business for the citizens of Chicago as it did in federal courtrooms."

The dullness that characterized the young government lawyer's stay in Washington, it should be noted, was confined to his working hours. During the evenings he was busy paying court to pretty Mabel Kingston, and when he was transferred to the penal division of the internal revenue bureau in 1927 and assigned to Chicago he brought his bride with him.

Volunteers for More Work.

His job here was that of advisor to various units of the revenue bureau. About the same time, however, George E. Q. Johnson had been named United States attorney, and was casting about for means of fighting the rampant Chicago underworld through the federal statutes.

"I went to Mr. Johnson and told him I was here to work," said Mr. Green. "I said I would be glad to handle any income tax matters coming into his office. He turned over that work to me, and I worked under his supervision, when I was given temporary appointment as an assistant district attorney to enable me to present evidence before the grand jury."

Mr. Green participated with United States Attorney Johnson and a number of the latter's regular assistants in trial of most of the important income tax fraud cases. His principal business, however, was working in coöperation with agents of the special intelligence unit in preparing the evidence for indictment and prosecution of those cases.

Beer Barons His Victims.

Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, the beer barons, felt the new government weapon first. In time six Caponeites—Al's brother, Ralph; his cousin, Frank Nitti; Jack and Sam Guzik, Murray Humphreys, and Hymie [Loudmouth] Levin joined them in prison. Grafting politicians also were hit—Gene G. Oliver and his crony in Chicago Heights gambling rackets, Oliver J. Ellis; Building Commissioner Christian P. Paschen, State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien.

"We had been looking for Al Capone from the start," said Mr. Green. "We had cases against his close associates and we were sure that somewhere along the line we would get the break that would give us tangible proof of his income. I believe that it was Frank Wilson, then a special intelligence agent and now chief of the secret service, who uncovered that break.

Old Ledger Brings Conviction.

"Wilson had an old ledger on his desk, used as a sort of paperweight. He turned its pages one day. It contained the cash records, for more than a year, of different departments of a gambling house. He inquired about the book.

"Cicero police had given it, in 1927, to A. P. Madden, Chicago chief of the special intelligence unit, and Agents Clarence Converse and Pat Roche when they were working on a prohibition conspiracy case. The records eventually were identified as those of the Hawthorne Smoke shop, a gambling den.

"The ledger we found eventually had been seized in a raid conducted by the Rev. Henry C. Hoover, a crusading Berwyn pastor. And—most important of all—the day the Rev. Hoover conducted his raid Al Capone had entered—his clothing hastily donned over pajamas, and in a blustering conversation admitted he owned the place.

"We had what we needed to convict Capone, but we didn't have it in the form of legal evidence. To a jury the book was still only a book—any book. We had to get the men who had made the entries in it, get their testimony.

"The agents traced two of them, L. A. Shumway and Fred Ries, and found them working in Los Angeles gambling houses. They identified the entries in the ledger and testified to the receipt of daily net income.

"From Ries we learned that he had sent money in cashier's checks to Florida. A hotel owner was found there who had cashed those checks for Capone. That completed the circle, although later we got much additional evidence."

Both United States Attorney Johnson and Mr. Green were recognized for the Capone victory, Mr. Johnson being elevated to the federal bench and Mr. Green appointed his successor. The senate, in the closing days of the Hoover administration, pigeonholed the appointments, but Mr. Green was continued in office until June 3, 1935, by appointment of the four district judges in Chicago, who were Republicans at the time of their appointment to the bench. Under the law the judges fill a vacant attorneyship to which the President has not made an appointment.

Insull Slips Through Net.

As United States attorney Mr. Green obtained convictions in the important H. O. Stone & Co. mail fraud case. William H. Malone, former chairman of the state tax commission, was indicted for income tax frauds, but was not tried and convicted until after Mr. Green left office because of his prolonged absence in Germany. The Humphreys and Levin income tax cases were wound up. The Insull mail fraud case was tried and lost.

"We might have had more success," said Mr. Green, somewhat ruefully, "if Insull, on his return from Greece, hadn't had one of the greatest publicity buildups of the century."

Mr. Green went back to his private law practice in 1935. Republican party leaders drafted him for the mayoralty race, his first experience in seeking elective office.

Of his ambitions for Chicago, if his race is successful, he said:

Hopes to Cut Idle Rolls.

"Unemployment is our greatest public problem today. If we can get rid of the excess baggage in government—unnecessary taxes and unnecessary pay rollers—we can do much to solve that unemployment problem. Relieved of excessive tax burdens Chicago can attract new industries, to take people off the relief rolls and in turn reduce the taxes further by cutting relief expenditures."

Mr. and Mrs. Green have two daughters—Gloria, 7 years old, and Nancy, 11. Mr. Green admits that the youngsters take up the better part of his spare time. His participation in the strenuous sports of his college days were ended one spring afternoon at Leland Stanford university, which he attended for a semester after war, when a runner came into second base sliding high and jammed his knee. He likes to swim, though, and on the golf course is thankful for a 90.

Professional literature occupies most of his reading time. In these times, he said, a lawyer cannot hope to keep abreast of changing statutes and opinions during working hours. He has to take his books home with him. For relaxation he is one of the great army of detective story readers.

Political Meetings Tonight

The three principal contenders in the Feb. 28 mayoralty primaries, Dwight H. Green, Mayor Kelly, and State's Attorney Courtney, are billed to appear successively on the platform at Mandel hall, 57th street and University avenue, tonight. The meeting is sponsored by the Hyde Park League of Women Voters and other organizations.

State's Attorney Courtney has no other meetings scheduled. The engagements of the other two are as follows:

DWIGHT H. GREEN.

Shotwell hall, Blackstone avenue and 55th street.
La Salle hotel, Young Republicans' meeting.
Polish Roman Catholic union, 1042 Noble street.

MAYOR KELLY.

Elks club, Cottage Grove avenue and 62d street.
8010 Cottage Grove avenue, massmeeting.
Syrena hall, 4270 Archer avenue, banquet.

GREEN CHARGES CAPONE GANG IS BACK IN POWER

Puts Blame on Both Kelly and Courtney.

Speaking on the tenth anniversary of the St. Valentine's day massacre, Dwight H. Green last night charged Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney with joint responsibility for the revival of the Capone gang in Chicago.

He described his own success in sending Al Capone and a half dozen of his lieutenants to federal prisons for income tax frauds. He pledged his audience that if he is elected mayor he will give the revived gang another whipping. He spoke at rallies at 4723 Madison street, in the 30th ward, and at 6316 Yale avenue, in the 17th ward, in his campaign for the Republican mayoralty nomination.

Capone—"The Invisible Ruler."

"Make no mistake," said Green. "Al Capone was the invisible ruler of Chicago ten years ago. The city administration of that day did nothing effective to break his rule. The state's attorney did nothing effective.

"But the day Capone machine gunners mowed down the seven Moran gangsters, we were already gathering the evidence in the federal building that broke the Capone gang's back."

After referring to newspaper accounts of the revival of gang power in the city, both in gambling and prostitution and in rackets preying on business men, Green said:

"Mayor Kelly boasts about his fine police force. It is a fine force—if he would take the handcuffs off it. If he would let them, his police would clamp down on the Capone gangsters. Why doesn't he turn his police loose?

Who Supplies the Money.

"Where does Billy Skidmore get the money for his big horses that win prizes at the stock show? Is it from his scrap iron business? If it were, he would have had to sell enough scrap to rebuild the Japanese navy. Or is it as the middle man, the protection broker, for Chicago gamblers? What are the relations of Billy Skidmore, the fixer, with Mayor Kelly and the morals division of his police department?

"State's Attorney Courtney has been denouncing the Capone gang. He is the prosecutor of Cook county. Why doesn't he get some evidence and present it to the grand jury? We got evidence in 1929. And we got convictions, too. If there are slot machines in Cook county, why don't his police seize them. Slot machines aren't hard to find.

"The truth is, the state's attorney and the mayor have only one real difference of opinion. That is that Kelly runs the machine and Courtney wants to run it. Which ever runs it, it will still be the same rotten Democratic machine.

Only One Way Out.

"For the people of Chicago, there is only one salvation. That is to get rid of the Democrats. They run the machinery of local government today, and on it, feed the machine that has tolerated rebirth of the Capone gang.

"I took part in one battle against that gang, and we whipped them. If I am elected, I will give them another whipping. Gangsters and racketeers cannot exist without political protection. I give you my pledge, there will be no alliance between politics and crime in my administration."

LEADERS IN WAR SERVICE GROUPS SPEAK FOR KELLY

Praise Him for Getting Legion Convention.

BY PARKE BROWN.

While Mayor Kelly last night continued his fixed policy of carrying his record to the voters, his supporters presented his cause to the voters in two new ways.

Speakers belonging to three large organizations of service men joined in a radio program in which he was praised for bringing this year's national convention of the American Legion to Chicago and for other accomplishments in harmony with the programs of the veterans' associations.

Another backer, Mrs. M. L. Purvin, praised the mayor's encouragement for the development of the Chicago public library. She was one of the first Kelly nonpolitical appointees to the board of that institution in 1933. For twenty-five years before that she had been a leader of the Woman's City club and chairman of its committee on recreation.

Praise from a Legionnaire.

Lawrence E. McGann, past national vice commander of the American Legion, was the first of the service men speakers on the radio program.

"It was Mayor Kelly's trip to the Los Angeles convention last year," he said, "that caused the passage of the resolution selecting Chicago for this year's convention. This meeting will bring 250,000 Legionnaires to our city. According to a survey by the Association of Commerce they will spend 10 million dollars, a tremendous boost for Chicago business."

McGann was followed by Henry A. Cohen, past commander of the Illinois department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"Mayor Kelly," said Cohen, "has helped develop the idea that Americanism is a vital part of our lives, not merely a word to stir our emotions. He sponsored the splendid Americanism programs in the small parks which brought to all sections of the city the realization of the real meaning o fbeing an American."

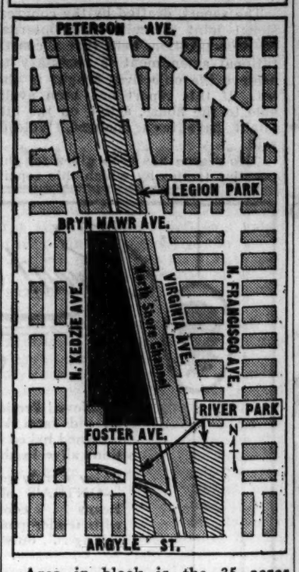
Speaks for Disabled Vets.

Joseph S. Stelnicki, representing the Disabled War Veterans, spoke next.

"When a shop, an office, or a factory is operating at a profit," he said, "the owners do not change tried and true leadership for inexperienced executives. The same rule should apply to city government."

"During the last five and one-half years," said Mrs. Purvin, "the library board has been strengthened, new books have been bought, new buildings have been started, and the circulation has substantially increased—all largely due to Mayor Kelly's interest and coöperation."

Offered for Park



Area in black is the 35 acres which the sanitary district has offered to sell to the park board to connect Legion and River parks.

Ross A. Woodhull, president of the sanitary district, yesterday offered the Chicago park board thirty-three acres of land for $56,000. The land is along the west bank of the North Shore channel between Bryn Mawr and Foster avenues. Last year the sanitary district asked for bids on the land. One bid was received. It was for $56,000 and was from a syndicate headed by William E. Kitzeman, real estate man. The syndicate planned a $5,000,000 housing project.

In a letter to the park board, Woodhull said he believed it would be to the advantage of the district to sell the land for residence purposes, but that he wished the park board to have a chance to buy it.

The park board referred the offer to George T. Donoghue, general superintendent, for recommendation. Mr. Donoghue indicated he did not thing the area would be suitable for a park, but would consider it. The strip of land would practically connect two existing parks, Legion park and River park.

BUILDING TRADES OFFICIAL URGES COURTNEY VOTES

Blames Kelly for Slump in Industry.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

John F. Hogan, vice president of the Chicago building trades council, was a speaker for State's Attorney Courtney in last night's mayoralty campaigning. In a radio broadcast the labor official declared one issue is revival of the building industry.

"There cannot be the slightest measure of prosperity in Chicago," said Hogan, "until building is stimulated into something approaching its former volume.

"You cannot stimulate business with relief rolls. You cannot revive dormant purchasing power with WPA allotments. You cannot substitute for union scale wages a condition of widespread unemployment, and expect prosperity.

Recalls Boom Year Pay Rolls.

"There was a time 10 years past when the building field employed an average of 130,000 skilled workers and provided jobs for 80,000 of these on an all year basis. That means about half a million building tradesmen and their families were dependent upon their pay checks. Chicago stood second among large cities in building. Today it is seventh.

"Chicago has slipped far behind as a desirable place to build homes and own real estate? Why? High taxes and the threat that the Chicago city taxe rate will go still higher in 1939—that's the answer.

"Tom Courtney's stand against higher tax rates may compel the city council to reduce the 1939 budget before the tax rate it will compel has been applied to all real property in Chicago. Nowhere is there any hope to be found that the Kelly-Nash administration will halt the orgy of tax spending."

Recalls Old Political Fights.

State's Attorney Courtney raked over some of the political fights of other years in his campaigning last night. In a speech at Sons of Liberty hall, 1042 North Damen avenue, he said:

"Tow weeks from tonight will see the end of the Kelley-Nash machine. Its first defeat was when it sought to beat Gov. Horner. I note in the morning papers that Mayor Kelly admits he makes mistakes. Well, he spent six years trying to build a political machine.

"Last year the Morrison hotel penthouse machine fired Judge Jarecki off the ticket. Jarecki called me at midnight and asked my support, which I willingly gave. For the second time the Kelly-Nash machine was defeated. On Feb. 28 it will have its third defeat."

Political Notes

Charles S. Deneen, former governor and former United States senator, is supporting Dwight H. Green in the Republican primary. He was asked yesterday to issue a statement defining his position and said that such formality was unnecessary. He spoke for Green at an organization meeting in the 17th ward, his home territory, two weeks ago.

"I said then," he continued, "that Dwight Green is a man equipped by character, education and experience to discharge the duties of mayor with credit."

State's Attorney Courtney goes on the air again this evening in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for mayor. He will speak over WCFL at 7:15.

In accepting the chairmanship of the south side division of the All-Chicago committee, Charles Poffenberger, vice president of the Drexel State bank, said: "Never in its history has the south side enjoyed such a huge program of public improvements as during the six years of Mayor Kelly's administration."

Sidney T. Holzman, head of the Courtney service men's committee, announced that more than 1,000 reservations have been made for an organization luncheon in the Hotel Sherman on Saturday.

The Joint Council of Dining Car Employés' Unions and the Packing House Workers' Organizing committee joined with Labor's Nonpartisan league in attacks on State's Attorney Courtney.

TWO BILLION WORLDS

By CALEB

"BUT it's nonsense," insisted the literal-minded executive, "to say there are two billion worlds like this one in existence! You can't possibly know that, and you couldn't possibly prove it. So far as you and I and everyone else are concerned, there's only one earth . . . and it took centuries, even then, for man to discover that it's eight thousand miles thick, twenty-five thousand miles around, revolves on its axis once every twenty-four hours——" He glared belligerently at the professor.

"I wonder," mused the latter, eyeing his companion meditatively in return. "You've admitted the planet's population is roughly two billion people—right? And that no two personalities anywhere in the universe could be exactly alike? Good! There's my proposition—and its proof.

"Obviously, I see and react to this world in my own peculiar way. You see and react to it in your peculiar way; my wife's view differs from yours or mine; your wife's view differs from my wife's, yours and my own . . . and so on ad infinitum. With two billion human beings in the world, therefore, there are actually as many separate concepts of it in existence. So I again insist that, instead of one, there are two billion editions of this world in circulation at one and the same time.

"The financier's world, for example, is a money world: debits, credits, exchange, inflation, deposits, loans and investments. The physician's world is one of disease: his life-job, to make it more healthful. The merchant's world is goods and markets, and the business of keeping them in profitable contact. The lawyer's world is peopled with litigants—the chemist's with formulas—the inventor's with mechanical ideas—the adman's with headlines—the chef's with recipes—the artist's with 'masses' and 'composition.' For each member of the whole human family there is a distinct world unlike that of any other of its two billion members. It's a startling thought. A form of astronomy that escapes most of our mental telescopes."

"Yes, I suppose you're right," assented he of the literal mind. "If my creditors, for instance, could see the same world that I do! Or even my secretary, at times!" He grinned. "Yes, I see what you mean . . . And yet—what a dismal world this would be," he added, "if the two billion of us all did see it alike!"

JOHNSON CALLS AIR SECRET CASE DICTATOR MOVE

Such Policies Lead to War, He Says.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.] — Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] today accused the Roosevelt administration of using the method of dictators in its clandestine relations with Great Britain and France.

Renewing his demand to lift the veil of secrecy and let the American people know how far they have been carried on the road to war, Senator Johnson observed that the common people and not the President will do the fighting and dying if war comes.

Senator Johnson's statement was an intimation of what is to come later in senate debate as a result of the administration's policy in suppressing the evidence of the senate military affairs committee's investigation into the French airplane scandal.

Air Secrets Given Away.

The record of this investigation, according to committee members, would show that President Roosevelt, over the objections of the war department, directed that a French air mission be permitted to purchase secret military planes before the United States army had had an opportunity to test them.

Senator Johnson said that Mr. Roosevelt could not divest himself of responsibility by salling senators and newspapers boobs and liars because, he said, they misrepresented his secret White House conference.

Members of the committee still insist that he told them this government would do everything possible to aid the European democracies against aggression by the totalitarian states, and that he put America's first line of defense in France.

Recalls Speech of Grey.

Intimating that the administration's mysterious dealings with the European democracies imply some kind of commitments or understandings, Senator Johnson recalled the speech of Sir Edward Grey, British foreign minister, upon the occasion of Great Britain's entry into the world war in 1914.

"The world war began with Grey's speech, in August, 1914, and those of us living then remember it rested upon tenuous verbal understandings between the French and the English," Senator Johnson said.

"The controversy that has been going on over the secrecy with our planes and otherwise is a matter of great importance to the senate and more to the people of the United States. I detest dictators, either actual or potential. I recognize that some in the world today have been guilty of unspeakable barbarities, but I do not want war for my country unless it be absolutely essential for the protection of its citizens or the property of its citizens.

Wouldn't Fight for Others.

"I wouldn't go to war for the citizens of other countries, nor have our nation set itself up as a judge of the kind of government citizens of another country should have.

"I have ever been for national defense. I'll do anything for the protection of our land and our people. But I won't have Uncle Sam policing the world, nor will I arm this country for aggression."

VOTE TO CANCEL COUNTY NURSING SCHOOL COMPACT

The county board yesterday voted to cancel the contract under which the Cook County School of Nursing has been operating since Aug. 15, 1929. This was done to clear the way for a new type of agreement that will give the board greater latitude in supervising school expenditures. The cancellation of the old contract will not become effective until Dec. 1. The school furnishes a nursing service to County hospital.

The board also passed a resolution introduced by Commissioner William N. Erickson directing a subcommittee to make a study to determine the feasibility of limiting the number of taverns in the unincorporated areas of the county. Many taverns are springing up around dry towns and this tends to defeat the local option of town residents, it was said.

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL.

Emil Rosenberger, 41 years old, died in St. Anne's hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Feb. 7 in a fall near his home at 4732 Rice street.

Freed as Kidnaper

MRS. LILLIAN THORSEN.

LILLIAN BONTHORN.

Mrs. Lillian Bonthron Thorsen, 27 years old, 1814 North Burling street, was seized by Deputy Sherif Mary Deverman yesterday in the corridor outside the county building courtroom of Judge Oscar Nelson. She was arrested on an attachment Judge Nelson issued last Friday on the request of the woman's first husband, Edward Bonthron, 6020 South Wolcott street, who said his former wife had kidnaped their daughter, Lillian, 6 years old, from St. Justin's school, 71st and Honoré streets, at noon Friday.

"I was being prevented from seeing my daughter," said Mrs. Thorsen. "It's true my first husband got a divorce on grounds of desertion and got custody of Lillian and of our son, Edward, 5 years old, but I should be allowed to see the children once in a while. I was only allowed to see Lillian at the school, and when I saw her Friday she asked me to take her away."

Judge Nelson warned Mrs. Thorsen not to interfere with the lives of the children in the future and released her after she promised to take her daughter back to Bonthron immediately.

NAVY TO SEND 10 SHIPS ON TRIP TO SOUTH AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The United States will send a half dozen cruisers and four destroyers on a good will visit to South America in the spring, the navy department announced today. The trip is scheduled to begin at the conclusion of the war games now in progress in the Caribbean sea.

In the same announcement, the navy disclosed that it will strengthen its new Atlantic squadron after the games by addition of four heavy cruisers.

The United States also is about to increase its military representatives in Latin American countries. Within a few months the United States will have twenty-nine officers of the army in Latin America, in addition to naval attachés and missions. This is viewed as a determined attempt on the part of the administration to offset the attempts by totalitarian states to penetrate Latin America through military representatives and missions.

STEALS FOR FAMILY; GETS YEAR.

John Linden, 55 years old, 2222 Orchard street, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan of the Felony court to one year in the Bridewell for burglary. Linden said he stole to support his wife and three children.

CHARGES FACTS ARE HIDDEN ON SALARY TAX BILL

Report Is Concealed 25 Days, House Hears.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.] — Representative Jesse P. Wolcott [R., Mich.] charged on the floor of the house today that a committee report casting doubt on the constitutionality of the reciprocal tax act had been suppressed and concealed until after the house approved the measure last week.

Representative Jesse Wolcott.

The act provides for reciprocal income taxes to be levied by the federal government and by the state governments on the salaries of federal, state, and municipal officers and employés.

Republicans criticized the legislation as setting up a precedent for federal invasion of state sovereignty, which might be used by President Roosevelt to extend federal domination over the states.

Asks Senate Surrender Bill.

Wolcott introduced a resolution to recall the bill from the senate for reconsideration in the house. He charged that a report on the legislation had been completed last Jan. 15, but that it was suppressed for twenty-five days — until after the house passed the act.

The report, drafted by the congressional joint committee on internal revenue taxation, held that a constitutional amendment is necessary to achieve the objectives sought in the act. If this report had been available to the house, action on the bill might have been changed, Wolcott said.

"No reason has been given for the peculiar tactics by which this report has been withheld," Wolcott told the house. "There is a clear case of impropriety here, and it justifies the return of the bill to the house for further consideration."

Majority Leader Sam Rayburn made a point of order against the Wolcott resolution, and was upheld by Speaker William Bankhead. Under the ruling, the resolution must await its turn on the calendar, during which time the senate probably will act on the bill, making the resolution useless.

Spring's on the way!
Get out and meet it!

Easy on the eye—easy to buy —on General Motors terms!

NO, WE'RE not trying to beat the gun —we'll be seeing quite a lot of winter before the spring buds burst.

But spring always has come—and with it a sudden itch to get out and see the awakening world. And also—all too often—the sad discovery that to get the new car you want, you've got to wait till a flock of others get theirs!

So what? So take steps now—to meet spring halfway!

Forget that old, worn-out notion that there's a season for buying cars and a season for not buying cars!

Take steps to retire that slow-motion number you're driving now—and replace it with a Buick bursting with newness and get-up-and-git.

Put a Dynaflash straight-eight under your toe to do battle with tough winter going—get the comfort of BuiCoil Springing to float you smoothly over rough and rutted roads.

Get a new outlook for winter horizons or for spotting the first flush of green on the meadows in Buick's "visibility unlimited," which gives you as much as 412 more square inches of safety plate glass to see through.

Then consider also: Your present car is worth less each day as a trade-in. The risk of repair bills grows steadily greater. Old rubber's dangerous, tired batteries a bore—and a bright new Buick is sound and supple all through.

Besides—the cost of keeping up an old car will go a long way toward meeting your monthly payments on a new one. And Buick's prices —as of course you know—are lower than a year ago, lower than you'd expect, lower than some sixes!

So why not drop in to talk it over? You'll probably want to get your Buick while the getting's good!

FRENCH CABINET ACCUSED OF DEAL WITH DICTATORS

Dickers to Settle Italian Demands, Is Charge.

PARIS, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The powerful Socialist group in the chamber of deputies tonight demanded unanimously that the government explain reports of "secret negotiations with Germany and Italy." The demand, supported by other opposition deputies, resulted from charges printed by Deputy Henri de Kerillis in the newspaper Epoque, and by other newspapers. De Kerillis charged that Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet had sent emissaries to Rome and Berlin to seek a settlement of Italy's territorial claims on France.

This development came a few hours after anti-Fascist cabinet members had upset plans for immediate joint French-British recognition of the rebel régime of Gen. Francisco Franco as the legal government of Spain.

Plan New Unofficial Mission.

Although Premier Edouard Daladier supported Bonnet in a heated three and one-half hour cabinet meeting, he was unable to overcome the opposition of such ministers as Cesar Campinchi, marine; Paul Reynaud, finance; Georges Mandel, colonies, and Jean Zay, education.

The ministers agreed to send Senator Leon Berard back to Burgos, Spanish rebel capital, without official standing but authorized to keep the way open for eventual recognition. But beyond that they refused to go.

Berard visited Burgos last week with the approval of Premier Daladier. He was said to have offered an understanding to Gen. Franco and to have brought back the generalissimo's demand for recognition. The cabinet split came over whether Franco could maintain Spain's independence from German and Italian domination after the civil war ends, as he had promised to do.

Denies Secret Negotiations.

The demand for an investigation of alleged negotiations with the dictators brought a denial from Bonnet's office that "there are negotiations engaged in between France on the one hand and Germany and Italy on the other."

Fernand de Brinon, Paris newspaper man, who often is mentioned in parliament as the government's "unofficial ambassador to Germany," told newspaper men, however, that his talks with Nazi leaders had convinced him "there are serious possibilities for negotiations and peaceful settlement" between the Rome-Berlin and Paris-London camps. De Brinon was one of those cited by De Kerillis and by newspapers as serving as a "secret agent" for Bonnet.

De Kerillis declared the Berlin newspaper Boersenzeitung published an article early this month saying Paul Badouin, president of the Bank of Indo-China, was in Rome negotiating a settlement of Italy's claims on France. Robert Coulondre, ambassador to Berlin, issued a denial after telephoning the French foreign office.

Italy Cancels Boycott.

Shortly after Badouin's visit to Rome, it was announced in Djibouti, French Somaliland, that the Italian government had dropped its announced six months' boycott of the French owned Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway, and had signed a contract for the transport of 15,000 tons of freight.

Thereupon, De Kerillis said, the French ambassador called at the office of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, after having denied the Berlin newspaper's story. The Nazi foreign minister asked why the story had been denied, and was told the denial was ordered by the French foreign office.

Then, De Kerillis said, Von Ribbentrop told the French ambassador that De Brinon had confirmed it to him in person with the permission of Bonnet. Coulondre returned immediately to Paris, where he was received last Friday by Bonnet. He was reported to have protested to the foreign minister and threatened to resign if "such practices are not halted."

Loveless Valentines

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ELVIRA VALENTINE.

"The Valentines," announced the clerk.

"Yes, yes, I know," interrupted Judge Oscar Nelson, "it's St. Valentine's day. But we're too busy hearing divorce cases to do anything about it."

"We are the Valentines, your honor," said Mrs. Elvira Valentine, 20 years old, 5338 Roscoe street, as she stepped before the bench. "I've come here asking that you force my husband, James, to pay the $8 a week ordered by the court for the temporary support of our son, Jimmy, who is 2 years old."

Mrs. Valentine filed suit for divorce last September charging cruelty. Valentine, who is 25 and lives at 1215 Race avenue, protested that he couldn't keep up the payments. He said he had only $3.

"Give your wife $2," said Judge Nelson, "and if you haven't paid what you owe by March 3 I'll send you to a place where you'll have to be as good as the famous Jimmy Valentine to escape."

Free Mine Owner's Son in Broker Swindling Case

Douglas E. Brown, 33 years old, son of a wealthy Iron Mountain, Mich., copper mine owner, was freed yesterday on a charge of operating a confidence game. Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in Felony court entered the order on motion of Assistant State's Attorney Joseph O'Connor, who said the grand jury had returned a no bill. Brown was accused of defrauding a fellow broker, Lawrence K. Callahan, 1325 Astor street, in a stock transaction. Brown formerly lived in Hinsdale.

LOYALISTS ORDER FLEET PREPARED TO FIGHT REBELS

Must Run Tight Blockade to Feed Madrid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PERPIGNAN, France [Near the Spanish Frontier], Feb. 14.—Loyalist Spain today impressed on its small navy the necessity for loyalty, bravery and daring in the protection of the Madrid-Valencia zone.

After the loss of Catalonia the central-southeastern one-fourth of Spain has no land connection by which to receive supplies from France. Thus, supplies must be brought in by ships which run the rebel blockade. The principal ports remaining in loyalist hands are Valencia, Alicante, Cartagena, and Almeria.

Rebels Have Italian Ships.

It was apparent the rebels planned to cripple the government's fleet if they could. Two destroyers were damaged in an air raid on Cartagena, the loyalist naval base, today. The port of Alicante also was bombed by five rebel Savoia [Italian type] war planes. Fifty houses were destroyed, four persons were killed and twenty-five wounded.

The loyalist fleet includes the old 15,452 ton battleship Jaime I., the cruisers Libertad, Miguel de Cervantes and Mendez Nunez, thirteen destroyers, seven submarines, five torpedo boats and two gunboats.

Aided by Germany.

Rebel Gen. Franco's fleet, which has dominated the loyalists' since the civil war began, includes the 10,668 ton modern cruiser Canarias, the 9,385 ton cruiser Almirante Cervera, the 1,337 ton destroyer Velasco, six torpedo boats, and four gunboats. However, recently the rebels are known to have obtained at least four destroyers from Italy and perhaps submarines from Germany.

The government naval proclamation said the government might order "what it deems fit with assurance that the fleet will remain loyal and carry out the orders." It directed all sailors to stay at their posts, warned them that "cowards" would be dealt with implacably, and announced that "if misfortune compels us to take a definite solution, the fleet, led by its officers, will fulfill its duty even if it means death."

The last Spanish government flag flying in Catalonia was hauled down from a pine tree in the Pyrenees at noon today. Two hours later the last units of the defeated loyalist army crossed into France.

OHIO ASSEMBLY MAY JOIN QUIZ ON SCHOOL REDS

Columbus, O., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The state legislature indicated today it may join in an investigation of un-American activities at Ohio State university which a committee of school trustees will open on the campus Friday.

The trustees' committee, named to investigate charges that Red activities play a prominent part in the university's campus life, was asked to submit transcripts of its daily hearings to legislative leaders.

Coincidental with the opening of the inquiry, a bill to reorganize the board of trustees was introduced in the senate. It was proposed that the seven man board be replaced with a nine member board, which would permit removal of objectionable members. Two resolutions asking for investigations of subversive persons and organizations in all the schools in the state are pending.

Fleets Face Test

(Story in adjoining column.)

Spanish loyalists yesterday ordered their fleet ready to combat the rebel naval blockade of the four ports the government controls—Valencia, Alicante, Cartagena, and Almeria. Rebel war planes raided Alicante and Cartagena, damaging two warships at Cartagena.

ART TREASURES OF SPAIN SAFE IN GENEVA PALACE

GENEVA, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Spanish government's priceless art collection arrived in Geneva today after more than two years of playing hide-and-seek with war.

The objects of art, many of them among the most famous of the world, were brought to Switzerland for safekeeping until the Spanish civil war ends. There were 115 paintings of the great 18th and 19th century Spanish artist, Goya; forty-three masterpieces by El Greco, forty-five by Velasquez, thirty-eight by Titian, twenty-five by Rubens, and many from the brushes of Watteau, Fragonard, and Van Dycky.

The world's most famous collection of Flemish and Gobelin tapestries was among the treasures packed away in 1,845 cases being moved into the league of nations palace. The art works were brought out of Spain after the fall of Barcelona.

Swiss Recognize Rebels as Official Rulers of Spain

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Swiss federal council announced today its recognizance of the Spanish rebel régime as the official government of Spain and its intention to send a minister to Burgos, the rebel capital.

DECREE TO HALT SALE OF LIQUOR IN BOMBAY AUG. 1

BOMBAY, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Bombay provincial government, controled by the Indian Congress party, today announced prohibition would be imposed on the city of Bombay starting Aug. 1.

Plans of Mohandas K. Gandhi for India-wide prohibition within three years thus moved a step nearer realization. Dry régimes already have been established in several provinces.

"If India carries out prohibition," Gandhi once said, "it may well hasten the return of prohibition in the United States."

CHAMBERLAIN SAVED EUROPE: LORD KEMSLEY

Noted British Publisher Visits Chicago.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain saved Europe from a catacylsmic war by his policy of appeasement in the pact of Munich. It was the only means of averting war and Chamberlain was the only man who could have carried it through.

Lord Kemsley.

These opinions were voiced yesterday in Chicago by Lord Kemsley, chairman of Allied Newspapers, Ltd., one of the largest newspaper groups in the world. It controls twenty-six newspapers in England. The most important is the Sunday Times, of which Lord Kemsley is editor in chief.

On Second Trip to U. S.

Lord Kemsley is accompanied by Lady Kemsley, their children, the Hon. Douglas Berry and the Hon. Pamela Berry, and Lady Kemsley's daughter, Miss Ghislaine Dresselhuys. They intend to sail for England on Thursday from New York. This is his first Chicago visit and his second to the United States.

Lord Kemsley declined to discuss the chances of a European war.

"I am a 100 per cent Neville Chamberlain man," Lord Kemsley declared. "His Munich policy of appeasement was the only one which could save Europe. He was criticized for it, but later the same critics criticized England's unpreparedness. Surely if we were unprepared for war it was a good thing to avert war."

Predicts Franco Recognition.

Lord Kemsley also predicted that Great Britain soon would recognize the insurgent government of Generalissimo Franco in Spain. England's influence on the peninsula, the publisher said, will become greater than that of Germany and Italy.

Discussing the impending visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to the North American continent, Lord Kemsley said he felt it was time the British rulers saw Canada, and vice versa.

"I look on it as a happy event," his lordship said. "Their visit to the United States is to be merely a courtesy call. There is no idea of tying this country to England, although I feel that the average American looks at things the same way as the Briton. The two great English speaking peoples should have much in common."

Sorry He Stepped on Gas, Judge Makes Him Sorrier

Sergt. Erwin Smith said Robert Ravert of Lincolnwood was in no condition to drive Monday night. Ravert insisted he was, stepped on the accelerator, and drove into a snowbank at Montrose avenue and Broadway. Yesterday Ravert said he was sorry. Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green said Ravert wasn't half as sorry as he was going to be in a minute, then fined him $100 for disorderly conduct.

Although 321,881 fewer automobiles were registered last year throughout the country, the first decline in the automotive industry since 1933, Illinois registration increased more than 18,000. Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, reported yesterday that the Illinois increase was 1 per cent in contrast to the national decline of 1.1 per cent.

Drives While Intoxicated; Gets 10 Day Jail Sentence

Albert Kottwitz, 517 West 62d street, was sentenced yesterday to ten days in the county jail by Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Safety court for driving while intoxicated. Mrs. Margaret Blankenship, 814 Oakdale avenue, was placed on six months' probation for leaving the scene of an accident.

TRACE AUTO AND SEIZE FIVE IN HIT, RUN DEATH QUIZ

Searching for the hit and run driver who killed Clarence Du Bois of 7026 Cottage Grove avenue Feb. 4, Policemen Robert Welsh and Francis Faulkenburg received information yesterday that his car could be found in a private garage. They went there and found a car owned by George Neilsen, 19 years old, of 449 West 81st street.

The officers arrested Neilsen and four WPA workers he said were with him the night of the accident: Robert Yount, 31, of 624 West 79th street; Frank Comiskey, 19, of 3154 South Canal street; Harry Hale, 32, of 2035 Flournoy street, and George Hollichs, 21, of 1529 Hudson avenue. All five said they were riding in the front seat. They said they thought Neilsen had hit a post.

Mrs. Mollie Shrister, 68 years old, 1440 South Trumbull avenue, died yesterday in Mount Sinai hospital of injuries suffered Monday when she was struck by an automobile at Douglas boulevard and Trumbull avenue. The driver of the car was Sidney Harris, 3850 Van Buren street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 113 persons had been killed in Cook county trafic accidents since Jan. 1. Of these, 91 were killed in Chicago where 2,254 persons were injured in the same period.

BRITAIN MOVES TO ERASE THREAT TO FREE PRESS

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 14.—The British government tonight started to remove a potential threat to the liberty of the press. It introduced in the house of lords a bill restricting to cases of espionage those powers under the official secrets act of 1920 that enable the authorities to compel a newspaper man to reveal the source of published information.

Recently a controversy arose over the prosecution of a reporter who refused to divulge the name of a police official who had given him details of an official memorandum issued to police stations in his district.

SEEK LEGISLATOR FOR QUIZ ON CAR USED BY GUN GIRL

Caught as She Attempts Dress Shop Holdup.

The state's attorney's police were striving last night to find State Representative Nicholas J. Mastro of the 17th district. They were determined, they said, to question him about his automobile and a bewigged woman bandit who rode in it to Park Ridge, where she attempted a robbery and was arrested.

Mrs. Carrie McGregor menaced by gunwoman.

Sergt. John T. Kelley, in charge of stolen automobile cases for the prosecutor's office, explained the aims af the investigators last night.

"We tried all day to get in touch with Mr. Mastro," he said. "We paged him at his hotel in Springfield. He couldn't be found. But if he doesn't communicate with us by noon we'll send a man down and ask that the sergeant at arms of the house let us interview him."

Reported Back in Chicago.

Last night it was reported in Springfield that Mastro took a 6 o'clock train for Chicago. He wasn't at his home, 1300 Lexington street, at midnight.

The young woman, an unwilling guest of the state's attorney's force, was locked up in the detective bureau last night. She said her name was Anna Peg Ryan. She denied knowing Mastro and insisted she had stolen the car on the lower level of Wacker drive Monday morning. She refused to give her home address and answered queries as to why she turned robber with the cryptic statement:

"There's a screw loose somewhere."

The scene of her Park Ridge fancy was the Johnson dress shop at 6 South Northwest highway. Just before closing time Monday she went in, looked at expensive dresses, and then pushed a pistol against Mrs. Carrie McGregor, a clerk.

Pulls Off Clerk's Dress.

Mrs. McGregor dashed for the street. The gunwoman pulled off Mrs. McGregor's dress, but her screams brought help and "Miss Ryan" was arrested. Besides the pistol she carried a worn blackjack, a spool of wide adhesive tape, and 50 feet of light cord. Her equipment also included a platinum blond wig worn over hair dyed with henna.

Last night at the detective bureau showup the woman robber declared it was her first crime, and that inexperience caused her to fail. The pistol, she insisted, was a family heirloom. She said she came from Bloomington, Ill., but none of the Ryans there would admit knowing her.

Mastro, a Democrat, told newspaper interviewers in Springfield he had lent his car to a respectable woman and that an effort was being made to put him on the spot. "Suppose I lent my car to fifty blondes," he said; "what would that matter? I'm not married, I don't know about any holdups."

WEDDING HEALTH BILL VOTED, 86-14, BY IOWA HOUSE

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Iowa's house today voted, 86 to 14, a bill requiring persons planning to be married in Iowa to undergo physical examination.

The couples would have to present a doctor's certificate to the effect that they are free from syphilis in a communicable state before a marriage license would be issued. The medical examination would be made within 20 days prior to the proposed marriage. For the examination a physician could charge up to $2.

Persons moving into Iowa within six months after their marriage would be compelled to take the syphilis test.

JAPAN DEMANDS 'STRONG ACTION' AGAINST RUSSIA

Parliament in Uproar as Resolution Passes.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 14.—The Japanese diet [parliament] was plunged into a tense atmosphere today when a joint resolution of all political parties demanding that the government take strong steps in dealing with soviet Russia was passed unanimously.

[New Siberian border clashes between soviet Russian and Japanese-Manchukuan troops were reported yesterday. It was said Manchukuan border forces were being increased.]

Before the vote was taken leaders of the Seiyukai and Minseito, the leading political parties, delivered fiery attacks on Moscow. Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita promised he would do everything in his power to expedite settlement of the fisheries dispute and other questions.

"There is a limit to our tolerance," Arita shouted.

Kozo Yamamoto of the Seiyukai party led the attack. He declared that settlement through the usual diplomatic channels was no longer possible in view of Russia's alleged insolent attitude.

Aim to Save Vested Interests.

"This resolution was introduced with the unanimous support of the house to demand that the government assume a resolute attitude in settling the problem and preserving Japan's vested interests," Yamamoto said. He added that "the right to engage in fishing in Russian waters was obtained at the cost of a tremendous number of lives in the Russian-Japanese war."

He charged the soviets with aiming deliberately at extinguishing such rights. Another speaker cried, "there is no way left for Japan but the use of force." He said the soviet union was trampling on Japanese treaty rights.

The treaty of Portsmouth [Sept. 5, 1905], which ended the Russian-Japanese war, assigned to the Japanese waters in which they might fish. The resolution today was a direct outgrowth of the charge that Russia is blocking the Japanese from these waters.

Move Quickly on Hainan.

HONKONG, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Japanese forces moved quickly today toward complete occupation of Hainan, southern Chinese island near important French and British empire routes and 750 miles west of Luzon, one of the Philippine islands.

Japanese naval units, with aviation support, landed at Yulinkan on Hainan's southernmost tip and in six hours penetrated fifteen miles inland.

The occupation of northern Hainan points began last Friday and brought prompt protests by France, Great Britain, and the United States.

The American destroyer John D. Edwards arrived today from Hongkong at Hoihow, North Hainan port, to investigate and give whatever protection is needed to the twenty-five Americans on the island.

GAY VALENTINES PLEASE BAT BOY DEATH IS FANNING

Frank Mizia Jr., 12 years old, had a fine day yesterday. Reason: Frank, who does not know he faces certain death—perhaps in two weeks—from a disease that is turning his bone tissue to tumor tissue, had a whole flock of valentines. Nurses in County hospital, where he is, sent them.

With snow and ice disappearing and the weather getting milder, Frank has been telling how he hopes to get out for spring practice. He is mascot of a semi-professional baseball team.

Frank, who lives at 8221 Escanaba avenue, has been in the hospital since Nov. 1. Dr. George Kraft, resident bone specialist in the children's hospital of the County hospital, has declared the boy's case hopeless.

EX-FELON TAKES A YEAR IN CELL TO SAVE A COMRADE

The plea of an ex-convict yesterday won freedom for Raymond Smith, 28 years old, of 623 Madison street. But it brought the ex-convict, Walter Nichols, 48, of 949 Madison street, a year in the Bridewell for petty larceny.

The two were arrested last Saturday as they emerged from a store at Lincoln avenue and School street with a $7 electric iron under Nichols' coat. Yesterday, before Judge Thomas A. Green in the Town Hall police court, Nichols asked for clemency for Smith.

"I am an ex-convict, with time in Leavenworth and other places," he said. "My friend has no record. In the last month or so, things have been bad. We could get no work. It was my idea to steal. I didn't tell him of my intentions. I'm willing to take the rap for it, but don't give him a police record."

And Judge Green agreed.

HITLER LAUNCHES NEW BATTLESHIP OF 35,000 TONS

Names Vessel in Honor of Bismarck.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMBURG, Germany, Feb. 14.—"No better name could be given to the third and greatest battleship of Germany's new fleet than that of the man who—a knight without fear and without reproach—was the creator of a German reich whose marvelous enlargement providence now has permitted us to achieve."

This proclamation was issued today by Reichfuehrer Hitler at the launching of a new 35,000 ton battleship to which he gave the name Bismarck. The vessel was christened by Countess Dorothea von Loewenfeld, granddaughter of Otto von Bismarck, the "iron chancellor."

Fire 21 Gun Salute.

A salute of twenty-one guns roared from the warships when Hitler reached the shipyards where the launching took place. Fifty thousand onlookers cheered.

Hitler in a speech told how the building up of the army and creation of the air force had been followed by the construction of a navy "adequate to our requirements."

"The fate of the fleet sunk in the sea twenty years ago after more than four years of glorious struggle still fills the hearts of us Germans," he said. "Thus Nazi Germany advocated its reconstruction with special sympathy and love."

[Hitler's reference to the destruction of the German fleet after the world war was to the scuttling of the ships by their officers as they were interned at Scapa Flow, coast of Scotland, June 21, 1919.]

Hitler Praises Bismarck.

The Fuehrer said that in making his choice of names for "this first giant of a new squadron" he had come to the conclusion that "among all the men who could claim to have paved the path to the new reich one stands towering over all: Bismarck."

"May the crew and officers who have the honor to direct this new ship ever prove themselves worthy of the name she bears," Hitler added.

The new battleship is 790.68 feet long and 118.11 feet wide, and is designed to carry eight 14.96 inch and twelve 5.9 inch guns, along with anti-aircraft weapons.

ALIBI DEFENSE FREES TWO ON HOLDUP CHARGE

Henry Bjorklund and William Donohue, a prison associate of the late John Dillinger, were freed on charges of robbery yesterday by Judge James F. Fardy in the Criminal court. Both men offered an alibi defense.

John G. Howe, 5348 South Halsted street, had identified them as the men who strong armed him last Sept. 23 and stole $27. Witnesses testified Donohue's arm was in a sling from a bullet wound and he could not have been the robber. Donohue charged that a burglar shot him on Sept. 10 in his home at 1941 Warren boulevard.

On Dec. 11 Donohue and Bjorklund were arrested in a raid on an alleged shoplifters' warehouse at 540 Melrose street. They were freed Feb. 2 when Judge Robert Jerome Dunne declared the search warant invalid.

JUDGE'S FATHER DIES.

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Jharrard Dizotell, 79 years old, father of Probate Judge Forest Dizotell, a passenger conductor who has been an employe of the Rock Island lines for 50 years, died at his home here last night.

Broke but Traveled

Peter Baum, 81, at La Salle street station as he returned from his $40,000 travels.

A prodigal great grandfather who has spent twelve years and his life savings gallivanting over two continents returned to Chicago yesterday. That is, he dropped off a New York train into a wheelchair, saw his son for the first time in seven years, then had himself hoisted aboard a train for Tulsa, Okla., where another son lives.

He is Peter Baum, 81 years old, one time bookkeeper for a Chicago stove making concern and now a creaky international playboy. Four redcaps and a porter eased him down the train steps into the arms of his son, Adam C. Baum, 5119 Wellington avenue. There grandpa waved hilariously for photographers, cussed as their flashbulbs hurt his eyes, and asked for a time table.

In 1927 Baum closed his books. He was going to see the world. And he did, $40,000 worth of it. His twelve years of travel have yielded the following observations: "Hitler and Mussolini don't want war. The beer in Marseilles is the best."

APPROVE SCHEME TO HELP GERMAN JEWS EMIGRATE

Private Corporation to Finance Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Establishment of a private international corporation to help pay the estimated cost of $300,000,000 to finance the emigration of Jewish refugees from Germany was authorized today by the 32 nation international refugee committee.

At the same time the committee accepted provisionally the German five year plan for emigration of Jews. The plan was submitted to the committee yesterday by George Rublee, an American, who had conducted negotiations with the Nazis in Berlin recently. After submitting the Nazi plan, Rublee resigned from his post as director of the committee. He was succeeded by Sir Herbert Emerson, league of nations assistant high commissioner for refugees.

May Float Huge Loan.

Details of the private international corporation which is to be set up were not disclosed in the 500 word statement issued by the committee. It was emphasized, however, that it would have nothing to do with any government. It also will be separate from the central financing organization which Germany proposes to establish in Berlin to facilitate the removal of Jews.

It was believed, however, that the corporation would float a large international loan, which the governments represented on the refugee committee would be asked to guarantee.

Under the Nazi emigration plan, from 150,000 to 200,000 young Jewish wage earners will emigrate from Germany as soon as possible to havens abroad which are found for them by the refugee committee. These wage earners will be expected to help their families emigrate later.

Plan Trust Fund.

The central financing organization in Germany will be made up of a proportion, not yet exactly determined, of what remains of Jewish property and capital. This fund will be put in trust to finance part of the emigrating Jews' expenses.

Another development today in the international Jewish problem was an offer by Jewish delegates to the Palestine peace conference now in session here of a Jewish army in Palestine to help Great Britain in the next great war. About 15,000 Jews now serving in Palestine defense units, the delegates said, would be available immediately to defend the holy land in event of hostilities.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain promised to publish secret world war documents which the Arabs, who are fighting Jewish immigration into Palestine, say support their claim to independence for the holy land. These documents are the MacMahon letters — letters exchanged by Sir Henry MacMahon, then British high commissioner in Egypt, and Sherif Hussein of Mecca. The Arabs claim MacMahon promised them independence. The Jews contend MacMahon's promise excluded Palestine from the area in which Arab independence was pledged.

RAILROAD AGREES TO CITY AIRPORT EXPANSION PLAN

The Chicago and Western Indiana railroad yesterday filed its acceptance of the city's airport expansion ordinance. But the city will be delayed a few more days in beginning to acquire land north of 55th street to be used for a new right of way for tracks of the C. & W. I., which bisect the present landing field.

First Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman explained that an acceptance must also be filed by the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad. The belt road will use an interlocking switch system that is to be part of the new right of way. Representatives of the belt road told city officials they had telegraphed the New York offices asking that the acceptance be forwarded at an early date.

GOT A COLD? ACT FAST

Here's Easy Way to Quickly Relieve Painful Discomfort

1. Take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore from cold, dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in ⅓ glass of water and gargle.

3. If temperature does not go down—if throat pain is not quickly relieved—Call your family doctor.

Thousands Know How Quickly Bayer Aspirin Eases Painful Discomfort—Make Sure You Get Genuine Bayer Aspirin

IF YOU EVEN suspect you are catching cold — and have a sore throat — lose no time in following these simple directions.

What you do is this: First, take two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a full glass of water — instantly. Next — dissolve three Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third of a glass of water and gargle with this mixture twice.

You do this to quickly relieve the discomfort of your cold and the raw, painful sore throat that so often accompanies colds.

THEN — because any cold can lead to serious consequences — see your doctor. He will tell you what treatment to follow.

In all probability, he will tell you to continue with the Bayer Aspirin because it acts to relieve the painful discomforts of a cold with remarkable speed. And because it acts to reduce fever.

This simple treatment has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in the treatment of cold symptoms. And thousands will tell you it is the simplest and most effective method yet discovered.

When you buy, always ask for "BAYER Aspirin" by its full name — never ask for "aspirin" alone. Take this wise precaution to be sure you get the genuine Bayer.

PAINS—Fast-acting Bayer Tablets are used by millions on doctors' advice for fast relief of Headache — pain from Rheumatism, Neuritis, Neuralgia.

COURT REJECTS 4 HINES PLEAS TO RULE A MISTRIAL

Ex-Police Chief Squirms Under Dewey's Fire.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Former Police Commissioner James S. Bolan, the last appointee of Tammany régimes in New York City, today spent five tempestuous hours on the witness stand explaining acts which the state contends were prompted by racketeers in league with Tammany Leader James J. Hines.

James S. Bolan.

Under cross-examination by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, the one time police chief continued to deny that he ever shifted police around for political reasons.

In heated courtroom clashes, four separate motions for mistrial were made by Lloyd Paul Stryker, chief of defense counsel. He insisted Dewey was asking improper questions. Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. overruled the moves one by one.

Tammany Judge Ferdinand Pecora declared a mistrial on similar grounds last fall. Hines is being retried on charges of conspiracy to violate state lottery laws in connection with the 20 million dollar a year policy game racket run by the Schultz gang.

Attacks Denials of Witness.

The cry of mistrial came when Dewey struck off into a line of questioning which shed doubt on Bolan's assertions that politics had nothing to do with his appointment as police commissioner and that "never" in his thirty-eight years of service had he transferred a policeman for political reasons.

Exhibiting a newspaper, Dewey recalled that three days before Bolan became head of the force in April, 1933, the then Tammany mayor, John O'Brien, said he had "not been told" who he was to appoint as police commissioner.

Springing to his feet, Stryker moved for a mistrial on the ground the prosecutor was making "dastardly" and "grossly unfair" remarks. Judge Nott ruled the district attorney had a right to find out whether the witness recalled O'Brien making such a remark. Bolan replied in the negative.

Friend of John Curry.

Bolan admitted he had been for twenty years a warm friend of John F. Curry, former leader of Tammany Hall. Bolan said recommendations for police transfers came from the political organization, but added they were not carried out if commanding officers found them unwaranted.

"When did you first hear of Dutch Schultz?" asked Dewey.

"I don't know," said Bolan.

Dewey recalled that before Bolan's elevation to the commissionership, he had been a deputy chief inspector, in charge of the detective and uniformed forces in Manhattan.

"Isn't it a fact that you personally were responsible for criminal conditions in New York county from 1928 to 1933?" thundered the prosecutor. "Isn't it true Schultz rose to power while you were commissioner?"

"It has so been said," replied Bolan, his face reddening.

At another point Bolan declared the testimony of John O'Brien, former chief inspector, was a lie. As a state's witness O'Brien said he was ordered by Bolan to make various transfers of men who had been molesting Schultz.

DROP SNOWBALL SPANKING CASE; REBUKE LAWYER

Evanston's snowball spanking episode ended yesterday when a disorderly conduct charge against Attorney Frederick E. Diehl was dismissed. A week ago Diehl, who lives at 1617 Ridge avenue, Evanston, spanked Thomas Hayes Jr., 5 years old, for throwing snowballs at him.

Tommy's father swore out a warant against Diehl. The lawyer explained he was afraid the snowballs might hit his son, Frederick Jr., 2 years old.

"If it was my child you spanked, Judge James Corcoran in Municipal court told Diehl yesterday, "you might have run into more serious trouble—maybe a fist fight. I'd hate to see the day when boys don't throw snowballs any more."

The elder Hayes, who lives at 1625 Ridge avenue, agreed to drop the charge and shook hands with Diehl.

Continue Trial of Lawyers as Heintz Shields in Holdup

Judge William J. Lindsay of the Criminal court yesterday continued until March 8 the trial of two attorneys, Edward A. Fisher and Francis J. Kennedy, both former assistant United States district attorneys. They are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and accessory after the fact of robbery. The state charges the lawyers plotted to prevent the identification of Hubert Heintz, son of a Winnetka broker, as a robber in the holdup of a finance company. Attorney James M. Burke said his client, Fisher, is seriously ill.

2 SONS REGAIN TRUSTEESHIP OF HINES FORTUNE

Appeals Court Upsets Awards to Kin.

The First district Appellate court yesterday restored to Charles and Ralph Hines the right of trusteeship for the $10,000,000 trust fund established in 1914 by their father, the late Edward Hines, millionaire lumber dealer.

Ralph Hines [top] and Charles Hines.

In March, 1936, the Circuit court ordered the removal of Hines' widow, the late Mrs. Loretta A. Hines, and the two sons as trustees. The court also ruled at that time that the trustees must pay $212,693 to a sister, two nieces, and a nephew of Hines, plaintifs in a suit filed in 1934 for accounting and appointment of a receiver.

The Appellate court yesterday reversed both Circuit court rulings and directed that the relatives' suit be dismissed for want of equity.

Brothers Are Sole Trustees.

Mrs. Hines died on March 31, 1938. Charles Hines of Hubbard Woods now is administrator of his mother's estate. His duties include that of taking over her trusteeship in the trust fund. He and his brothers are the sole trustees.

Plaintifs in the accounting suit were Hines' sister, Mrs. Agnes Hines Burns, and three children of a second sister, Mrs. Rose Hines Purcell, now dead. The children are Ted E. Purcell, Catherine Purcell, and Mrs. Loretta Purcell Hackett.

In their bill they charged that Mrs. Hines and her sons had violated the terms of the trust agreement. They said the trust provisions called for establishment of a second trust with earnings from the original fund when these earnings reached $500,000.

Stock Settlement Told.

Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Purcell, it was asserted, were each to receive one-fifth of the smaller trust. In 1921, the trustees induced Mrs. Burns to accept 1,000 shares of the Hines Lumber company 7 per cent preferred stock as her share of the estate, it was stated. Mrs. Purcell's children also accepted a similar block of stock.

According to the petition, these blocks of stocks were not worth the money for which the terms of the original trust called.

In the Circuit court ruling Judge George Fred Rush held that while he believed the trustees had acted in good faith, they had "erroneously administered" the trust fund.

The opinion made public yesterday, however, held that Judge Rush erred in this decision because Mr. Hines, who lived until December, 1931, had known of the arrangements for the plaintifs and had approved them.

ROB STORE OF $60.

One robber with a gold tooth and another with a pistol went into the Allied Furniture company store at 6151 South Halsted street yesterday. They forced Harold Pearlmutter, the manager, and a colored porter to surrender $60.

Board Passes $19,016,827 Appropriation for Parks

The park board yesterday passed its 1939 appropriation ordinance calling for a total of $19,016,827. The ordinance includes $6,221,929 for corporate or operating purposes, based on a tax of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Last year the corporate levy was pegged at $7,600,000 by the state legislature. Robert J. Dunham, park board president, has indicated he will ask the legislature for another pegged levy.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND THE SUPREME COURT.

Associate Justice Louis D. Brandeis retires from the Supreme court at the age of 82. Mr. Roosevelt, who has had three appointments, may now make his fourth. When he has done so the court will be nearly modeled in accord with his wishes. Four of the nine justices will owe their places to him when he has selected a successor to Mr. Brandeis.

The people of the country are wondering just how bad the next appointment will be. It is a new experience, dating from the nomination of Mr. Black of Alabama, for Americans when a place in the court is vacant to speculate on the chances of the most undesirable men available for the place, with the expectation that Mr. Roosevelt will even then astonish them. His contempt for the court was first displayed when its opinion on the NRA provoked him into the horse and buggy exclamation.

The NRA, with its Hitlerized blue eagle and its booted and spurred autocrats, was carrying the country rapidly into the rule of the totalitarian state when the court unanimously declared the law unconstitutional. Mr. Roosevelt, having been checked in his unconstitutional procedure, then aimed the blow at the court in the packing bill which would have destroyed its independence completely. Defeated in this, he had the opportunity to make his first appointment and selected Mr. Black, a member of the Alabama Ku Klux Klan, whose nomination was confirmed by the senate before the rumors of his affiliation with the intolerant, cowardly, persecuting organization were verified by the production of the conclusive documentary evidence.

The astonishment caused by these revelations, showing that a man who had joined a political organization devoted to the persecution of minorities had been put in the judicial citadel, where the rights of such minorities find their protection from injustice, was such that Mr. Roosevelt, to divert attention, had to start a war scare and threaten Japan with the collective action of Europe in the Brussels conference which fizzled out as soon as the fire had been drawn from under Mr. Black.

Mr. Roosevelt's second appointment was by comparison with his first unsensational. He nominated Solicitor General Reed out of the department of justice. The public judgment then was that he might have done worse, and given another opportunity probably would. Opportunity came when on the death of Justice Cardozo there was another place to be filled. Mr. Roosevelt named Felix Frankfurter, the Harvard law school professor, trainer of the young Harvard collectivists who were recruited by the White House to write the laws of the revolution. This appointment to the Supreme court was complementary to the new appointments to administrative positions—the one-time Socialist Harry Hopkins to the department of commerce; the communist sympathizer Aubrey Williams to the National Youth administration, the Marxist training school, and the collectivist Thomas Amlie to the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Roosevelt not only was placing the administrative offices in the hands of the extreme left wing radicals but he was preparing the Supreme court, so far as he was able, to sustain a revolutionary program if it could be enacted into law.

Retirement and death have favored him, whereas congressional and popular opposition have stopped him. Now he has a fourth appointment to make and the country is wondering just how bad it will be.

HITLER'S CITIZENSHIP.

The question of Herr Hitler's citizenship is raised in a copyright issue in the United States, the contention being that an unauthorized edition of Mein Kampf may be published here without violation of law and without paying royalties because Hitler was a man without a country when he wrote the book.

As an Austrian he was rejected for military service in the war by his fatherland but was accepted for the German service. By joining the German army he is supposed to have lost his Austrian citizenship without becoming a German. After the failure of his first putsch, in which he and Ludendorff tried to overthrow the Socialist republic by force, he was sent to prison. While in prison he began dictating the story of his life to Rudolph Hess, now his chief deputy.

He was released after a few months' imprisonment, escaping the full sentence of several years. He then began to build up the Nazi party from the disintegrating forces of the other irreconcilable German political organizations, but he still wasn't a German citizen. His party obtained control of the state of Brunswick. When Hitler felt strong enough to run against Hindenburg for president the Brunswick Nazis made him a government counselor, conferring citizenship by that appointment. As a government counselor he could be a candidate.

The discarded man is now Der Fuehrer. Hitler's career is the strangest in modern history, even in times which have produced his political brothers Stalin and Mussolini. No wonder he can't always distinguish his chest from his head and often mistakes rumblings in the one for something working in the other.

LABOR BOARD ABUSES.

Though the control of certain unions by gangsters is notorious, nothing has been done by the labor board to prevent this form of racketeering. A union organized or conquered by hoodlums who employ terror to maintain their control, it seems, is a perfectly satisfactory bargaining unit so far as the board is concerned. It does nothing to protect employés from this form of exploitation; and employers are likewise obliged to deal with gangdom or lay themselves open to penalties for unfair labor practices.

This is one of the obvious weaknesses in the present labor act which should be corrected. The Wagner act was supposed to prevent coercion in labor relations. In fact, it prevented only one form of coercion, the kind which some employers exercised to prevent the organization of their employés into unions. The act was so clumsily or dishonestly drawn that it has sanctified old abuses, like racketeering, and has actually introduced into labor relations many new abuses.

Employés who, of their own free and unimpeded choice, do not wish to join a labor union or to be represented by one should be protected in their right to remain unorganized. Just as an employer has no right to forbid his employés to join a union, so a labor organizer has no right to coerce them into joining one. The ideal should be freedom of choice in such matters. If there must be a law to prevent coercion in labor relations it should prevent all forms of coercion.

Another and particularly vicious form of coercion is found in the jurisdictional strike. When two rival labor organizations are competing for control in a particular industry or a particular plant it frequently happens that one union or the other, to further its own cause, will declare a strike. Such strikes are directed in part against the members of the rival organization, but more especially against the employer, who is in no sense a party to the quarrel. The effort is to coerce him into coming to an agreement with the striking faction and thus to force all his employés into the union which is the more ready of the two to do him an utterly unwaranted injury. One of the commonest complaints against the labor board as it is presently organized is that it has permitted such situations to develop with the deliberate purpose of advancing the C. I. O. at the expense of the A. F. of L. If we are to continue to have a labor board one of its most important duties should be to prevent conscienceless strikes of this nature from being called, strikes which an employer with the best will in the world is unable to avert.

Under the Wagner act the labor board itself has become an instrument of coercion. It asserts the right to make its own determination of what is a proper bargaining unit in industry and by so doing can destroy unions which men have voluntarily formed and upset labor relations which have been harmonious for a generation or more. As if this were not enough, the board serves at one and the same time in the triple rôle of prosecutor, judge, and jury, and the right of appeal from its findings is narrowly limited. In organization it is patterned after the worst in totalitarian government.

The recent proposals for amendment of the Wagner act, introduced by Senator Burke of Nebraska, are intended to prevent most of these abuses. The board is to retain its powers of investigation and is authorized to seek to adjust disputes, but if it determines to bring charges against any one he may have his case transferred to the federal district court where the board's rôle will be confined strictly to that of prosecution and the defendant will have all the rights to which he is entitled in a court of law.

Senator Burke proposes to curb jurisdictional strikes by authorizing an employer to demand that the labor board conduct an election in his plant within twenty days to determine the proper collective bargaining agency, if any. The board would be granted no discretion in the matter; it would have to proceed at once to hold the election.

Another proposed change is the flat declaration that coercion or intimidation of employés from any source, whether employer or union, is outlawed. If such a provision were made effective, the decent element in any union would be encouraged to make the attempt to clean out the racketeers.

EXPORTING WAR MATERIALS.

The value of Zeppelins in war is at least dubious, but our government has decided that it will not permit the export of helium gas to Germany. The theory is that we cannot afford to dispose of this important raw material or permit other and possible enemy nations to have it.

The policy is sound and should be followed wherever it leads. The export of certain war machines may be justified on the theory that their manufacture gives our industries experience in production and permits plant expansion for our purposes, but at the other fellow's expense. The export of the fabricated machines, however, is very different from the export of raw materials. When we send helium or airplane spruce or other items of the sort abroad, we are reducing our own supply without receiving any substantial military advantage in return.

Editorial of the Day

TEETH AND TACKS.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

A man up the country was paid $1,250 the other day because he is not able to hold tacks in his mouth since his automobile struck a pile of dirt beside a street excavation in Alton, Ill. The man had sued every agency concerned for $10,000, but squared off for the sum mentioned. The trick lies in the fact that the man makes his living by repairing shoes, and he contends his injury, involving the loss of several teeth, has impaired his efficiency. About that we could not be sure, but we do not seem to recall any shoe repairer who was not holding tacks in his mouth. Not knowing, we have always concluded the mouth was a convenient depository and that the saliva lubricated the tacks besides.

Incidentally, we ran across a package in a hardware store the other day bearing a legend to the effect that it contained sanitary tacks, and somewhere or other not long ago the agreement of a contractor to provide hygienic nails staved off a strike. In due time, perhaps, nails and tacks will be coated with vanilla, lemon, sassafras, or whatever the workman desires, for it does seem that the idea of holding nails and tacks anywhere except in the mouth in certain trades is ridiculous.

A TEMPLE TOTTERS.

So the Masonic Temple will fall prey to the tearer-downers some two months hence and will be replaced by a truncated, sidewalk hugging structure called a "taxpayer"! Verily, the old giants are passing and are being succeeded by dwarfs. Let us brood a little over this ancient pueblo.

Its fame filled our boyhood with legends; it was the biggest and best in the city that nurtured the American skyscraper. When one was sent on an errand to the Masonic Temple, he was going places and seeing things. There was a theater up near its mansard roof where vaudeville shows flourished. An uncle of ours worked in an office on an upper floor, and as we grew older we would drop in to chat with him at closing time. Then with him to a small bar with a select clientele in the alley to the north, where oysters and whisky were the before dinner dish; and under such auspices we donned the toga virilis.

The Masonic Temple was then freely sold by confidence men to innocent visitors from the pasture lands; and hardly a week passed that did not have its newspaper account of this incredible real estate operation. Because it was the highest building in town, it was the gathering place of all the winds, and upon days of storm the way women's skirts flew up at that corner, wickedly displaying the contours of sheltered legs, was a civic joy and scandal. [The winds now hold their massmeetings around Tribune Square and the Civic Opera house, and legs are more plentiful but less interesting.]

* * *

It was in the Masonic Temple that we heard the most surprising remark of our lifetime. Every Sunday afternoon a forum called the Anthropological society, attended by all sorts of odd fish, met there; and occasionally we had to look in as an emissary of the press. That day we ran into an overflow of alleged anthropologists in the hall, and they were in a state of crackpot excitement. Two of the great minds were in a violent argument, about what we will never know. These words, however, rang out like the crack of doom:

"I have studied sex under Havelock Ellis! I know all about sex from the bee to the elephant—from the earth to the starry heavens!"

* * *

Whenever an American novelist of today gets proudly lewd and embarrassing, we seem to hear that mad proclamation of the Masonic Temple sexologist.

MILROY'S DISEASE: HEREDITARY SWELLING.

ACCUMULATION of fluid under the skin is termed edema [swelling]. It is seen in a variety of maladies and in some it is a characteristic symptom. Heart failure in particular brings about—as one of its dominant signs—the gathering of unusual amounts of water in the dependent portions of the body—especially the legs and feet. Some kinds of kidney disease also exhibit this complaint and baggy eyelids are not uncommon in this illness. In addition the lower extremities may be affected.

There is a form of edema, however, which is not associated with either of these ailments. In 1892 William F. Milroy of Omaha described a hereditary type which even today has not been explained. His first case—a clergyman, 31 years of age—had never been ill in his life. A careful examination disclosed no abnormalities in any of the organs. In fact, the patient had nothing wrong other than marked swelling involving the feet and extending up to the knees. The left was a trifle larger than the right. There was no evidence of varicose veins nor of a nutritional deficiency. The strange part of the whole matter was that the situation had persisted from infancy although it had not interfered with growth. While there was no pain, toward nightfall the puffiness increased somewhat.

On inquiry, Milroy ascertained that the defect was a family affair which the victim has inherited from his mother. Fortunately, a rather accurate genealogy had been kept and it was not difficult to trace the beginning of the peculiarity. A study of six generations disclosed that, with but an occasional exception, some of each group of descendants displayed the anomaly in one or both legs. In other words, of ninety-seven individuals twenty-two manifested the symptom.

The original report was published in the New York Medical Journal for Nov. 5, 1892, and the late Sir William Osler labeled the derangement Milroy's disease—which name it bears today. These patients live as long as others and there is no discomfort whatsoever—the size and weight of the leg constituting only a slight physical handicap. As in the illustration cited the trouble comes on shortly after birth or in early childhood and persists throughout life.

As most of us know, the system must have water. No cell can function without it; in fact, the processes of digestion, absorption, and assimilation all occur because of the solvent power of this liquid. But any organ can be put out of commission completely by too much just as a flood can extinguish a bed of coals under a boiler or stop an automobile. We must make certain, therefore, that the cells possess enough to carry on their duties but not so much that they cannot keep the figurative fires burning.

All tissues, however, possess great adaptability. In fact, they can act as a sort of reservoir without injury to themselves. Suppose one drinks a large quantity—two or three quarts or more. This is absorbed promptly from the intestine into the blood which, with equal facility, discharges it into the tissues wherever it can be used. The moment that the total becomes excessive—under normal health conditions—the kidneys will pick up the overplus and excrete it via the urine.

That is what takes place when all the parts of the body engine are functioning at par. In Milroy's disease something has happened to defeat removal of the excess from the extremities. Afflicted persons may comfort themselves with the dictum that the disorder carries no incapacity and does not influence well being. Elastic stockings may be worn if the oversize becomes too obvious. Extra care, however, must be given the skin, as nutrition to the cuticle is reduced to some extent.

Thirty-five years after his first visit, Milroy's original patient returned for further observation. There was no change in the general health although both legs were slightly more voluminous.

EARACHE.

F. N. writes: What can be done for an earache accompanying a cold—that is, when it occurs in the middle of the night and a physician is not available?

REPLY.

The application of heat is indicated. A drop of laudanum on a pledget of cotton may be inserted into the ear canal. No force should be used.

PNEUMONIA.

H. W. B. writes: Do you consider pneumonia infectious?

REPLY.

Yes. One caring for a pneumonia patient should maintain his or her resistance at the highest possible level. Protecting the mouth and nostrils by means of a gauze mask is frequently advised.

NUMEROUS CAUSES.

B. E. writes: Does a haziness in vision always indicate glaucoma?

REPLY.

No. The symptom may accompany refractive errors, scars on the eyeball, acute infections, hemorrhages into the eye [as in diabetes and high blood pressure], cerebral anemia [fainting], and beginning cataract.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

THE SOCIAL SECURITY HOAX.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—The editorial in yesterday's TRIBUNE relative to the most important phase of the ironically termed social security act contains some of the most forceful and revealing truths which I have seen published concerning the gold brick aspects of this piece of New Deal legislation.

The majority of employed persons questioned by me have been found to be singularly unenlightened as to the disposition which has been and continues to be made by the administration for politically advantageous spending of the stupendous sums exacted from the wages and salaries of those who have had, as you aptly remark, an income tax in fact fastened upon their earnings; notwithstanding that those incomes within the lower brackets were intended by the framers of the general income tax law to remain wholly exempt to the heads of families.

The involuntary contributions to unbridled federal spending which have been forced upon wage earners are equivalent to a pay cut, and have resulted in burdensome and undeserved hardships upon great numbers of employés who had previous to the passage of the act budgeted their full anticipated income and obligated themselves to pay premiums for all of the dependable insurance which they could possibly afford to carry, but which they now find it impossible to meet.

BURTON F. KIMBALL.

TURKEYS.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—In reply to Mrs. A. Downes' letter, printed Feb. 8, perhaps I have a practical suggestion to offer.

Why doesn't she try raising turkeys? The main thing is raising them. One turkey raiser said that a person has to literally live with the birds. However, they require little or no housing facilities. Turkeys mature early and they can be ready for the Thanksgiving table if you start them out early in the spring. They are quite able to scratch for themselves, feeding on grasshoppers and such. If you have sufficient ground, you might find a turkey shoot more profitable than selling directly to dealers.

If you lose a few birds the first year, don't be discouraged—practice makes perfect, they say. I have known people who have raised them successfully and profitably with but little expense in the beginning.

You can get helpful bookiets on the subject from the government printing office at Washington, D. C., for five cents a copy. A TURKEY LOVER.

THE BRITISH CHARACTER.

Sullivan, Ill., Feb. 4.—The English people's cold, egotistical disposition has always been conceded to be just a surface blemish because they were really honest and trustworthy. But when they refuse to pay their debts, and even the interest accrued on the principal, yet give lavish entertainments and plan costly vacations there is something radically wrong. If their vast territory is unprofitable they should give some of it in exchange for what they owe and they would no longer be land poor.

JOSEPH CHARLES SALAK.

INSURANCE.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—In today's column there is made a suggestion that life insurance policyholders wire their senators, expressing disapproval of Mr. Amlie on the grounds that his appointment will in some way affect adversely the railroad security holdings of the insurance companies.

If the policyholders had used the intelligence their Creator endowed them with they would long ago have demanded the removal from office of those who are responsible for the disproportionate amount of such securities being held by the companies.

Also, if they were as interested as they ought to be, they might have tried to find out why insurance premiums are excessive; why an outmoded mortality table is still in use; why Massachusetts and New York provide their citizens with the opportunity to buy better insurance at lower rates; why so many policies lapse before maturing as an endowment or a death claim; why the full reserve is not returned to them when a policy lapses; why they never get back their share of the surplus; why there is such a big turnover of agents; why it is possible for the same group of officials to perpetuate themselves in office, and a hundred other questions to problems which affect their interests as well as their beneficiaries, and also the economic stability of the country, to a far greater extent than will the appointment of Mr. Amlie. GEORGE S. BAIN.

CORRECT SPEECH.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 11.—"Teacher" describes himself as "a professional instructor of correct speech." In what does he instruct the correct speech? Or don't I read it correctly? Perhaps he meant to convey the idea that he is an instructor of people in correct speech.

Also: "The errors are sometimes so frequent and humorous as to completely overshadow any narrative interest." Horrors! A split infinitive!

Or do I stick out my neck? PUPIL.

ALIMONY.

Sturgis, Mich., Feb. 7.—Breach of promise has been repealed in Illinois, so why not ask the Illinois assembly at Springfield for the outright repeal of the Illinois alimony and separate maintenance laws, as these laws are no longer needed and the repeal of them would stop certain unscrupulous women and attorneys from exploiting helpless men in a legal way? JOHN PROVARD.

HE'S NOT AMAZED.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—The editorial in today's TRIBUNE concerning the appointment of Mr. Amlie to the interstate commerce commission headed "An Amazing Appointment," is O. K. in every particular except that there is really nothing amazing about it.

If Mr. Roosevelt, just trying to show his opponents who is boss, should appoint Al Capone as secretary of the treasury, that might be termed amazing, but nothing short of that should amaze any one after what we've already had.

The appointment of Mme. Perkins and keeping her there on her record; the appointment of the biased, bigoted, pitifully incompetent Ku Klux police judge as a Supreme court justice; the naming as secretary of commerce of a man whose commercial transactions with his own capital consist of helping with the family shopping; the appointment as chief enforcement officer of the United States government of a man who had just been repudiated by his constituents for condoning lawlessness and refusing to enforce the orders of the courts; these are just a few examples which show that no appointment Mr. Roosevelt may make can be called amazing.

G. H. VAN CLEVE.

THE GERMAN COLONIES.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Where do Hitler and his worthy associates get the idea that Germany should get back her lost colonies? When a person loses, say at poker, does he ask for a refund of his lost stake? Preposterous, of course! Had the allies really lost the big struggle in 1918 what would have happened to the British, French, and Belgian colonial empires? They would certainly have been all gobbled up by noble and altruistic Germania. Would she have returned any of it? Most emphatically, no!

Great Britain and France should propose to Herr Hitler to return the lost colonies provided Japan does likewise with the Caroline, Marshall and Marianna Islands, and not a day sooner. Then, of course, Germany could wait until doomsday, because the wily little Nipponese never return anything, even to their friends. RICARDUS ROBERTUS.

MONTHLY TAX PAYMENTS.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—We pay our gas and electric bills every month. Why not pay our tax bills each month? It would have a tendency to decrease tax delinquencies.

JOSEPH KAJOHN.

WARNS COLLEGES SPECIALIZATION PERILS MEDICINE

Educator Hits Premature Choice of Fields.

The medical profession suffers from too much specialization, William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette college, said yesterday. He asserted that colleges should guard against the tendency, among undergraduates preparing for medical schools, to specialize.

Lewis spoke during the second day sessions of the thirty-fifth annual Congress on Medical Education and Licensure, which is meeting jointly with the Federation of State Medical Boards in the Palmer House.

"The colleges should guard against too early specialization and the pursuit of ideas which will lead later in life to vocational maladjustment," Lewis said. "It seems obvious that the medical profession, because of the great development of scientific knowledge, has suffered from too early and complete specialization.

Tells Layman's Impressions.

"To the layman it appears that too many doctors look upon their patients as cases, not as human beings."

Scientific achievement in America is at a new high, while culture is near a new low, Lewis declared. He said that the physician should cultivate an appreciation of cultural things to raise his standing in the community.

A license to practice medicine in the United States should be granted only to citizens, said Dr. J. Earl McIntyre, secretary of the Michigan state board of registration in medicine. He said most states now require either first papers or complete citizenship of candidates appearing to take state medical examinations.

Tells Ethical Needs.

"High ethical standards include standards of social responsibility, respect for our fundamental system and operation of government, and a sincere concern for the maintenance of high standards of morality," he said.

The high costs of new life saving procedures would be a bar to their use in government operated health insurance plans, said J. George Crownhart, secretary of the Wisconsin Medical society.

"It is not politically expedient or politically profitable to increase taxes on small pay checks," he said. "Medicine, however, does not stand still. Therefore, the more expensive life saving procedures developed by medicine in America cannot be made widely available to the insured population when the administrator must balance his books on the basis of old practices."

PERSONAL CARE URGED TO CURB FLU IN CHICAGO

Sleep and rest, a clean mouth and nose, a light diet, all the fruit juice that can be drunk, and plenty of water. These were prescribed yesterday as preventive measures against influenza as health officials sought means to stem the outbreak of the disease in Chicago and over the state.

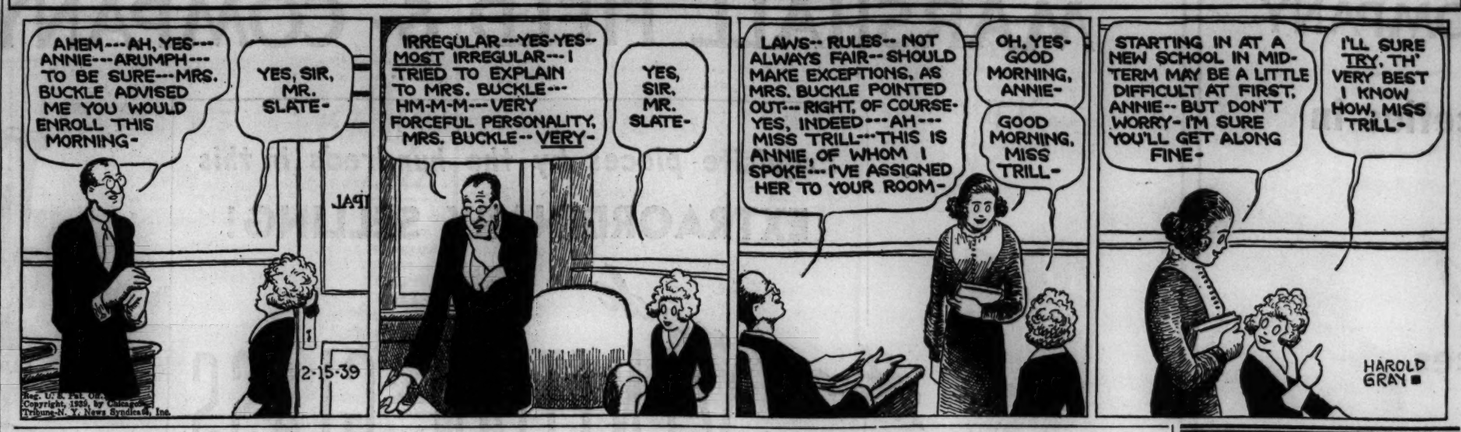
As children returned to classes yesterday after a three day holiday, Dr. Robert A. Black, acting president of the board of health, announced another survey of Chicago schools will be made today to determine the extent of the outbreak. Absences were high in several north shore suburban schools yesterday, but closing was not contemplated.

In the 24 hours ended at 9 a. m. yesterday 84 new cases were reported in Chicago. One person died of the disease. Meanwhile there were 74 new cases of pneumonia and nine more deaths from that disease. Dr. Black said that while influenza was widespread, the malady is not virulent.

Tells Police He's Wanted; He Is and Is Locked Up

"You're looking for me. I'm a bandit," a youth 19 years old told Sergt. Richard Johnston last night at the Chicago Lawn police station. "I was going to leave town, but my conscience hurt me and I decided to surrender." Johnston looked up the records. The police were looking for Edward Rawski of 5414 South Bishop street, all right. The sergeant locked Edward up.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Parrot Talk



DR. LEVI, 61, DIES; RABBI EMERITUS OF ISAIAH ISRAEL

Jewish Leader in City Since 1906.

Dr. Gerson B. Levi, rabbi emeritus of Temple Isaiah Israel, died last night in his home at 919 Hyde Park boulevard. He was 61 years old.

Dr. Gerson B. Levi.

Dr. Levi was born in Glasgow, Scotland, the son of Israel and Marrian Levi. He came to America with his parents in 1888. After receiving his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Pennsylvania, he was ordained at the Jewish Theological seminary in New York in 1904.

He was the rabbi of a congregation in Helena, Ark., from 1904 to 1906, when he became head of Temple Israel in Chicago. In 1924 this temple was amalgamated with Temple Isaiah in the present structure at 1100 Hyde Park boulevard. Dr. Levi was active head of Temple Isaiah Israel from 1924 to 1937, when he retired.

Former Editor of Journal.

Dr. Levi was assistant editor of The Reform Advocate from 1912 to 1923, being associated with his father-in-law, the late Dr. Emil G. Hirsch. Dr. Levi was editor in chief of the publication from 1923 to 1937.

He served as president of the Society of Biblical Research, vice president and board member of the Travelers' Aid society of Chicago, board member of the Jewish Charities of Chicago, and president and board member of the Chicago Rabbinical association. He was also a board member of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, committee member for A Century of Progress Hall of Religion, board member of the Jewish Institute of Religion in New York, board member of the round table conference for Jews and Christians, and a member of the commission on Jewish education of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Author of Two Books.

He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity. He was the author of a volume on "Gnomic Literature in Bible and Apocrypha" and "Thanksgiving of the Spirit and Other Sermons," and edited another volume of sermons, "My Religion," by Dr. Hirsch.

Dr. Levi leaves his widow, the former Elsa Hirsch, and three sons, Julian G., an attorney; Edward, a professor of law at the University of Chicago, and Henry John Levi. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Temple Isaiah Israel. The rites will be conducted by Rabbi Max Currick of Erie, Pa., a cousin of Dr. Levi, and Rabbi Morton M. Berman, present head of the temple.

SHIFT OF RELIEF LOAD TO LOCAL UNITS IS ASKED

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—A new system of relief administration, under which Chicago and other local governments would have to shoulder a greater share of relief costs, was proposed in the senate tonight.

Five bills to revamp the relief setup were introduced by Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, Republican floor leader. They would repeal the present levy limit of 30 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation for relief taxes, the power of the Chicago city council to divert motor vehicle taxes, and provide that state relief funds, raised mainly by the 3 cent sales tax, shall be distributed to local governments on a matching basis, equalling local expenditures for the purpose.

CUTTER ON WAY TO 4 FISHERMEN TRAPPED IN ICE

Manistique, Mich., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The fishing tug Bob S of the Sellman Fishing company fleet, with a crew of four aboard, was trapped in Lake Michigan ice floes seven miles from the Manistique harbor tonight. Aboard the boat were Mayor William Sellman of Manistique and Rubin Peterson, Manning Popour, and Percy Tuffnell, all fishermen.

An appeal was sent to the Milwaukee coast guard headquarters for aid and a cutter was expected to break through the ice to the fishing boat.

The Bob S set out Monday morning to pick up nets twenty-five miles out of Manistique and was on the return trip when caught.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Poor, ghost ridden little Topper!

In "Topper" he found himself completely at the ghostly mercy of a pair of friends, a gay young married couple who, via an automobile wreck, had gone on before. Finding themselves earthbound because of a paucity of good deeds performed while in the flesh, they had sought to remedy the condition by furnishing a lot of first aid to their old friend, Topper, and had, with the best intentions in—death!—seriously messed up his plan of life. . . . In "Topper Takes a Trip" the ghosts of Marion Kerby and her dog, Mr. Atlas, pursue him.

Marion would prevent Mrs. Topper's divorcing her husband. Marion realizes that it's her own spirit self which, discovered in a hotel room with Topper one night, has sent the distraught little lady scuttling for an attorney.

Naturally, Topper, having had experience with the eccentric phantom and her unpredictable specter pup, would prevent Marion from interfering this time. But Marion, quite as obstinate an apparition as she had been a human, will not be deflected from her Boy Scout intentions. . . . Eventually she DOES save the day for the Topper marriage—but at what nerve racking expense to Topper!

This picture, like its predecessor, is based on a story by Thorne Smith—not nearly so clever nor amusing a yarn as was "Topper." The trick photography is interesting, as it was in the former film, but aside from that I can't say much for the piece as entertainment. The action is often padded and confusing. Acting, however, is aces.

Save for several flashbacks to the former film, Cary Grant [Kerby] doesn't appear.

Cahn Gives $100,000 Toward Scott Hall at Northwestern U.

A gift of $100,000 from Bertram J. Cahn toward construction of Northwestern university's proposed Scott hall was announced yesterday. The hall, to be a social center and community auditorium, will be built as a tribute to President Walter Dill Scott, who plans to retire next fall. Mr. Cahn's gift raises contributions for the $750,000 building to $300,000. Mr. Cahn is chairman of the board of B. Kuppenheimer & Co., and president of the Chicago Crime commission. He lives at 257 East Delaware place.

The Housewife

Are you fond of blue? We know a number of women who are devoted to a soft, delicate tint of blue and have a regular collection of household items in this hue: Linens, enamel cooking utensils, curtains, etc.

Now they can add some charming French pottery tableware if they wish. Luncheon plates are inexpensive and beautiful in their simplicity. And there are teacups and other items as well. We saw a luncheon table with daffodil yellow place mats and a runner and this charming, soft blue china, and it was like a bouquet of spring flowers. EDITH WEIGLE.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 14.—This column's recent blast at the nominating committee of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for their failure to include Lionel Barrymore's performance in "You Can't Take It with You" as one of the five top male performances of 1938, is confirmed dramatically by the 1,021 movie critics and correspondents who balloted in the annual Minneapolis Journal poll, conducted by studious Merle Potter. . . . The nation-wide canvass of movie critics found Barrymore in No. 2 spot, directly behind Spencer Tracy. . . . The vote was 31,075 points for Tracy's Father Flanagan characterization in "Boys Town," 30,050 points for Lionel's interpretation of the grandpa rôle in "You Can't Take It with You." . . . The academy nominating committee, which failed to place Lionel in the first five, indicts itself on a charge of general incompetence.

Lionel Barrymore.

On Vine street, in Hollywood, within stone's throw of the movie studios and radio stations that killed vaudeville, the federal theater for the last sixteen weeks has been staging a vaudeville show. The length of the current engagement testifies to vaudeville's success and innate strength. . . . The PWA players call their show "Two-a-Day" and it is grand entertainment flavored with nostalgia. . . . In supplying work for perhaps 100 persons for sixteen weeks it more than serves its purpose. . . . In supplying entertainment for countless thousands of us who miss the Mondays at the Palace theater, on Broadway, it gives double measure.

There is a certain authoritative poise which vaudeville bequeathed to its stellar performers that is very apparent, and the old timers who appear in this show have it. . . . For instance, there is Willa Holt Wakefield, once a big timer of vaude, now an elderly woman. . . . She takes "Stay in Your Own Back Yard" and converts an ordinary song into ten memorable minutes on the Hollywood playhouse stage purely on her own charm of delivery. . . . But what makes this cavalcade of vaudeville a noteworthy event is the direction by Jack Laughlin, for I assume that it was he who gave the production its pace and zing and showmanship.

Shortly a big time movie executive will file suit against a movie producer. . . . It should make page 1, because it concerns a golf debt of $14,000, the movie executive alleging that the producer welched on its payment. . . . According to the stories around town the movie producer lost $100 in the original match, and then to get it back kept doubling the stake in subsequent matches. . . . In the final match the two of them

Lloyd—Well, he's got a Z in his name.

Cautious Hayes Organization.

We were introduced to Frankenstein in 1931; in 1935 he took a bride, and in 1939 we met the Son of Frankenstein. Bob Montgomery says it is being rumored that the Hayes organization will not permit producers to make the Grandson of Frankenstein for another twenty years.

Cook's Loss.

Blonde German Mary came in to see us, woe written on her usually placid countenance. Mary was once cook in our household, and memories of her chicken paprika, her crêpes suzette, and her noodle rings have not been effaced, although Inga does them all as well, or better, with some specialties of her own in addition.

"We need help," she said. "We (Mary and her husband work together as a couple) have just arrived in town, and Saturday night we left our car parked on Bellevue place with all our possessions in it. Somebody broke open the door and stole everything—everything we owned. Our clothes, even all my working uniforms; Eugene's family pictures from Germany, the Iron Cross he got in the war. And all our papers—our recommendations and all the recipes I had collected. All I have left is what I have on. If the clothes and shoes will do anybody any good I'm willing for them to have them, but my papers can do no good to anybody. Couldn't you just put in the paper to please send the papers and books back to us? The name and address is on the suitcases: Mary Reichle, 3724 East Holmes avenue, Cudahy, Wis. Maybe I'd get my papers and books back."

We'd like to help, we told her sympathetically, but we couldn't use the column as a personal aid instrument. No, it would be impossible. We were quite firm and sent her on her way with such practical advice as we could offer. But, be there thieves among our readers, would they send Mary's books and recipes back to her at 3724 East Holmes avenue, Cudahy, Wis.?

Request.

The telephone at the Library of International Relations rang at 5:45 the other evening and a woman's voice asked for Miss Eloise Requa, director.

"I have to make a ten minute speech on Spain to my club," the voice said. "Would you please give me an outline on Spain, past and present, just as Dorothy Thompson or Kaltenborn would do it?"

Testimony of a Blues Composer.

A Negro "blues" composer was testifying in a suit involving charges of plagiarism.

"What is jive?" asked the court.

"Jive is swing, your honor," answered the witness. "It's the language of swing."

"All right, what is swing?" continued the court.

"Well, swing came from jazz."

"We seem to be getting somewhere now. How do you define jazz?"

"Jazz is syncopation."

"And just what is syncopation?"

"Well, syncopation is really rag."

"And what is rag?"

"Rag is the blues, your honor."

"And what are the blues?"

The Negro witness scratched his head.

"The blues is jes' the blues," he answered.

Jane Douglas, C. F. Bowey to Wed in Spring

BY JUDITH CASS.

A VALENTINE party with interesting romantic significance was a cocktail party the Donald F. Boweys gave yesterday to celebrate the engagement of Mr. Bowey's brother, Charles F. Bowey Jr., and Miss Jane Douglas, daughter of Mrs. James Robinson Douglas and the late Mr. Douglas of Los Angeles.

Miss Douglas and Mr. Bowey met at Christmas time in Los Angeles and will be married this spring. They both arrived in Chicago on Saturday, he from New York and she from California, and have been staying with the Donald Boweys.

The four are going east together today so that Miss Douglas may meet her fiancé's New York friends. He has been dividing his time between New York and Chicago for the last few years.

The engagement announcement came as a complete surprise to the guests, who assembled in the Boweys' Commonwealth avenue apartment yesterday. Most of them expected only to say "bon voyage" to their hosts, who are sailing Friday on a West Indies cruise.

Miss Douglas previously had met a number of her future in-laws' Chicago friends at the parties arranged for the national squash rackets championships last week-end. Mrs. Donald Bowey was chairman of the woman's committee for the matches.

Miss Douglas attended Dana Hall and the House in the Pines in New York. Mr. Bowey, son of the senior Mrs. Charles F. Bowey and the late Mr. Bowey, attended Williams and was graduated from the University of Illinois.

Marjorie Mondell Smith, Edwin Adams to Wed.

Mrs. Wirt F. Smith of 7267 Coles avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Marjorie Mondell, to Edwin Barton Adams, son of Mrs. Ernest E. Adams of Chicago. Miss Smith was graduated from the Starrett School for Girls and attended the University of Illinois. Mr. Adams was graduated from the University of Chicago. The wedding will take place in the early spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevens Sandberg of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Mountain, to Thomas Maxwell Drever, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Drever, also of Glencoe. Miss Sandberg attended Northwestern university and was graduated from Webber college in Boston, Mass. Mr. Drever attended the University of Illinois. The wedding will be late in March.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Roach of Ottawa, formerly of La Grange, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sally, to B. Hinman Bisbee, son of Mrs. Benjamin Hinman Bisbee and the late Mr. Bisbee of Chicago. Miss Roach is a graduate of the Mary Lyon school in Swarthmore, Pa., and of Rockford college. She attended Northwestern university law school. No date has been set for the wedding.

Symphony Goers Brave "Flu," Enjoy Concert.

The number of smartly groomed women at the Chicago Symphony orchestra concert yesterday afternoon proved that many are up and about and enjoying themselves in spite of the "flu." Mrs. Frederic W. Upham's concert guests included Miss Susan Lippincott of Vevey, Switzerland;

Flower Girl at Party

With such a winning smile Miss Karen Gardner should sell many corsages and boutonnieres at a Palm Beach night party, for the benefit of the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind tonight at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Miss Gardner is the daughter of the George M. Gardners of Lake Shore drive.

Some of the entertainment planned for tonight's Palm Beach party at the Lake Shore Athletic club is being kept a secret until the last minute, but it will include a water ballet duet which has been worked out by Miss Charlotte Galbraith and Miss Louise Brydon.

Mrs. Alanson Donald, Mrs. Robert F. Carr Jr., Miss Karen Gardner, Miss Sylvia Peter and Miss Jessica Butler are among those who will help sell flowers.

Mr. and Mrs Frank Woods Jr., the Hill Blacketts, the Stanley Morrills, the John G. Samples, the Taylor Strawns, and the Edward H. Gardiners are some of those who have reserved tables. Artificial moonlight will flood the tropical setting Walter Frazier has designed for the pool. The party is for the benefit of the Lighthouse, of which Mrs. Theodore Gary is president.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore G. Kahnweiler of 5100 Cornell avenue announce the approaching marriage on March 15 of their sister, Miss Hortense Kahnweiler of 5540 Hyde Park boulevard, to Milton L. Levy of Chicago. The wedding will take place in the Winnetka home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kahnweiler.

3 Valentine Day Parties Held for Crippled Children

Valentine day parties were sponsored yesterday at three institutions for crippled children by members of Ruth lodge, No. 139, Free Sons of Israel. With valentines and ice cream and cake, the women visited the Spaulding school, the Sabin school, and the Martha Washington Home for Crippled Children.

Stock Shades Symphony to a Brahms Gray

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday set before us in all its gray magnificence the E minor symphony of Brahms. An audience which filled most but not all of Orchestra hall expressed its awe by trying—for the most part successfully—to time its coughs so that they fell in the pauses between the movements.

To preserve the austerity of this last and most exacting of the Brahms symphonies Mr. Stock kept his tone colorings subdued and his dynamic range narrow. The long granite lines of the piece were broken by no forced accents or theatrical pauses. The symphony flowed superbly, maintaining from its rueful first theme to its apocalyptic conclusion a continuity and a unity in which each episode grew from what had gone before and implied what was to follow.

High points of the performance were the bittersweet taste of the strings in the second movement—a movement which can easily become almost juicy in the hands of an undisciplined orchestra—and the soft, haunted brass chorale of the Passacaglia.

The gray backdrop of the concert was set in place some minutes before the beginning of the symphony, for the opening piece in the afternoon's music was Mendelssohn's "Fingal's Cave" overture. The conductor and his men strove to bring into electrically lighted Orchestra hall as much of empty sea and wheeling sea gulls as the place could conveniently hold. Played with such Spartan restraint, the overture justifies the composer's hope that there would here be embodied in music the emotions which the lonely, uttermost Hebrides aroused in him.

The second half of the program contrasted strongly with the first. The suite from Kodály's "Háry János" and Mr. Stock's own symphonic waltz offered between them as much brilliance and sparkle as the earlier music had withheld.

The witty Kodály suite, which concerns the imaginary exploits of the braggart Háry János, finds place for much brave melody and for many hair raising orchestral effects. Spiros Stamos, resident performer on the antique cimbalom, [dulcimer] manipulated his padded hammers to such good purpose that part of the applause was directed especially toward him.

The gracious melodic curves of Mr. Stock's waltz, together with its skilled instrumentations and its pleasant, mock serious little episodes, sent the audience away in great good humor.

Ruth Returns

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—After 14 years of dipping into Hollywood's huge till and acting on the stage and in the movies abroad, Ruth Chatterton is returning to Broadway in a play called, "West of Broadway." It is about ham actors and actresses.

Ruth Chatterton.

In earlier days of the theater—in "Daddy Long-Legs," and "Come Out of the Kitchen," her romper roles—Miss Chatterton was a ranking Broadway favorite. Time has jolted the theater's expression to adult potions, and Miss Chatterton says this is all to the good.

Color, Color Everywhere in Spring Styles

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Any one caught trotting around in a dark colored outfit this spring will be doing so just to be definitly different. Every one else will rival a paint card. From the silliest scraps of colored straw to the gayest of footgear, the rage for color has taken the town and taken it with all the abandon of an amateur Gauguin. Water colors as fragile as a Victorian lady's idea of dress parade, delicate greens, subdued pinks, ethereal blues, lush apricot and peach tones, and lovely faded violet—all these are featured in the first call to spring colors.

Some of the most amazing accessories are the big bag, gloves, belt, hat, and sandals of thick soft suede, in cinnamon pink, wedgewood blue, or a delectable peach shade. Even a compact is available in these tints. By delicately accenting a dark colored dress or costume, the accessories provide the last gasp in telling color subtlety. It's a long time since such ravishing colors have been found.

Next come the heart breaker hats, composed chiefly of tin flowers. Some of the hats come in a single color. Among these are the luscious pale chartreuse green turbans with a double loop of matching velvet ribbon sticking right up in the center of the crown. There is the cloud blue affair with a mist of matching blue veiling.

A Stranger in the Dark

By Frank R. Adams

(Copyright: 1939: By Frank R. Adams.)

SYNOPSIS.

The hero, pursued by Detective Mike Clancy, is stopped in a Chicago railway depot by a young man, apparently dying, who gives him his wallet and baggage check to get him his medicine. He gets the sick man's bag, then, seeing the man being carried away on a stretcher, he uses the man's ticket, and is on his way to Clovis, N. M., as John Bowman—an innocent fugitive, having taken the blame for missing bank funds to save his father. Before reaching Clovis he confesses his identity to Sheriff Tom Johnson, who boards the train to welcome John Bowman, whose father, Pete Bowman, is dying and longs to see the son separated from him by divorce since babyhood. The sheriff persuades him to take on the rôle. John's sister, Mary, and her fiancé, Charles Ferdinand, manager of her father's ranch, meet him and fly him to the ranch in Charles' plane. Mrs. Lodge, wife of Pete's physician and guest, is with them. Our hero falls instantly in love with Mary and dislikes Charles, a handsome show-off, who is the pet of Pete's sister, Matilda, who had loved Charles' father. The hero meets paralyzed old Pete Bowman, kept a virtual prisoner by Matilda. Pete asks him to stay and help Mary, and gives him his guns. Charles is carrying on an affair with Mrs. Lodge and even Dr. Lodge knows about it. Charles and Mary are married. Detective Clancy appears after the wedding, just as word comes that old Pete has died. That night Mrs. Lodge commits suicide and Mary refuses to go to her new home with Charles. Clancy, sleeping with "John," is stabbed—evidently "John" was the intended victim. Before his death Pete had "John" destroy a new will leaving everything to Mary. By the old will "John" is heir. Charles offers to fly "John" and Clancy to Kansas. In midair the engine stalls. Charles knocks "John" out and bails out in a parachute. But Clancy revives "John" who, unknown to Charles, is an aviator.

INSTALMENT XXXIII.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

The stick was way forward and the noise outside was deafening—the roar of air and the whine of struts. I'd heard that noise once or twice before and knew what it meant. It meant death in as many seconds as the result you get by dividing your altitude by about 600. The altimeter read 2,800. We had a little over four seconds to go.

I braced myself with one hand against the instrument board and my feet on the pedals and pulled back on the stick. All the rest of my energy I devoted to prayer that the wings would stay on.

Clancy, poor devil, was thrown violently to the floor. Gravity, or inertia, whichever you wish to call it, becomes a terrifying, multiplied force when you change the direction of a mass moving at approximately four hundred miles an hour. You know what it would do to your car if you went around a sharp curve at even a hundred miles per hour.

It didn't affect me so much except that I felt as if I was about to push a hole through the pilot's seat with the end of my backbone.

But nothing like that mattered in the next two seconds. I'd know the answer by then.

And the answer was "Yes!" The wings held!

We leveled off and began to coast, still downward it is true, but most of our speed was forward.

I banked and we began a wide circle.

Over my shoulder I threw a question. "Are you alive, Clancy?"

"Yes, I think so."

"If that cut begins to bleed stick your thumb into your arm pit and press like the devil."

"Yes sir."

"Where's Charles—Mr. Ferdinand?"

"He got off at the last station. Had a date, I guess."

I blessed Clancy for being able to say a thing like that under the circumstances. He was a brave man.

I didn't know where we were and as it was darker than the inside of a black hat I didn't know any good way of finding out. On the instrument board were two releases for landing flares. I pulled one of them experimentally. It seemed like as good a time as any to find out if they were working or if Charles carried flares at all.

He did. In a moment a bright light appeared under us. I watched it fall slowly trying to make out what lay beneath.

Nothing!

Finally the flare disappeared entirely swallowed up in the dust.

That was that. All I could do now was to keep circling and hope that some sixth sense would tell me when to level off. There was no chance, apparently, to pick a spot. We might drop smack into an arroyo and turn over.

Then we were in the dust. That I knew extended up only a few hundred feet. I couldn't see a thing but automatically I kept looking down.

Then the miracle happened!

Red lines began to glow on the ground—red lines in a rectangle. At one end, upwind, an angry eye glared out—a searchlight!

That made it all very simple. I made my last bank, headed for the big light and set her down with scarcely a jar.

Clancy was able to stand up and walk out but I noticed he was holding his arm as I had told him with the thumb under the arm pit. That was hard to do with the harness of the parachute, which he had never taken off, strapped across his body.

I had rather thought I knew where we were but there was no question about it when the mechanic met us at the door with a set of steps—the same mechanic who had helped us when we started.

He was rather excited though, "I didn't know it was you when that flare dropped through and darn near set the hangar on fire. But I figured somebody was in trouble up there and turned on every light in the place." He was looking beyond us at the vacant cabin door. "Why, where's Mr. Ferdinand?"

"He bailed out at five thousand," I told him, more or less casually. "I imagine the wind carried him a few miles southeast of here."

"What was the matter?"

"Gas. Got a kink in the line or something."

The mechanic scrambled aboard and up front toward the pilot's compartment.

Clancy started toward the ranch house.

"Wait, 'til I get a car," I suggested.

"No. I want to travel on my own feet for a bit—maybe always."

So I helped him as best I could.

The mechanic came running after us. "The gas line is all right, Mr. Bowman. It's just turned off. There's a valve under the instrument board. Mr. Ferdinand knows about it. He probably hit it accidental with his knee or something."

"That must have been what happened," I conceded without argument. It appeared fairly certain that he had not been a party to what had really happened.

My own curiosity was not entirely at rest, however. I asked Clancy as we walked, "Just what did Mr. Ferdinand do after he hit me?"

"Did he hit you?"

"He certainly did and with something plenty hard, too, like the butt of a revolver or the end of a wrench."

"The lyin' so and so. He came back and told me he thought you'd died of heart failure when the engine stopped. He was going to step out, he said and advised me to follow him."

"But you didn't?"

"Naturally. I was too scared anyway but besides I wasn't sure what he said about you was true. So I went up front where you was to find out and poured some of that brandy into you and onto you. You know the rest."

Clancy wasn't doing so well by the time we got to the ranch house and I was half carrying him.

There were lights in the main room but the door was barred. After I had pounded on it for a while and announced who we were in a loud voice it was finally opened by H'Wang, the Chinese cook, wearing ordinary civilian clothes and with a long kitchen carving knife stuck in his belt.

Mary was standing with a look of surprise in her eyes. Aunt Matilda was seated and paid little attention to us.

"You've had an accident?" This from Mary. "Where's Charles?"

"Yes, we had an accident," I admitted briefly. "Charles isn't with us just now but I think he's safe. I'll tell you more after I've looked at Clancy's arm. I might need some hot water."

"Me get him," volunteered H'Wang, starting toward the kitchen.

We found sanctuary in John Bowman's room. Mary followed.

She and I together got the parachute harness off and also Clancy's coat and shirt. After that he was glad to lie down on the bed.

I looked at the bandage. There was considerable fresh blood on it.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

played $3,500 Nassau, which means that they played the first nine for $3,500, the second nine for $3,500, and an additional bet on the match for $3,500. . . . The producer at first offered to settle for $7,000, but then refused to pay that. . . . So he will be sued, and I think that it's the first time a golf wager ever will have been tested in a court of law. . . .

As this movie industry is more or less of a gamble from the moment a studio gambles on its judgment in buying a script up to the time the picture is distributed, I supposed there should be no amazement at the fact that this is the gamblingest town this reporter ever has lived in. . . . "I betcha" would be a fitting motif for the town's coat of arms, if it ever determines to have a coat of arms. . . . You notice it particularly on those Saturday afternoons when the studios, lock, stock and barrel, make a bee line for Santa Anita park, which is twenty-five miles distant from most of them. That is quite a distance to travel to lose your money, but twenty-five miles is just a whoop and a yell out here so long as there is betting action at the other end.

On that twenty-five mile trip to Santa Anita strange things happen in the cars occupied by the movie stars. . . . When they step into the car they have made up their minds to bet on certain horses in particular races. . . . By the time the race starts they have switched from the horse they wished to back in favor of another horse, and invariably the horse which they discarded is the horse that wins the race. . . . Why this should be so is beyond reasoning powers. . . . "I went to the window to bet on the Vanderbilt entry," a Paramount starlet told me, "and instead I bet on Our Mat." . . . Asked why this had happened in the last few feet of a twenty-five mile trip, she said: "The man ahead of me bet on Our Mat, so at the last second I did likewise." . . . She had never seen the man before and had no reason to believe that he was gifted with occult powers, but she followed his example. . . . It happens all the time, not only to Paramount starlets, but to all of them.

GASOLINE ALLEY—HOW DID YOU GUESS IT?

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Some Change

Routine Alters for Child Who Starts School

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Some little boys and girls take to school like ducklings to water. But some do not.

We were talking yesterday about those young children who do not take easily to school. That the reasons may be physical or psychological, or both, we pointed out. Those differences between school and home that we mentioned were: [1] the necessarily unfamiliar and more impersonal grownup who presides over their school day—the teacher; [2] the close, long continued, and enforced association with many young personalities; and [3] the physical confinement of the classroom.

Other differences we did not go into, but will do so today. Among these is, for one, the usual requirement of mental application. Children are much closer to a natural way of living than we who are grown up, and at home their mental activity is quite spontaneous and less sustained. Their school day should be planned with that fact in mind.

Three other differences that young children experience when they go to school, although they may not be aware of it, are connected with three vital physical processes: eating, rest, and elimination.

At home, from the time a child gets up in the morning until he goes to bed at night, it is possible for his mother, watchful and wise, to see that he eats quietly and adequately, that his elimination is regular and sufficient, and that he has rest during the day.

School means a change, in all these three ways, for most children. Some adjust to it easily but some do not. As we said yesterday, the wise mother and the wise teacher will manage so that this rather special child we're talking about will be able to take these differences in his stride, or they will make reasonable allowances for him until he is adjusted.

A suggestion we made in this column in connection with all this, just before school started, has been of interest to a number of mothers. It was this that for several weeks before a little boy and girl go to school for the first time they might be put on a schedule that is timed and arranged like a school day.

This subject will be continued tomorrow.

"Diet Suggestions for the School Child" is a leaflet of interest to parents and teachers. Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Fleming Replaces Cukor as Director of 'Gone with Wind'

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—David O. Selznick, president of Selznick International Pictures, Inc., today announced that Victor Fleming has replaced George Cukor as the director on "Gone with the Wind."

Victor Fleming.

Fleming has had a long career in the picture business, his most recent successes being "Test Pilot" and "Captains Courageous."

Disagreements between Selznick and Cukor over script resulted in Cukor's request that he be permitted to withdraw from the picture, to which Selznick agreed, but with the request that Cukor continue to shoot until he could be replaced.

Fleming was previously called in to finish "The Great Waltz" and "The Wizard of Oz" after other directors had begun those productions.

Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. John B. Murphy, and Mrs. Arthur B. Slade.

Mrs. William B. Greenlee was exceptionally chic in a black broadtail coat. An outstanding exponent of brown was Mrs. Charles H. Langer, who draped a sable scarf over her brown dress. Miss Peggy Clow, Miss Nancy Orr, and Miss Marion Farwell were together. Mrs. William B. Hale sported a green turban; Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt was wrapped in mink; Mrs. Henry Bartholomay and her sister, Mrs. William Sherman Hay, were a twosome; Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Mrs. Graham Aldis, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, and Mrs. Laird Bell were in the Barnes box.

Mothers of Dance Club Boys to Give Dinner.

The mothers of four of the boys who belong to the Dance club are entertaining at dinner on Friday night before the fifth dance of the season. The hostesses will be Mrs. Harrold Bachmann, Mrs. Charles R. Crane II., Mrs. Theodore E. Joiner, and Mrs. Edward W. White. The dinner will be given in the Polo room of the Ambassador. The dances are held at the Girls' Latin school.

Mrs. Clive Runnells is entertaining at dinner tonight for Lady Boulton of London, who is visiting Mrs. Runnells.

The Andover club of Chicago is giving a dinner at 7 o'clock tonight at the University club for Dr. Claude Suess, headmaster of the school. Dr. Suess and Robert A. Gardner, a trustee, will speak. Brewster Perry is secretary of the club.

The first in a series of four lectures will be given by Clifton Utley at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Evanston Woman's club. The lectures are being sponsored by the junior board of the Park Ridge School for Girls. The other lectures will be given on Feb. 22, March 1 and 8.

The third in a series of art lectures will be given by the Evanston Junior league at 11 o'clock this morning in the ballroom of the Orrington hotel. Ann Birk Kuper will read "The Life of Oscar Wilde." Mrs. Gordon Canning will be the hostess.

Art Society to Meet with Mrs. Logan.

A meeting of the members of the Society for Sanity in Art, Inc., will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Frank G. Logan, 1150 Lake Shore drive, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The eighteenth international exhibition of water colors at the Art institute of Chicago will be held from March 23 until May 14. A reception for artists and members of the Art institute will be held on March 22 from 8 until 10 o'clock.

Invitations are out to spend Washington's birthday anniversary with the faculty and cadets of the Northwestern Military and Naval academy at Geneva Lake, Wis., on Feb. 22. The program of the day includes winter sports, luncheon, dancing, a formal guard mount, and a play by the dramatic club.

"The Midwinter," the annual winter dance of the St. John's Military academy, will be held Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock.

The Cornell Club of Chicago is bringing the Cornell campus to Chicago in colored movies that will be shown at the Edgewater Beach hotel on Saturday night. Movies of the Cornell-Dartmouth game also will be on the program, and after the two films have been run there will be dancing. H. Kirke Becker of Winnetka is chairman of the party.

Mrs. William S. Monroe, Mayor Kelly, Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor, and Mrs. John M. Simpson are some of those who have taken boxes for the concert Yehudi Menuhin is giving Sunday afternoon at the Civic Opera house for the benefit of the Chicago Girl Scouts. Twenty-five senior Scouts will sell flowers in the lobby.

Kisses OR Kind Deeds the Rule; Why Not Both?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I don't know if you can give me any advice, but I have a terrible problem. When I was 19 I met a man eleven years older than I. I fell in love with him and at 20 married him. Before we married he was attentive enough, but married life changed him strangely. Now I am 22 and for the last two years I have been craving affection from him. It is always I who must kiss him, put an arm around him, and so on.

"As a child I never knew a stroke of affection. I never had any love showered on me. Therefore, I am longing for it. Maybe you'll tell me to have a baby. Well, I have a year old girl, the most adorable youngster who ever stood on two feet. She fills my heart with love as only a baby can. Nevertheless, I am still eating my heart out for the affection I crave from my husband. That's all these is to my story. DOLLY."

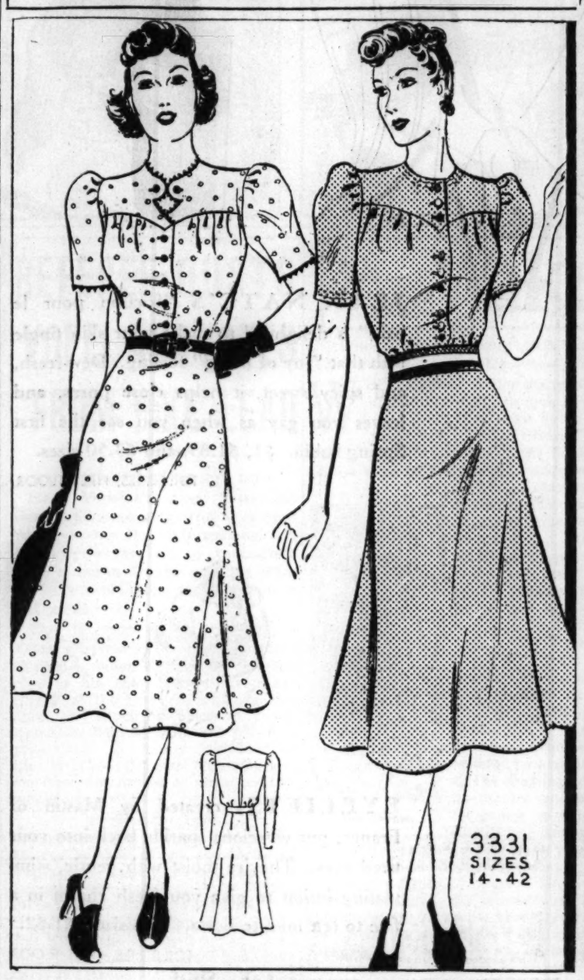
Don't you think that you may be blocking off a view of a good life with your cravings, Dolly? Yes, we wish, too, that men would not be such tightwads with their affections. We think that they are stupid in concluding they'd done enough for the woman when they married her. During courtship they train the poor darlings into thinking they're in for a lifetime of sweetness and light and suddenly they change as if a blight had struck them. Why, boys? You'll have to tell us. We do not quite get you. A hug here, a kiss there, and you have the woman eating out of your hand. Most women, that is. Time and again studies have been made of what women would most appreciate from their men, and the answer invariably is the same thing Dolly yerns for—affection, a word of praise, appreciation.

On the other hand, or until such time as men will loosen up with endearments, women married to them will have to face the tongue-tied and lip-sealed facts of life. They will have to accept deeds [such as providing generously, sobriety, loyalty, and the like] instead of the kind words and the kisses.

After all, there are scads of women who would exchange the kisses and hugs for a sober, industrious, generous character.

This isn't the perfect answer by any means, but if you have the kind of man who won't display affection there's more happiness to be gained by reminding yourself of his sterling qualities than reminding yourself daily of the kisses you're not getting, isn't there?

Practical for Two Seasons



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Spring fashions are immediate factors to be considered, and summer styles should be on your mind, too, if not for a southern vacation, at least for the season to come. We think the frock presented in the pattern today is one you will find practical for both seasons. It is utterly simple and, therefore, adaptable to many types of fabrics and to all manner of colors.

The neckline is collarless. It may be left plain or be edged with whatever trimming you choose. [Notice, in the sketches, that there are two ways to style it.] There is a shoulder yoke and beneath it the bodice is shirred for fullness. The waistline is snug and may be belted or not, as you wish. The flared skirt is molded at the hips and tremendously flattering.

The dress may be either strictly tailored and utilitarian, or quite dressy, depending upon the trimming and fabric you use. Prints and plain shades are equally acceptable and modish. Cottons and silks are the materials to be considered.

Style No. 3331 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material for the short sleeved dress.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Potatoes and link sausages may be baked together in a casserole or cooked separately for this easy to prepare dinner. When they are baked alone, floured and with a little water, they make themselves a good gravy, and when they are baked atop the potatoes they impart a delicious, porky flavor. So there is something to be said for each method.

Most of this dinner comes from cans, but a crisp fresh salad is included for contrast in texture.

SHORT CUT DINNER
Scalloped Potatoes
Baked Link Sausages
Buttered Canned Celery Hearts
Crisp Salad of Shredded Lettuce, Carrots, Green Pepper, and Radishes, French Dressing
Whole Wheat Bread
Pineapple Peach Crisp with Cream
Coffee

Baked Link Sausages

[Serves Four]
1 pound pork links
Flour
¼ cup water

Prick sausages, roll in flour, and place in a baking pan with water. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, turning once or twice as they cook. The flour should thicken the drippings and make a gravy to pour over them as they are served.

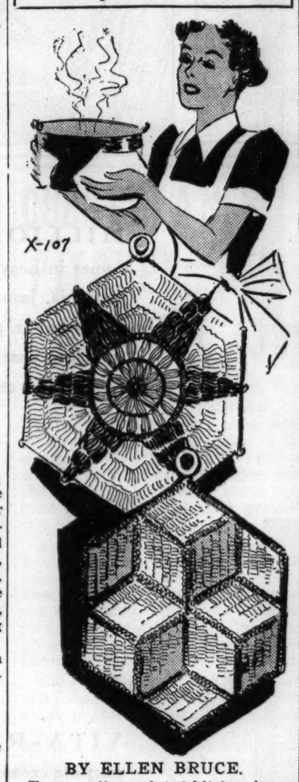
I'll repeat the method for scalloped potatoes for the inexperienced cook. The potatoes, a medium one to each person, are peeled and sliced thinly. They are then arranged in layers in a buttered baking dish, each layer sprinkled with salt, pepper, and flour. Milk is poured over the casserole and it is baked covered except for the last few minutes, when it is uncovered for browning. Sausage links may be placed on top of the casserole if desired.

Pineapple Peach Crisp

[Serves Four]
4 slices bread, crusts trimmed
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup brown sugar
1 small can [1 cup] crushed pineapple
1 cup canned sliced peaches

Spread bread on both sides with butter. Cut into narrow strips or squares. Arrange half of them in the bottom of a buttered shallow pan. Sprinkle with half the sugar. Pour in pineapple and peaches, sprinkle with the rest of the sugar, and top with the other buttered bread strips or squares. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about thirty-five minutes. Serve warm with cream.

Hexagonal Holder for the Kitchen Is Easy to Crochet



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Every well appointed kitchen has a variety of pot holders and, regardless of the number, there never seem to be enough. Crochet holders are an ideal choice, because they utilize scraps of thread and one can have any number of color schemes harmonious with the kitchen decor. The two hexagonal pot holders are easily made of simple stitches, and half a dozen can be created in a short time. They are excellent suggestions for shower gifts or presents in general.

For instructions for crocheting the hexagonal pot holders, No. X107, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Brown to Head Religious Council's Executive Board

The International council of religious education, 203 North Wabash avenue, yesterday concluded the ninth day of its 17th annual convention held in the Stevens hotel. Dr. Arlo Ayres Brown, president of Drew university, Madison, N. J., was elected chairman of the executive committee. Dr. Brown succeeds Dr. Walter D. Howell of Philadelphia, Pa. Other officers named were Dr. Arthur Heck of Cleveland, O., vice chairman; Dr. Roy G. Ross, secretary, and J. L. Kraft of Chicago, treasurer. All officers were elected for four years.

Don't Crawl, Be Active, Is Beauty Advice

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Don't crawl about. Don't ever think that you are too old to do a thing. Do it, and you will find that you can go on doing things you never dreamed you could!"

It's the mother of a 33 year old son speaking, the famous British poetess, Carlota, now touring this country. Internationally famous as a hostess and often mentioned among the world's most chic, Carlota has skin and figure that are envious assets, indeed.

Our opening paragraph above was her response to a query on how she manages so beautiful a silhouette and appears so to fit at all times.

"I believe that, to keep fit, a woman must lead a very active life. Don't crawl about, etc."

Carlota claims to a self-prescribed and daily practiced form of exercise, running up and down stairs twenty times a day, sometimes more. "Of course, I led up to it gradually, but now I look forward to it."

Which reminds us of another famous woman behind whom we've regrettably plodded up five flights while she took them on the run, arriving without a sign of breathlessness. We agree you have to work up to that. And many of us are without the stairs for practice. So perhaps we'd better pass up this suggestion since one can be kept pretty active covering the flat ground with walking shoes.

Here, rightly, can be applied the caution not to crawl. So many women think they've been for a long walk when they've only been out crawling. Moving briskly is what Carlota means. She is out of patience with women who enjoy ill health, running to this "quack" and that, as she calls them, for this cure and that. Be your own doctor and subscribe intelligently and reasonably unless there is something radically wrong with you. Then see your physician and do as he tells you.

U. S. Balks 'Mikado' Sale; Plans to Move Hit Play to New York

The future of the Federal Theater project's swing version of "The Mikado" was a matter of lively speculation last night.

WPA officials in New York announced that the production, now playing at the Great Northern theater here, would be taken to New York and opened at the New Yorker theater March 1. Washington WPA officials took a firm stand against permitting the cast to leave WPA rolls for the higher pay of private enterprise by refusing three offers from private producers wishing to buy the scenery and costumes.

One of the producers is Bernard Ulrich of Chicago. Like the others, he planned to hire the cast at Actors' Equity salaries if he could buy the costumes and scenery, and take the show to New York himself. He said he would confer with associates today, and that he might begin hiring members of the cast before night. If necessary, Ulrich said, he would have costumes and scenery made.

One of the New York producers, Michael Todd, meanwhile charged that the government is deliberately competing with private enterprise in its refusal to sell the costumes and scenery. He said he would produce the swing version of the operetta in New York despite the government's stand, with Bill Robinson, colored stage star, as a principal.

The show, with an all colored cast, has been a hit from the beginning of its run, which is now in its 21st week.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the local beauty salons has a new and what we think an extremely sensible idea—a "shopper's facial."

You know what a day of shopping does to you. It's hard on the arches, the disposition, and the appearance. You start out all fresh and brisk in the morning, serene in the illusion that it will be no trouble at all to look at a dress, buy washcloths with pink edges, and find just exactly the kind of book ends you want for the living room. It looks, when you're leaving the house, like an absolute breeze. But when you're well into the crowds and the search for this and that, you're the one who looks as though a breeze, or rather a tornado, had hit you.

The "shopper's facial" is a life saver on such days. It takes only thirty minutes and it's so inexpensive we haven't figured out yet just how they can do it. You go "plop" into a downy treatment chair and have a wonderful cleansing of face and neck. Then you have a special little massage treatment centered right at the back of your neck, which is the source, usually, of all your fatigue and taut nerves. This is magical in restoring your sense of well being. Next you have a light circulation treatment for the face, and more massage. Then chilled eye pads are applied to the eyelids while you relax completely for three minutes. You open your eyes to a suddenly rosy world and then you have a makeup!

It does things for you. Your bones no longer ache and you wouldn't feel inclined to snap at your worst enemy. Best of all, you look like a beautiful creature, indeed. Homeward bound, you realize that the "shopper's facial" is the secret of weathering a hard day. ELEANOR NANGLE.

[For information about this face treatment telephone Eleanor Nangle, Superior 0100.]

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Psychic bidding has one virtue which is rarely discussed or even perceived in most circles. It encourages the opponents to go beyond their depth. This, I realize, is a somewhat paradoxical statement, but it is nevertheless true. When the opponents "spot" a psychic bid, they often form the unalterable opinion that the psycher is trying to keep them out of a slam. Hence, with the perversity of human nature and of bridge players in particular, they may doggedly keep bidding simply because they "will not be talked out of anything."

It probably is true that the psychic bidder has tried to scare them off, but his partner may turn up with just enough strength to defeat their overbid contract. Or sometimes the psychic bidder himself has one card for which the opponents will not give him credit, but which will be the deciding factor in the play. That was the case in the following hand, played in a team-of-four match between England and France. The result, although tragic to the losing team, had its amusing side.

Pass	1 club	1 spade	Double
Pass	Pass	1 no tr'mp	Double
Pass	Pass	2 diam'ds	4 clubs
4 diamonds	5 diamonds	Pass	5 spades
Pass	7 clubs	Pass	Pass
7 diamonds	7 no trump	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

The result of this remarkable bidding sequence was, of course, that South was down one due to the failure of the club finesse. At seven diamonds, East-West probably would have gone down 900 points. Since, at the other table, the South player was permitted to play the hand at six clubs, the swing was terrific.

As I have said, it is probable that West's psychic bidding [one spade followed by one no trump] accounted for the optimism of the North-South team. Apparently, South got the fixed idea that West did not have a face card, which led him to believe that if there were a finesse in the hand it could be taken successfully through East. Hence he contemptuously rejected East's sacrifice offer of seven diamonds, to go out for a vulnerable grand slam of his own.

It is one thing to explain the probable cause of an event and another to justify it. I feel sure that South would not have gone to a grand slam if the opponents had stayed out of the auction. In that case the bidding probably would have proceeded as follows:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 club	Pass	1 spade
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	4 clubs
Pass	4 no trump	Pass	5 spades
Pass

It is true that a contract of six spades might have been reached, and that it would have been defeated because of the horrible spade break, but this would have been hard luck rather than bad bidding. It is all very well to be guided by the opponents' bidding—to be encouraged or discouraged according to the situation. It is very wrong, however, and very costly, to form fixed notions about anything at bridge, and the most dangerous thing of all is to assume that, because an opponent "psychs," he will not be able to take a trick.

FEB. 22ND CAKE
½ cup Crisco
2 cups brown sugar (sifted)
2 eggs (separated)
1 teaspoon soda
1¾ cups sour milk
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon salt
Blend Crisco, sugar and egg yolks. (My, new Crisco is so easy to blend, now it's made so creamy!) Dissolve soda in sour milk. Add milk alternately with sifted dry ingredients. Mix. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into two "Criscoed" layer pans (8 inch). Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) about 25 min. Cool. Put together and frost with your favorite white icing. Decorate with stars cut from large red gumdrops. All Measurements Level.

GOLDEN GLOVERS FIGHT ON 2 FRONTS TONIGHT

SEABISCUIT IS PULLED UP LAME IN LOSING RACE

Today Sets Record to Beat Champion.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The hope of Charles S. Howard that Seabiscuit, now a six-year-old, would win the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap may have been shattered today—for the third time in three years.

Seabiscuit ran second in a mile trial race for the March 4 event and as he reached the wire two and a quarter lengths behind Neil S. McCarthy's seven-year-old Today, Jocky George Woolf pulled him up lame. Woolf dismounted and led Seabiscuit back to the grandstand. Owner Howard, Trainer Tom Smith, and others immediately crowded around and Howard announced it would be tomorrow or later before the full extent of the injuries were known. It was Seabiscuit's right foreleg that went bad.

Handicap Is Jinx.

Seabiscuit was the handicap favorite in 1937 but finished behind Rosemont. Last year he again was the shortest priced horse in the handicap field, but again he finished in the place position, this time behind Stagehand — which previously had won the Santa Anita derby. He campaigned successfully last year and ended his competition with his greatest triumph, the three-length victory over War Admiral in the match race at Pimlico on Nov. 1.

After that race he was shipped to South Carolina and kept there, pending a decision on whether he should be sent to Florida for the $50,000 Widener at Hialeah or shipped back home to run in the $100,000 Santa Anita event. Owner Howard decided to send him back home.

He's Overmatched.

He was watched closely today, for the race marked his return to competition and was to provide the tip-off on his condition. His condition was a matter of conjecture, there having been rumors while he was in Carolina that he was lame.

He was overmatched this afternoon, although running in only a three-horse race. He broke in front, but Today soon took the lead and kept it all the way. He was clocked in 1:35 3-5, a fifth of a second under the track record set by Top Row in 1936. Finishing behind Seabiscuit, in third place, was Thomas Taggart's mare, Marica.

"We won't know until tomorrow the exact seriousness of Seabiscuit's lameness," Smith said. "He has come out of other races somewhat gimpy, and I have hopes he will come out of this one, too."

Nears Money Record.

The current leading money winner in racing has earned $340,490 and Owner Howard hoped to pass the all-time winner, Sun Beau, which earned $376,744. This afternoon's race was his 84th trip to the post.

Seabiscuit's defeat was Howard's second disappointment of the day, his Kayak II. having run second behind Mrs. V. S. Bragg's Bottle Top and Norman Church's Patty Cake in the preceding six horse race. Kayak II. is the horse on which bookmakers last week stopped taking bets in the Santa Anita handicap future book. The Howard stable rated Kayak II. as Seabiscuit's most dangerous rival in the March 4 test.

Today Pays $11.60.

Bottle Top ran the one and one-sixteenths miles in 1:42 3-5, also a track record.

Today, with Jocky Nick Wall up, paid $11.60 for a $2 ticket. Bottle Top, with Johnny Longden in the saddle, paid $28.60. Wall also rode Patty Cake, the place runner in the race in which Kayak II. took show money.

Boston Beats Wings, 2-1, on Bauer's Goals

Boston, Mass., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Little Bobby Bauer ruined one of the finest goal-tending performances ever given by Tiny Thompson, his former teammate, while leading Boston to a 2 to 1 victory over Detroit tonight before 14,000 in the Boston Garden. The triumph increased the Bruins' National Hocky league lead to five games over the idle New York Rangers.

Bauer, after his colleagues had kept Thompson under pressure for almost thirty minutes, scored twice in less than three minutes. He took passes from Eddie Shore both times.

The scores came late in the third period, while the Bruins were trailing as a result of Hec Kilrea's goal early in the second period. Thompson had forty saves. Lineups:

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Augustana, undefeated Illinois conference basketball leader, defeated Monmouth the second time this season tonight, 31 to 24, before 2,000. Capt. Art Anderson, center, and Willard Anderson, forward, who made eleven points each, gave the winners a comfortable margin in the closing minutes.

REFEREE OUSTS VOPEL AND YATES FROM BIKE LEAD

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Heinz Vopel and Cecil Yates, the German-Chicago pair, who have been running the 41st international six day bicycle race all by themselves since it began Sunday evening, were set back a bit along about midnight last night.

The interruption of the Vopel-Yates progress came shortly before 11 o'clock, when Referee Pat Mulvey rose in his chair off the northeast corner of the track in Chicago Stadium, and shook his finger at Vopel. Heinz, Dr. Mulvey said, had failed to give chase to Jimmy Walthour of the Walthour-Crossley combination, and therefore would be penalized one whole lap.

Six Tied for Lead.

That sentence, a brave one by Dr. Mulvey in view of the popularity of Vopel and Yates, dropped them a lap out of the lead, which was shared early this morning by six teams.

The leaders on a point basis were Gus Kilian and Bobby Thomas. Tied with them in mileage were five other twosomes, including, in order of their point ranking, the teams of Rodman-O'Brien, the Pedens, Debaets-Audy, Walthour-Crossley, and Reboli-De Bacco.

Vopel, who entered the race with a broken left wrist protected by a fetching lether gauntlet, was quite wrought up by Referee Mulvey's decision and went into a temperamental outburst in which he intimated that he would rather go back to Dortmund, Germany, than continue in the race.

The third night of riding produced some of the handsomest jamming of the race. Every one of the ten teams still riding had a hand in producing the congestion. First there was the elderly Debaets, who was the first of the evening's radicals.

Reboli-Debacco Stir 'em Up.

Then Tino Reboli and Angelo Debacco organized a small riot from which they profited by one lap, only to be joined by each of the leading pairs, including Yates and Vopel.

Through all of this Yates, the transplanted Texan who registers from Chicago's south side now, contributed the fanciest and fastest wheeling of the race. Whenever his team's lead was threatened, the bushy haired speedster would dart out and frustrate every potential theft in sight.

Thank You All.

The temporary conductors of the Wake wish to thank those loyal contributors who called attention to the fact that a verse entitled "Opportunity," which appeared in early editions of Monday's TRIBUNE over the signature of one F. Ristau, actually was written years ago by the late Senator John J. Ingalls of Kansas. It was eliminated from the later editions. We hope those who have the interest of the column at heart will continue to render the same valuable service.

CUBS GET A NEW PITCHER—HE'S WHITEHILL (39)

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Earl Oliver Whitehill, a mere child of 39 years who should know a lot about pitching after toiling for fifteen seasons in the American league, will attempt to do business in a Cub uniform during the impending pennant race.

Acquisition of the aged left hander was announced yesterday, Whitehill having accepted terms during a long distance conversation between here and Hot Springs, Ark., where he went for conditioning purposes after being given his outright release by the Cleveland Indians a few weeks ago.

The newest member of Gabby Hartnett's squad will accompany the first group to the Catalina training camp next Monday night, but will not join up until the west bound train halts to take him aboard at Cedar Rapids, Ia., where he was born Feb. 7, 1900.

Try Charm a Third Time.

On his work the last two seasons Whitehill can hardly be regarded a prize catch, but the Cubs had fairly good luck with two other castoffs from the junior major—Jack Russell and Carl Reynolds—so are inclined to feel it might happen again.

The main purpose of the move as explained by Manager Hartnett was to find a left hander who might be tricky enough to step in and succeed in a relief rôle against southpaw hitters. Larry French was employed considerably in this capacity last season, but the enemy batters invariably selected his home run pitch.

If Whitehill's earned run average the last two seasons and the fashion in which White Sox pummeled him last year are reliable indications, he, too, has developed something akin to the French home run ball. Whitehill allowed 6.49 runs per nine innings in 1937 and 5.57 in 1938. However, he led the league in one respect last season. He hit nine batters, none of whom was hurt.

He Was a Good Pitcher.

From 1924 through 1932, when he was traded to Washington, Whitehill was one of the best left handers in the league. Even with that many seasons behind him he popped up sensationally in 1933, winning 22 and losing 8, a performance which helped the Washington Senators to the league title. He went to the Indians for the '37 race, being involved in the deal whereby the White Sox gave John Salveson to the Senators and received Thornton Lee from Cleveland. Whitehill won eight against the same number of defeats in '37. Last season his record was 9 and 8.

Outfielder Hank Leiber, one of the twelve who returned their contracts unsigned, will be granted his request for a conference. Either Owner P. K. Wrigley or Vice President Charles Weber will talk with the former Giant somewhere on the west coast but not at the Catalina camp. The Cub rule against unsigned athletes reporting for training will not be broken.

USE TWO RINGS FOR NORTHWEST SIDE BATTLES

Reach Semi-Finals in White City.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's northwest side will join the battle for Golden Gloves tonight when a field of 300 boxers will begin a series of eliminations in Marigold Gardens. The fighting in this section will continue tomorrow and the champions will be chosen Friday.

The south siders will continue their bouts tonight in White City, clearing the way for tomorrow's sectional finals. These boys have advanced within a few thousand punches of the end of their tournament. That may sound like a lot of slugging but, if fists continue to fly as fast as they did last night, the boxers will have no trouble landing that many blows before the last bell rings tomorrow.

North Side Is Last.

The north side event, last of Chicago's sectional tournaments, will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in Loyola gymnasium. The west side already has picked its champions. Chicago's sectional winners will meet the title-holders from forty-seven out of town centers in the tournament of champions in the Stadium, Feb. 27, 28 and March 1. In each of these forty-seven centers a newspaper is coöperating with THE TRIBUNE in sponsorship of Golden Gloves.

The field in the northwest side event is the largest since Golden Gloves bouts have been held in Marigold Gardens. Fighting will be held simultaneously in two rings, assuring the fans of continuous action.

Tony Bausone, C. Y. O. novice flyweight champion, will be making his first start in open competition.

Plenty of Action, As Usual.

Followers of local amateur boxing will be watching the work of other well-known contenders, including Robert Jarrell, and Art Palladino, featherweights; William Thomas and James Phagan, middleweights, and Jeff Hampton, a light heavyweight. Phagan is a nephew of Johnny Phagan, former Golden Gloves champion.

There were plenty of spectacular moments during last night's bouts in White City. Paul Nowells of the Ada Park A. C. knocked out Sam Williams, 634 East 51st street, with one of the hardest punches landed in the entire south side tournament. This terrific blow fell in the second round of their 147 pound novice division bout.

The ability to defend himself with a straight left saved Thomas Sortino of the C. Y. O., from being knocked out by John Matula of the Polish Union. Sortino was in trouble repeatedly in the last round but clever defensive work enabled him to last until the bell, when the decision went to Matula.

Williams Stops Consulo.

Sam Consulo of the 124th Field artillery, fought back courageously after being staggered by a powerful left to the head in the first round of his featherweight open bout with Homer Williams of the Savoy A. C. Both boys stood up and slugged with little defensive precautions. They kept up their terrific pace in the second round until Williams won on a technical knockout.

William May of the 124th Field artillery unleashed a powerful chopping right to knock out Otis Powell, 5532 Indiana avenue, in the second round. Never giving his opponent an instant's breathing spell, May pressed every advantage aggressively, and eventually hammered Powell to the canvas.

Fighting continued last night in many of the out of town centers. The Muncie, Ind., Star, the Peoria Journal-Transcript and the Fort

HANDICAP JINX FOLLOWS TURF CHAMPION—RINGSIDERS AT GOLDEN GLOVES

Mighty Seabiscuit limps in behind Today in a mile race yesterday at Santa Anita, where he was being groomed for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap on March 4. It is said he may never race again. Jocky George Wolff can be seen holding him in at the finish. Today broke the track record for the distance.

Owner Charles Howard (right) anxiously inspects Seabiscuit after the race. He had hoped to win the handicap in which Seabiscuit has been beaten by a nose the last two years. Victory would give Seabiscuit the all time money earning record.

LAUDS AMERICAN HUNTERS FOR AID IN SAVING DUCKS

Canadian Points Out Need for Further Work.

The story of how North America's wild duck population was increased by 1,500,000 birds during the past season was told yesterday noon by Thomas C. Main, general manager of Ducks Unlimited [Canada], who spoke before Chicagoland duck hunters in the Sherman hotel. The meeting was sponsored by Ducks Unlimited, the organization of American and Canadian waterfowl hunters which is working to increase the supply of wild ducks.

Mr. Main, Canadian conservationist who directs the field activities of Ducks Unlimited, told how his men were building dams in the prairie provinces so that ducks would not be stranded without sufficient water after the nesting season; how the organization was cooperating with the University of Alberta on studies of duck diseases, and how crows and other natural duck enemies were being fought in areas where they are overabundant.

American Hunters Aid.

"American duck hunters," he said, "have cooperated splendidly in the Ducks Unlimited movement, and during the last hunting season their cooperation was returned in a 'dividend' of 1,500,000 more ducks than they had the year before. More work must be done if the ducks are going to stage a real comeback, and that work must be done soon or your duck hunting days will be a thing of the past. If remedial measures are not taken in the next five years, there will be no duck hunting twenty years hence."

"I hear men speak of a closed season on duck hunting," he continued, "but you could stop duck hunting for twenty years and the birds still would not come back unless we continue our work in the Canadian nesting grounds."

Strict Rules to Continue.

Louis H. Barkhausen of Chicago, national president of Ducks Unlimited, asked hunters to cooperate with the organization in order to better duck hunting conditions. He said that the federal government probably would continue the present stringent regulations until the duck population increased.

HOPKINS PLEDGES AID

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Belligerent conservationists who have a bone to pick with Uncle Sam got the pledged support tonight of Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins in their crusade for nature's protection and learned, as well, that "ducks are coming back."

Secretary Hopkins, in a message read to the fourth annual North American wildlife conference banquet, expressed his desire to "cooperate with your institute and all similar conservation organizations in the wise utilization and conservation of our American fisheries."

Conservationists from time to time have attacked policies of the bureau of fisheries, a division of the commerce department, for failing, they said, to give full aid to efforts at protecting fish in America's lakes and streams.

Frederic C. Walcott of Connecticut, conference chairman, noted that several members of the bureau of fisheries Washington staff were attending the conference and said he was "pleased."

VALPARAISO FIVE, ST. AMBROSE ON COLISEUM CARD

St. Ambrose college of Davenport will play Valparaiso university's basketball team as part of a double-header Saturday night in the Coliseum. The La Salle Hotel Cavaliers and the Denver Nuggetts of the Missouri Valley A. A. U. league, will clash in the feature game.

St. Ambrose will be its thirteenth victory in fourteen games. One of the St. Ambrose stars is Jack Hughes, former St. Ignatius High school forward.

The Nuggetts, winners of the first half championship in the Missouri Valley league race, will be led by Bob Gruenig, who starred at Crane Tech. Gruenig is the scoring leader in the Missouri Valley league. He made twenty-six points against the Cavaliers in a previous game in the Coliseum.

ANNOUNCE ENTRY LISTS FOR A. B. C.; HAVE 4,145 TEAMS

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Elmer Baumgarten, secretary of the American Bowling congress, announced the entry lists today for the 1939 A. B. C. tournament which will open in Cleveland on March 9 and close on May 5.

Baumgarten said 16,000 are entered in the singles event. There will be a total of 4,145 five man teams and 8,200 doubles teams. The total entry fees are $271,000 and the prize money will be $180,000. The record of $199,000 was established in Chicago last year.

CLASSIC BOWLS ON SOUTHWEST SIDE TONIGHT

The Classic league will bowl in the Steinbrecher Recreation, 2622 Cermak road, tonight at 9 o'clock. Power House will bowl Baby Ruth; Prager will meet Monarch, Schlitz will oppose Ambrosia, and the champion Pabst Blues will shoot against the Thompson Restaurants. Standings:

Manley's junior basketball team won the Central section title in the Chicago Public high school league and clinched a place in the league playoffs by defeating Kelly, 49 to 42, yesterday for its seventh straight divisional triumph.

With Forward Freiden doing the heavy scoring, Manley built up an 18 to 8 lead in the first quarter and never was headed. Freiden scored 17 points on eight field goals and a free throw.

Tilden, Phillips Win.

In other central section junior games, Lindblom lost to Tilden, 36 to 29, and Phillips whipped Du Sable, 42 to 39. Wells climbed into a second place tie with Marshall in the senior competition as a result of its 30 to 27 victory over Kelvyn Park.

The St. Ignatius and Mount Carmel seniors triumphed to hold their leads in the north and south sections of the Catholic High School league. St. Ignatius scored its seventh straight victory by beating St. George, 37 to 33, and Mount Carmel routed St. Rita, 39 to 19, for its sixth triumph in seven starts.

St. George, Weber Win.

In the junior division St. George and Weber remained in a tie for first place by winning from St. Ignatius, 36 to 13, and De Paul, 35 to 13, respectively. The leaders have now won six and lost one game. Lineups:

Dehner Again Takes Big Ten Scoring Lead

Lewis [Pick] Dehner, Illinois center, regained the Western conference basketball scoring lead when he dropped in six field goals and four free throws for 16 points against Michigan Monday night to bring his total in nine games to 112 points. He passed Jimmy Hull, Ohio State forward, who was idle and has 102 points, scored in seven games.

Dehner has 38 field goals and 36 free throws. He leads the Big Ten in free throws scored. Hull is the leader in baskets scored from the field, having dropped in 42. Capt. Ben Stephens of Iowa, who also was idle Monday night, is third with 95 points scored in seven games. Bill Hapac of Illinois has 84 points, scored in eight games; Capt. Ernie Andres of Indiana, 69 in seven games, and Tom Harmon, Michigan sophomore, 64 in seven games. Andres jumped from thirteenth place to fifth during the week. Scoring records:

CHAMACO AND LAYTON TRIUMPH IN CUE TOURNEY

Joe Chamaco and Johnny Layton, both of New York, scored double victories yesterday in the round robin tournament for the world three cushion billiards championship.

Chamaco, the tourney leader, defeated Allen Hall of Chicago, 50 to 45, in 49 innings, and 50 to 36 in 47 innings in the Pioneer arcade. Hall's high run of eight was tops for the two matches.

The victory gave Chamaco twenty victories out of twenty-two tournament games tilts and strengthened his position.

Layton's victim was Jay Bozeman of Chicago, holder of second place, in Bensinger's 131 South Wabash room. Bozeman lost the first game, 50 to 34, in 41 innings, and the second, 50 to 36, in 44 innings. Bozeman's high run of eight in the night match was best of the two contests.

THURNBLAD WINS TWO.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Art Thurnblad of Kenosha scored a pair of victories today over Frank Scoville of Buffalo, N. Y., in the three cushion billiard meet. Thurnblad won the first match, 50 to 45, in 51 innings, and the second, 50 to 36, in 41 innings.

MICHIGAN ROUTS MICHIGAN STATE TRACK TEAM, 77-18

An Arbor, Mich., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The University of Michigan track team opened its season tonight with a record smashing performance to defeat Michigan State, 77 to 18.

One Yost fieldhouse record was broken and two tied as the Wolverines yielded only one first place, that to Wilbur Greer, State's I. C. A. A. A. A. sprint champion, who won the 60 yard dash.

Most notable of the record performances came in the shot put in which Captain Bill Watson's effort of 51 feet 5½ inches bettered his fieldhouse record by almost three inches and his conference mark by more than a foot, and in the mile relay in which Michigan's team of Warren Breidenbach, Phil Balyeat, Doug Hayes, and Ross Faulkner equaled the track record of 3:19.8 set by a Michigan team in 1937.

MRS. HELEN LEWIS, MOTHER OF CUBS' SECRETARY, DIES

Mrs. Helen Lewis, mother of Robert C. Lewis, traveling secretary for the Cubs, died last night in Henrotin hospital of injuries incurred when she was struck by an automobile on Christmas eve. She was 68 years old.

Mrs. Lewis, a widow, had lived in Chicago for many years. Her home was at 698 Irving Park road. Robert C. Lewis is the sole survivor.

Headache: To Tell a Player He's Through

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 14.—(AP)—William E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said today he has found about the most difficult thing in baseball is to tell a player he is through.

"That was certainly true when we had to release Red Lucas," he said, defending the club's action recently in dismissing the right hand pitcher, who served fourteen years in the National league.

At his home in Nashville, Tenn., Lucas said yesterday he didn't think the Pirates had given him a "fair shake"; that Manager Pie Traynor kept him on the bench last summer for fifty-four consecutive days, although he never had a sore arm, and that, if he had been released in December instead of January, he could have got a manager's job with a Double A team.

"I just could not believe that story came from Lucas," said Benswanger. "I don't want to get into an argument with Red, but I think we did treat him fair.

"I think Red might have been a little more gracious about the matter. I've found it about the hardest thing in baseball to tell a fellow he's through. I remember when I first became president of the club, I had to hand Remy Kremer his release.

"Remy said, 'Bill, I've been expecting this. Thanks for keeping me on this pay roll this long.'"

Benswanger is the son-in-law of the late Barney Dreyfuss, who owned the Pirates for many years. His mother-in-law is the club's chief stockholder.

NORTH CENTRAL DEFEATS ARMOUR QUINTET, 29 TO 25

North Central won its seventh game of the season last night by defeating Armour Tech, 29 to 25, in Naperville. Leading all the way after the first minute of play, North Central held a 13 to 10 advantage at half time. Lineups:

ESCAPADE LEADS 9 OTHER BOATS IN RACE TO NASSAU

ABOARD COAST GUARD CUTTER MOJAVE AT SEA, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The 72-foot yawl Escapade, sailing under a spanking three-quarters wind, rounded Great Isaac light late today to lead nine other entries in the sixth annual Miami-Nassau race.

Two minutes behind her at the one-third mark of the 184-mile run across the choppy Gulf stream was the Wakiva, 69-foot jib-headed yawl owned by Edward Harkness of New York, and 45 minutes later was the favorite, Stormy Weather, owned by Robert W. Johnson of New York.

The Blitzen and the San Cristobal 2d were five miles back of Escapade as the 72-foot jib-headed yawl of Henry G. Fownes, Stamford, Conn., passed Isaac light.

FOR THE 1 MAN IN 7 WHO SHAVES EVERY DAY

A SPECIAL SHAVE CREAM

IT'S NOT A SOAP
NEEDS NO SHAVING BRUSH
Not Greasy . Leaves Skin Soft

Daily shaving leaves many men's faces raw and sensitive. This is especially true of the man who, because of his business and social status, must shave every day.

To meet this condition, Williams has now developed a special cream for daily shavers. It's called Glider. With no soap base, it's a complete departure from ordinary shave creams. After washing face thoroughly with soap and warm water to remove razor-dulling grit, spread on Glider quickly and easily with your fingers. No brush. No lather. Not sticky or greasy.

A superabundance of moisture is contained in this rich, smooth cream. It softens each whisker right down to the skin, yet forms a protective layer over your face to keep blade from scraping. Swiftly and gently your razor glides over your skin without tearing or irritating. Like a cold cream, Glider helps smooth and soften your skin and prevent chapping and roughness. Glider is the result of nearly 100 years' experience in making fine shaving preparations.

Everett D. Hulbert
PRESIDENT

P. S.—Try Glider at our Expense: Send your name and address on a penny post card, for a generous FREE tube of Glider "No-Brush" Cream. The J. B. Williams Co., Dept. CT-24, Glastonbury, Conn.

Another Mile Run, Another Victory for Cunningham

Providence, R. I., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham tonight continued his unbroken run of triumphs by winning the mile event in the Knights of Columbus meet and taking the Bishop Francis J. Keough trophy out of competition. Cunningham defeated Archie San Romani, Kansas star, by three yards in 4 minutes 16 seconds to chalk up his eighteenth successive board track mile triumph. Don Lash of Indiana was third and Joe McCluskey of New York A. C. fourth.

Alan Tolmich, former Wayne university star, equaled the world's indoor record for the 45 yard hurdles in taking the final in 5.7 seconds.

Kenny Clapp of Brown equaled a meet record which is up for acceptance in taking the 40 yard dash in 4.5 seconds. Clapp's mark equaled Ben Johnson's winning time established here a year ago.

INDIANA BEATS PURDUE IN TRACK; SETS 6 RECORDS

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Six new fieldhouse records were established tonight as Indiana defeated Purdue, 45 to 10, in a dual relay meet in which the performance of every entry counted in the final results. The Hoosiers set new marks in the 240 yard high hurdle shuttle relay, one mile relay, shot put, two mile, two mile relay, and high jump. Indiana won nine out of eleven firsts, with five points being awarded for first and nothing for second in each event.

The Boilermakers scored their only triumphs in the one mile team race and in the pole vault. Harris, Indiana, tossed the shot 48 feet 5 inches for one of the new marks.

DETROIT PLANS LEWIS-CLARK BOUT FOR TITLE

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Promoter Eddie Lewis announced tonight completion of arrangements for the signing of Light Heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis for defense of his title against Dave Clark of Detroit in a 15 round fight March 24.

Lewis, working with Matchmaker Scotty Monteith, to present the fight in the Olympia with a reported $10,000 guarantee for the champion, said the Pittsburgh Negro and his manager, Gus Greenlee, would arrive tomorrow to sign contracts.

CHICAGO COCKER WINS RIBBON IN NEW YORK SHOW

Comar Lieut. Kirk Best of Parti-Colored Class.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14.—A white cocker spaniel, owned by the Gonfalon Kennels of Chicago, trotted into the show ring at the New York Westminster Kennel club show in Madison Square Garden today, posed with poise and confidence and out-pointed four eastern champions to win one of the most highly prized awards in all the spaniel judging. The dog was Comar Lieutenant Kirk, less than 2 years old, and his award was the title of best parti-colored cocker in the show. He beat 196 cocker spaniels.

Comar was purchased by Paul Moser of Chicago, president of the Cocker Spaniel club of the middle west and the owner of the Gonfalon Kennels, about a year ago. Counting this show, Comar has faced judges just three times. He caused much favorable comment when he posed perfectly before Judge Ralph C. Craig without a leash. It took the famous My Own Brucie, a black cocker from the east that was the American Kennel club gun dog and leading money winner of 1938, to beat Comar for highest honors among all the cockers in the show.

Chicago Dog in Finals.

Chicago is assured of at least one entry in the variety group judging tomorrow, which leads up to the major event tomorrow night, the selection of the best dog in the 1939 show. Champion Downside Bonnie of Searlway, the Gordon setter owned by Dr. S. H. Sarle of Chicago, has been named the best Gordon in the show and thus automatically goes on to compete against other sporting breed winners tomorrow. Bonnie's victory today was her second in consecutive New York shows.

Champion Towie Thargelia, owned by Harold M. Florsheim, scored a notable victory for Chicago kennels when she was picked as the finest Welsh terrier in the show by Judge Dr. Charles J. McAnulty of Atlantic City, N. J. Towie beat eighty-two entries, including nine champions. She is about 3½ years old and American bred.

Boxer Is Beaten.

But Chicagoland airedale and boxer fanciers found that their best was not good. Eastern dogs won the highest honors in both breeds. The imported airedale, Toadleach Girl of Harham, owned by the Harham Kennels of Chicago, was placed second to Glenmavis Solitaire, in the open class for airedale bitches. In one of the strongest best breed classes eastern boxer fanciers have seen, Champion Biene Von Elle Se Sumbula beat the Chicago boxer, the imported Lisl V. D. Blutenau of Tulgey Wood from the Tulgey Wood Kennels.

As the judging narrows down the finalists for the best in show award, attention centers on Nornay Saddler, the eastern smooth fox terrier that has been named the best fox terrier over 152 of breed.

SET APRIL 18 AS DATE OF ROPER BOUT WITH LOUIS

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The date was set today for the heavyweight championship bout between Champion Joe Louis and Jack Roper in Wrigley field, Los Angeles. It will be Tuesday, April 18. The announcement was made by Promoter Mike Jacobs following a conference with Tom Gallery of Los Angeles.

PUBLIC SERVICE OF NO. ILLINOIS EARNINGS SAG

Operating Revenues Also Show Decline.

Gross revenues and net income of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois declined in 1938, James Simpson, chairman, announced yesterday.

Operating revenues totaled $39,647,561, compared with $41,679,099 in 1937. Net income was $3,635,025, equal to $5.42 a share on the common stock. The Commonwealth Edison company owned all but 3,606 shares of the common stock at the end of the year.

Public Service's net income in the preceding year amounted to $3,688,882, after dividends on the preferred stock then outstanding. The earnings per share on the common stock amounted to $5.53 in 1937. The last of the preferred stock was retired in December, 1937.

Industrial Power Sales Sag.

The reduction in sales to industrial users of power was one of the principal causes of the decline in revenues and earnings.

Many of the large industrial consumers were operating at reduced capacity during much of the year, Simpson pointed out. As a result revenues from sales to large power and light users decreased 10.4 per cent, totaling $5,432,177.

Revenues from sales to industrial customers registered an increase in December over December, 1937, Simpson said. This was the first increase in such revenues over the preceding year since October, 1937, he said. The upturn has continued since the first of the year, he added.

Residential Sales Larger.

Sales and revenues from residential and rural electric service were larger in 1937 than in the preceding year. Kilowatt hours of electricity purchased by this group of customers gained 12.4 per cent. Revenues from the sales expanded 4.3 per cent. The smaller percentage gain in revenues resulted from a reduction in rates on such service made May 1, 1938.

Power sales to other electric utilities fell sharply in 1938. Kilowatt hours sold totaled 688,727,443, compared with 955,481,225 in 1937. Revenues from these sales amounted to $3,792,039, against $5,033,230 in 1937.

The shrinkage in this class of sales, Simpson said, resulted from two factors. The company is now using more of its total capacity in its own business.

Affiliated Units Increase Output.

Other affiliated companies belonging to the power pool have been increasing their own generating capacity and thus are not under the necessity of purchasing as much power as formerly from Public Service.

The company built 697 miles of rural electric distribution line in 1938 and connected 2,093 additional customers. The company now supplies electricity or has lines available to 71 per cent of the farms and other rural units in its territory.

SURPLUS CREDIT, CHIEF OPPOSES CHEESE BUYING

Favors Further Support to Butter Market.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Milo Perkins, president of the Surplus Commodities Credit corporation, today expressed opposition to a suggestion that the agency alter its butter buying program to purchase cheese.

Representative Thill [R., Wis.], at the request of Gov. Heil of Wisconsin, asked the corporation to buy Wisconsin cheese to bolster the market.

Perkins said the corporation and the Dairy Products Marketing association since last May had taken 140,000,000 pounds of surplus butter from the markets. The corporation, he added, also purchased 3,463,000 pounds of cheese, 30,000,000 pounds of dry-skim milk and 130,000,000 pounds of fluid milk.

He said he recognized cheese prices were somewhat low but believed more good could be accomplished by continuing the butter program.

FUTURE PRICES RISE.

February butter prices closed ¾ cent a pound higher yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange under short covering accelerated by indications that deliverable grades are short.

Scarcity of supply and a sharp demand boosted fresh standards ½ cent a pound in cash trading. Offerings of top quality remained free, and 128,394 pounds were sold locally to the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation at the pegged price. In New York the relief agency absorbed 191,142 pounds.

Figures on Storage Butter.

Storage butter stocks in the hands of private interests in Chicago on Monday totaled less than 2,000,000 pounds, the department of agriculture disclosed. This compared with 5,076,825 pounds a year ago. The bulk of Chicago's reserve of 50,000,000 pounds is the property of the FSCC and the Dairy Products Marketing association.

Cold storage warehouses of the United States bulged with 111,547,000 pounds of butter on Feb. 1, nearly four times the total of a year earlier, and by far the largest for that date on record.

LIFE INSURANCE FIRM'S LARGEST VOTE ONLY 345

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—An official of the New York Life Insurance company told the federal monopoly committee today that no more than 345 policy holders had ever voted in the company's annual election of directors.

Charles E. Judson, assistant secretary, testified that the smallest number of ballots ever cast since 1908 was thirty-two in 1909, and 345 were cast in 1921. He estimated more than 1,500,000 were eligible to vote last year, when 297 actually did vote.

The slate of candidates nominated by the board of directors had never been opposed, he testified, so that a single vote was sufficient to elect the administration ticket.

So far as he knew, the witness said, no effort had ever been made to inform policy holders of their right under the law to nominate an independent slate of nominees.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Hybrid Corn Value.

February 14, 1939.

INFORMATION coming from agricultural experiment stations and live stock feeders indicates that farmers are becoming more and more concerned over the value of hybrid corn as a feed for cattle, hogs, and lambs.

Lack of definite answers to the question of the relative value of hybrid strains and open pollinated varieties of corn has encouraged a few stations to start feeding tests.

A. A. Jeffrey of the Missouri station at Columbia reports that his institution has no authoritative information as yet on the question, but trials have been started to get answers to the farmers' questions concerning the nutritional value of hybrid corn.

Farmers Question Value.

"Missouri is far behind Iowa and Illinois in the adoption of hybrid corn and as a matter of fact it was not until last year that hybrid seed was used to any appreciable extent by the farmers of this state," said Jeffrey. "As a consequence, the question of its feeding value did not come before the experiment station until last fall.

"There has been some question in the minds of our farmers on this point and in an attempt to arrive at the truth in the matter our department of chemistry started an investigation last fall with a number of young sows," he added. "These are being fed hybrid corn in comparison with a lot of similar sows maintained on open pollinated corn. Comparisons will be made not only in the matter of growth, but also of possible effects on gestation, lactation, and the health of offsprings. No results will be available until the pigs are weaned next May."

C. M. Vestal of Indiana's station at Lafayette reports that many Hoosier farmers are asking questions regarding the comparative value of hybrids and open pollinated corn. He says that the general complaint seems to be that the hybrid corn is too hard in some cases for hogs to eat readily.

"We are contemplating an experiment which should help answer the farmers' questions, but will not have the results available until late next summer or fall," said Vestal.

Observes Hog Feeding.

"I have had an occasion to observe about 180 head of hogs being fed on hybrid corn this winter," he added. "These hogs eat the corn readily and are doing unusually well. The hybrid in this case happens to be the one grown most widely in this section of the state. It is my impression that this hybrid is not as hard as some others."

Vestal pointed out that the large number of questions that come in regarding the feeding value of hybrid corn leads the experts to believe "there is some grounds for the farmers' concern over this matter, but on the other hand we are inclined to think that psychology is playing a part."

He added that most of the complaints about hardness of hybrid corn have come from hog feeders. There is very little complaint about hybrid corn as a feed for sheep or cattle. "We have not been questioned much about the fattening qualities of hybrid corn," said Vestal.

CHRYSLER EARNS $4.32 A SHARE, FAR BELOW 1937

Many Big Companies Show Smaller Net.

Lower earnings for 1938 as compared with 1937 were reported yesterday by many nationally known companies. Among these were the Chrysler corporation, the Continental Can company, the Link-Belt company, the National Lead company, Standard Oil Company of Kansas, and the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation.

Chrysler, one of the largest automobile companies in the world, reported net income for 1938 as $18,798,294, equal to $4.32 a share on common stock. This compared with $50,729,211, equal to $11.66 a share for 1937. Sales in 1938 totaled $431,250,511, against $769,807,839 in 1937.

Declare Dividend of $1.

Directors declared a dividend of $1 a share, payable March 14 to stock of record Feb. 24. The company paid $1.25 a share in December, 25 cents last September, and 50 cents in June.

"Sales and earnings for 1938 reflect the fact that business suffered a precipitous drop in the latter part of 1937 and remained during 1938 at levels substantially below the volume of the three preceding years," K. T. Keller, president, said.

The improvement which appeared about the middle of the year "continued to show encouraging vitality" to the close of 1938, he added.

The Continental Can Company, Inc., reported net earnings for 1938 were $7,101,973 after taxes, equal to $2.17 a share on common stock after provision for preferred dividends. This compared with $8,913,525, or $3.06 a share, for 1937. Gross sales and operating revenues for 1938 totaled $85,673,999, against $93,879,021.

Taxes for 1938 totaled $3,362,545, an increase of $300,000 over 1937.

Columbia Gas Net Halved.

Columbia Gas and Electric corporation and subsidiaries announced 1938 profits of $3,784,824, equal to 31 cents a common share, against $6,996,469, or 57 cents, the year before.

The Link-Belt company, Chicago, manufacturer of chain belts, stokers and other items, reported 1938 net income of $1,106,041, equal to $1.33 a share on common stock, against $3,232,373, or $4.47 a share, for 1937. Sales totaled $18,518,084, against $26,643,840.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, Pittsburgh, reported consolidated net loss of $5,879,958 for 1938, compared with net profit of $4,788,799 for 1937.

Cream of Wheat had a net profit of $1,232,291, equal to $2.05 a share on common stock, against $1,202,745, equal to $2 a share in 1937.

A. F. of L. Calls on U. S. to End Business Fear

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor called the nation's unemployment "appalling" today and urged the administration to remove "fear, lack of confidence and distrust" from the path of industrial expansion.

The labor group's executive council in a statement reviewed ten years of unemployment affecting from 8,000,000 to 14,000,000 workers. It stressed improved psychology as the best means by which private enterprise may be "accorded the widest opportunity" to absorb the jobless.

Green Issues Statement.

The council's declaration, made public by President William Green, urged the need for expanded industrial productivity and the "establishment of credit and the will and purpose on the part of the owners of industry to risk, invest, build and construct."

"The basis for such procedure," the council said, "must be found in the creation of a favorable state of mind.

"Fear, lack of confidence and distrust in governmental, social and economic procedure should be removed. A political and economic state of mind should be created which would enable all financiers and the owners and management of industry to face the future with confidence, willing to risk in the expenditure of funds.

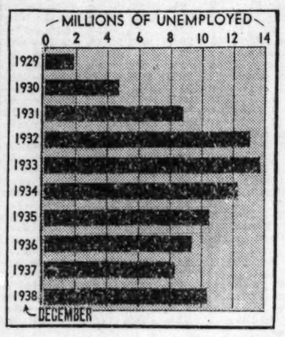
"We are convinced that the realization of this objective should be the primary purpose of government, industry and labor.

Assails Rules Changing.

"Whatever stands in the way—whatever barriers may have been created, either as a result of fear or as a result of affirmative action on the part of those who administer the affairs of government, ought to be broken down."

The A. F. of L. leader assailed what he called "surprising and unexpected" regulations by administrative agencies. "The rules of the game should be made clear and plain," he added, "so that when business starts an enterprise no new rules will be issued requiring adjustments and change."

The council's statement also declared that government relief was no permanent solution for unemployment which A. F. of L. figures set at 10,380,000 in December.



The millions of unemployed from 1929 to 1938, according to American Federation of Labor statistics. The figures up to and including 1937 are on an annual basis. The 1938 number is based on December only.

Eccles to Address Chicago Group; Forbids Publication

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board of governors of the federal reserve system, will speak at a dinner meeting of the Economic club of Chicago at the Palmer House next Tuesday, Feb. 21. Eccles will not permit his address to be quoted. Eccles has made similiar "off the record" speeches previously in Chicago and other parts of the country. They have been made usually before selected groups of business men and bankers. Eccles will talk on "Spending and Savings." He is known as chief apologist of the administration's spending program.

Cotton Export Sales Fall to Level of 1880s

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Reports by the department of commerce showed today that exports of American cotton slumped to the level of the 1880's during the first six months of the current marketing season.

Shipments to foreign countries between Aug. 1 and Feb. 1 totaled 2,192,28. bales, compared with 3,832,247 during the corresponding period last season.

Authorities on foreign trade estimated that unless there was a change in the government's cotton policies, exports for the full season would amount to only about 4,000,000 bales. With the exception of the world war year of 1917, exports have not been less than 4,175,000 bales since 1885.

Many Factors Blamed.

The sharp decline in exports was attributed by authorities to a combination of factors, including keener competition from certain synthetic fibers, shortage of foreign exchange abroad to finance cotton buying, and the United States loan program, which has pegged prices of American cotton above world prices.

This loss of foreign markets has prompted members of congress to propose legislation which would release a portion of the 11,100,000 bale stock of cotton now pledged by growers under government loans. Such action, sponsors say, would increase the supply in the "free" markets and thereby help bring American prices in line with those of competing foreign cotton.

America's losses of foreign markets have been sharpest in the United Kingdom. Exports to that country totaled 285,458 bales during the first half of this season compared with 1,195,120 during the like period in the previous season.

France Takes Less.

Exports to France declined from 614,813 to 293,834 bales; to Germany, from 545,368 to 200,135 bales. Japanese purchases, on the other hand, increased from 228,505 to 528,351 bales.

The census bureau reported today that cotton consumed in the United States during January totaled 591,991 bales of lint and 65,054 of linters, compared with 565,307 and 65,676 during December last, and 433,258 and 45,032 during January last year.

Cotton on hand Jan. 31 was held as follows:

In consuming establishments, 1,626,593 bales of lint and 353,853 of linters, compared with 1,697,089 and 335,653 on Dec. 31 last, and 1,758,696 and 621,223 on Jan. 31 last year.

In public storage and at compresses, 14,782,233 bales of lint and 114,344 of linters, compared with 15,331,332 and 106,335 on Dec. 31 last, and 11,815,365 and 79,602 on Jan. 31 last year.

ASSOCIATED GAS ENDS FIGHT OVER UTILITIES POWER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Associated Gas and Electric System withdrew before the Securities and Exchange commission today its opposition to certain plans for reorganization of the Utilities Power and Light corporation.

At a hearing on the latest plan of Atlas corporation for reorganization of Utilities Power, Francis J. Sypher, Associated Gas attorney, read a statement, saying in part:

"It is quite clear that the principle of investment in subsidiaries as advocated by Associated Gas cannot prevail and that some form of drastic reorganization of the debtor corporation is inevitable. As its own plan has been rendered incapable of being carried out, Associated Gas feels that further opposition would only delay ultimate reorganization to the detriment of all security holders."

BANK IN NEW JERSEY FAILS TO OPEN; FDIC WILL PAY 17 MILLION

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation tackled the biggest reimbursement job in its five year history today with the closing of the New Jersey Title Guarantee and Trust company.

A notice, posted shortly before the usual opening hour of the bank's main offices and five branches, announced the state commissioner of banking and insurance had taken "possession of its property and business."

Leo T. Crowley.

The bank reported total resources of $31,298,478 as of last Dec. 31. Its deposits totaled $23,285,349, of which Banking Commissioner Louis A. Reilly said about $17,000,000 were insured.

Leo T. Crowley, FDIC chairman, announced the bank had tried unsuccessfully to develop a program to "relieve its frozen condition, which resulted from the accumulation of large holdings of real estate and other illiquid assets."

A list of the bank's seventeen directors contained the name of Gov. A. Harry Moore, but an aid of the governor's said he resigned as a director Jan. 1.

HARRIS, BURROWS AND LAMSON TO MERGE MARCH 1

Lamson Brothers & Co. and Harris, Burrows & Hicks, security and commodity houses with main offices in Chicago, will unite as of March 1, and operate under the name of Lamson Brothers & Co., it was announced yesterday.

All partners of the merging firms will be partners in the new house, and Warner M. Washburn and Frederic P. Barnes, long associated with Lamson Brothers, will become general partners.

The companies being merged maintain extensive wire systems and numerous branches throughout the middle west. Lamson has twenty-eight branches and Harris six, and all will be retained, it was announced. Main office of the combined firm will be at 141 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago.

Canadian Prime Minister Moves to Adopt U. S. Pact

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King moved in the house of commons today for ratification of the new Canada-United States trade agreement. He said the treaty, along with the trade pact between the United States and the United Kingdom, marked "a return to sound economics." Debate was adjourned until Friday.

ELECT BETTMAN AS CHAIRMAN OF NEW YORK CURB

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The New York Curb exchange balloted today for a chairman and board of governors under the revised rules which provided for a reorganization similar to that undergone by the stock exchange last year.

There was no opposition to the official slate headed by Clarence A. Bettman, candidate for chairman.

The new board of governors will be called upon shortly to choose a paid president for the first time in the curb's history. The board will consist of 27 members.

Find New Way to Conserve Iron Ore Use

New York, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—A new commercial process for extracting minerals from ores was announced today by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co. The process is expected to increase the life span of the great Mesaba iron range in Minnesota from thirty-five to 100 years and make possible the extraction of 285,000,000 tons of anthracite coal from the vast mounds of refuse that have been accumulating since 1900, the company said.

The new process, it was reported at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical engineers, will "tremendously increase" the nation's natural mineral resources by making available for commercial extraction vast stores of low grade metal ores and coal impossible to extract with present methods because of relative high costs.

W. B. Foulke, director of the minerals separation division of the du Pont Company, who has been in charge of the research on this process since 1930, presented the report on the new method. Several of the mining engineers present stated that it promises to revolutionize the mining industry.

Boosts Potential Reserve.

In the Mesaba range alone, it was pointed out, the process, described as a commercial adaptation of the "sink and float process," will increase the potential iron ore reserve by 3,250,000,000 tons. This would be a quantity sufficient to continue the profitable yield of iron from this range of 50,000,000 tons per year for sixty-five additional years. At the present rate of extraction of 50,000,000 tons annually by current methods it is estimated that in thirty-five years the grade of ore will become so low as to become unprofitable for extraction.

The new process, it was added, will make possible the utilization of fully 15 per cent of the refuse in the anthracite fields in the form of commercially marketable coal. This, Foulke stated, will yield enough additional income to the anthracite coal industry to place it on a paying basis, and will also provide new employment for a large number of workers.

The process, Foulke said, is also applicable to all types of other ores, and promises to open up for further exploitation a number of abandoned mines.

Process Is Described.

Foulke added the new method will not make obsolete the present ore separation plants but will act rather as an adjunct to them. The addition of a small plant costing only $200,000 to a plant that cost $3,000,000 will double its present capacity, he declared.

The "sink-and-float" process employs liquids from 1.30 to 3 times heavier than water. These liquids, it previously had been found, were absorbed by the minerals, and their expense was such that about $20 worth of the heavy separating liquid was usually carried away by each ton of coal or other mineral separated from the ore.

After more than thirty-five years of research by the du Pont company and the expenditure of millions of dollars, Foulke reports, a way has been found to reduce the cost of the liquid to five cents per ton, making the method at last available on a commercial scale.

ARGENTINA ACTS TO SLASH U. S. TRADE 40 PCT.

Orders Imports Cut $31,000,000.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 15 [Wednesday].—(AP)—The Argentine ministry of finance this morning announced a sweeping curtailment of imports from the United States.

The announcement, a half page advertisment in morning newspapers, said the decrease was necessary to halt Argentina's unfavorable trade balance with the United States.

The advertisment was the first public explanation of the government's intentions in a policy of refusing to grant permits to United States importers.

"It is necessary importations from the United States return to the level of three or four years ago if the equilibrium or balance of payments under present conditions be maintained," the announcement said.

This would mean a cut of at least 40 per cent from United States sales to Argentina in 1938, or at least $31,000,000.

BARTER TALK AIDS LARD

Trading in lard futures stole the spotlight from grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. Prices advanced 20 to 25 cents per 100 pounds as reports were confirmed that private negotiations are under way for the exchange of American lard and other agricultural products for German machinery.

Closing lard prices were at the peak of the day with the May delivery at $6.65 per 100 pounds. Last week the commodity sold at the lowest level since 1934.

The amount of lard likely to be bartered with Germany was not known definitly. Dealers said there is an almost unlimited market in Germany if bartering can be arranged.

Loss of the German lard market has had a far reaching effect on American farmers. Prior to 1934 Germany was one of the largest buyers, our exports to that country during 1934 aggregating 377,000,020 pounds, or more than one-third of the 1,035,000,000 pounds sold to all countries. The latter figure accounted for 53 per cent of American production. In the last four years American exports of lard to Germany aggregated only 12,000,000 pounds, including 1,380,000 pounds in 1938.

Corn Futures Rally.

Germany's inability to purchase American lard in the last five years is said to have forced her to use whale oil and other substitutes.

Strength in lard had some effect on the grain market. Corn, after an early decline, rallied in sympathy and closed ⅛ to ⅜ cents a bushel nigher. Wheat was up ¼ to ⅝ cents. Liverpool wheat advanced ⅝ to 1⅛ cents.

Numerous carlots of cash wheat which have arrived at Chicago and Kansas City recently have been condemned by the department of agriculture as unfit for human consumption.

ALUMINUM CO. GIVES WORKERS PAID VACATIONS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 14.—(AP)—A plan providing one to two week vacations with pay for 18,000 hourly paid employés was announced today by the Aluminum Company of America.

Employés who have had at least two years of continuous service and who have worked at least 1,200 hours in the preceding fifty-two weeks will be entitled to a week's vacation, and employés with ten or more years continuous service will be entitled to two weeks' vacation.

The workers may, if they choose, work during the vacation period and receive their regular wages in addition to their vacation pay. The company estimated employés would receive more than $500,000 additional pay under the plan.

House of Commons Wants No Women on Stock Mart

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times]

LONDON, Feb. 14.—[Special.]—A move to admit women to membership in the stock exchange was defeated in the house of commons by a vote of 180 to 104 tonight despite the argument that there would be no "jitters" if women were there in a crisis.

Giannini Aids Balk; Quiz by SEC Delayed

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission's hearings on Transamerica corporation was suspended abruptly today, when four witnesses refused to answer questions asked by the SEC attorney, O. John Rogge.

Rogge, after getting no response to his questions about the West Coast Mortgage company, asked adjournment of the hearing so he could consult with the SEC.

Trial Examiner Henry Fitts adjourned the inquiry until March 20.

The witnesses were Margaret Mallory, personal secretary of A. P. Giannini, Transamerica's chairman; W. E. Clayton Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast Mortgage company; Carl Stamer, its vice president, and Charles J. Smith, San Francisco broker.

Seek Mortgage Company Link.

Seeking to link Transamerica with the West Coast Mortgage company, Rogge asked Smith and Miss Mallory if it were true that 10,000 shares of the mortgage company's capital stock was registered in their names in 1935. They refused to answer.

Rogge termed this refusal "as outrageous a case of contumacy as I have ever seen." He asserted he would ask the SEC to apply to a federal court for an order forcing the witnesses to talk or prosecute them for contumacy—contemptuous disregard of authority.

Today was second time during the Transamerica inquiry by the SEC that Rogge had tried to link the firm with West Coast Mortgage. The first time he asked about the mortgage firm the commission sustained Transamerica's objections that the questions were irrelevant so far as the SEC's power was concerned. The SEC under its order obtained last November is conducting the hearing to determine whether a registration statement filed by Transamerica in 1937 contained false or misleading statements.

Statement Agrees with Books.

After the original order for the hearing had been entered, the commission amended the order to try to bring the discussion of West Coast Mortgage under the scope of the hearing.

Earlier today Herbert H. Smith Jr., assistant manager of the San Francisco office of the auditing firm of Ernst & Ernst, testified that Transamerica's disputed registration statement was in agreement with company books.

Park Board Lets Contract for Railway Foot Bridge

The Chicago park board yesterday awarded a contract for the construction of a foot bridge across the Illinois Central tracks at 11th street. The contract, for an estimated $26,000, was awarded to the Keller-Elliott company.

VOTE TO EXTEND LIFE OF RFC TO MIDDLE OF 1941

Jones Tells Senate Group of Work

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—The senate banking and currency committee today voted to continue the Reconstruction Finance corporation to June 30, 1941, after Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, testified on the operations of the lending agency.

Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Jones also gave testimony on the Export-Import bank, of which he is a member of the board of trustees. He resisted efforts of Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], to force him to admit that the bank had been used as an instrument of foreign policy.

The committee postponed consideration on extending the life of the bank and that of the Commodity Credit corporation after Taft sought unsuccessfully to obtain an admission from Jones that the bank "may well be used to finance a European war without congress knowing anything about it."

Extend Life of RFC.

The committee extended the proposed life of the RFC beyond the date of Jan. 15, 1941, suggested by Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.], who introduced the bill on the RFC. The change in dates was made because under the Glass bill the RFC would have expired six days before inauguration of a new administration.

Jones previously had testified in favor of the Glass proposal, saying that the new administration and new

The RICHARD D. WYCKOFF COURSE OF STOCK MARKET INSTRUCTION
(Not an Advisory Service)

THE WYCKOFF COURSE has attained nation-wide indorsement by its students because it does not aim at mass appeal through get-rich-quick promises, but seeks to assist by personal coaching those who recognize the benefits of specialized knowledge. This institution has nothing to offer men who are not interested in sound thinking and planning; who prefer to gamble with their market future.

● If you are sincerely interested in learning how to improve upon the results of your market operations by practical, sensible means, we want you to have our brochure on the Richard D. Wyckoff Method of Investing and Trading in Stocks.

● Simply fill out the attached coupon and this interesting pamphlet will be mailed promptly with our compliments.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 14. — The stock market sagged further today, despite mild improvement toward the close. Prices started lower and remained depressed for most of the session. Final changes were mostly fractional, although several leading issues gave up 1 point or more.

Turnover was 418,390 shares in continued listless trading. Only 661 issues changed hands. Of these 311 declined, 197 advanced, and 153 closed unchanged from previous finals.

The market's drab performance was attributed by some to the inability of traders to interpret the foreign political situation and domestic business and political developments.

News from abroad told of rising anti-Russian sentiment in Japan and of doubt in France concerning recognition of the Spanish insurgent régime.

Business news was considered favorable. The chief item was the estimated rise in steel operations, but steels were as much depressed as any group. United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel lost 1 and 1½ points, respectively.

Glenn Martin in the aviations dipped ⅝ points in the most active trading of the day.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A lively demand for New York traction issues was the main prop for a droopy bond market today. Hopes that the state legislature would cut through the recent welter of proposals and counter proposals to a plan of decisive action for unification of the city's railways were seen by bond analysts as the main factor in the buying.

Traders were hesitant in other sections of the market as they weighed long range business prospects, especially with reference to 1939 needs for new capital.

United States treasury issues, with a few exceptions, gained 1-32 to 3-32 point.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks closed slightly lower yesterday. Trading was light. THE TRIBUNE average of twenty stocks closed at 11.04, compared with 11.05 Saturday, the preceding trading day.

Most volume leaders were unchanged to fractionally lower yesterday. Middle West corporation, the day's favorite, closed ⅛ higher on a turnover of 1,550 shares. Unchanged were Commonwealth Edison, Marshall Field, Club Aluminum, Hupp Motor, and Rollins Hosiery.

Chicago corporation and Aviation and Transportation lost ⅛ each. Swift International declined ⅝ and Wisconsin Bankshares was off ¼ point.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks weakened yesterday in negligible trading, dealers reported. Losses ranged from 50 cents to $3 a share. Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company shares dropped 50 cents; First National bank, $1; Harris Trust and Savings bank, $2, and Northern Trust company, $3.

U. S. FIXES BASIS OF $212,000,000 FARMER BOUNTY

Prepares Price Adjustment Crop Cut Payments.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—The department of agriculture today announced the basis on which it will divide $212,000,000 in "price adjustment" bounties this year among producers of cotton, corn, wheat, and rice.

The money, appropriated by the last congress, will be split among the producers of basic crops who coöperate with the efforts to reduce surpluses by staying within their 1939 acreage allotments. The allotments call for a reduction in the normal acreage of these crops.

Cotton Rate 1.6 Cents.

The bounties will be paid at the following rates: Cotton, 1.6 cents a pound; corn, 6 cents a bushel; wheat, 11 cents a bushel, and rice, 12 cents per hundred pounds.

Individual payments will be determined by multiplying the normal production of producer's acreage allotment by the rate applicable to his crop. A wheat farmer, whose allotment is 100 acres on which he normally gets twelve bushels an acre, will receive $132 [1,200 multiplied by 11.]

Officials said the bounties will be distributed as soon as a check can be made as to how individual producers comply with the 1939 allotments.

The amounts to be paid on each of the four crops were estimated as follows: Cotton, $84,578,000; corn, $61,613,000; wheat, $64,113,000, and rice, $1,696,000. No provision has been made for price adjustment bounties on tobacco and other crops.

Cotton was the only crop on which price adjustment payments were made last year. The total paid was $130,000,000.

These payments supplement bounties to be paid to farmers from the $500,000,000 soil conservation fund. The latter payments will be paid to coöperating producers at the following rates: Cotton, 2 cents a pound; corn, 9 cents a bushel; wheat, 17 cents a bushel, and rice, 10 cents per hundred pounds.

GAIN IN ASSETS IS SHOWN BY SUN LIFE, CANADA

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 14.—[Special.]—Arthur B. Wood, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, reported today at the annual meeting that the company's assets increased $44,600,000 in 1938. The company, largest life insurance firm in Canada, had total assets at the year-end of $875,000,000.

President Wood said the company increased its investments in bonds $54,000,000 last year, the total amounting to $423,000,000, or 48.3 per cent of the total assets. Common stocks, he said, make up 27.1 per cent of the assets.

Investors' Guide

WHICH IS WHICH?

Investors' Guide: I am puzzled about the names of two companies. Each is known as the Kellogg company. One makes cereals and is located somewhere in the east, I am told, and the other one makes some kind of telephone equipment. This second company may be a Chicago concern, and I am sure it is an Illinois corporation. Can you tell me their corporate names and their locations?—C. G.

Answer: Kellogg company is the breakfast food manufacturer, and its headquarters are at Battle Creek, Mich. It is the successor to Kellogg Toasted Corn Flakes company, which was incorporated in Delaware in 1906.

Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company is the manufacturer of telephone equipment and electrical supplies. This company was chartered under Illinois law in 1897. It has a plant and offices in Chicago, cabinet and woodworking shops in Cassopolis, Mich., and warehouses in Kansas City, Mo., and San Francisco.

DEBENTURES CALLED.

Investors' Guide: I heard that the 7 per cent debentures of the Fiat company, the European automobile manufacturer, have been called for payment. Is that right? I hold several of these bonds, but I want to confirm this information before I send them in for payment.—M. J. T.

Answer: Your information is correct. The company called for payment Jan. 1, 1939, at 105 and interest, the entire issue of its 7 per cent debentures, due July 1, 1946. The bonds should be sent to J. P. Morgan & Co., New York City.

INSURANCE DIRECTORS.

Investors' Guide: I have been reading lately about the proxy situation among various life insurance companies and this has set me to wondering about the directors of the Union Central Life Insurance company of Cincinnati. I own a policy in this company and know that it is licensed to do business in all states except Wisconsin and Nevada. I would like to know where this company's directors are from. I have no quarrel with Union Central on the proxy matter—that's my own responsibility—but I doubt if these directors represent a cross section of the communities or the parts of the country in which the company does business.—M. B.

Answer: All directors of Union Central Life Insurance company live in Cincinnati. Early this year two directors, one a resident of New York City and the other of Atlanta, Ga., resigned. Their action left only residents of the Ohio city on the board.

There Are More "New" Used Cars AT YOUR Ford Dealer Every Day

If you haven't seen your Ford Dealers' big used car stocks in the last few days, you are due for a surprise.

Many "new" used cars come in every day for you to choose from. Never before have Ford dealers had such a wide range of good used cars, especially priced for quick sale, because of the sales of the Mercury 8 and the new features of the fast-selling 1939 Ford "V" Eights.

Remember, only Ford Dealers give you "R & G" protection and the 30-day guarantee in lower priced Used Cars.

REPUTATION

There is an old saying in our business that "A Used Car usually is no better than the dealer from whom you buy it."

We don't say that Community Motors is the only place where you can buy a good used car. We know there are a lot of other good, reliable dealers in Chicago.

BUT we do say that for twenty years Community Motors has served Chicago people faithfully by selling them dependable used car transportation at prices that are right, and our business has grown and prospered because of this.

Ask for Our Free Booklet, "WHAT EVERY USED CAR BUYER SHOULD KNOW."

Here are just a few examples of the bargains we have to offer:

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for mayor of Chicago, was a country boy reared on farms near Ligonier, Ind., where he was graduated from high school in 1915. He earned most of the money that sent him to Wabash college, where he played football and baseball. He left college in his second year to join the army air service when America entered the war. After the war Mr. Green came to Chicago, studied law, and got a job in the internal revenue department in Washington. He was assigned to Chicago in 1927. He participated in the income tax drive on Chicago's underworld as an assistant district attorney. Picture at right shows the Green family as they appear today. (Story on page 1.)
